Hollander Crosses Pacific Ocean From Shanghai With Chinese Wife at Tiller.

CRAFT CAUSES BIG SENSATION

Tale of 61 Days at Sea Matches Highest Flights of Imagination—Rides Out Typhoons and Cussation of Heavy Gale.

How would you like to make the trip this daring adventurer took?

Victoria, B. C.—It is well that Christopher Columbus established himself in the Hall of Fame some centuries ago, for if he had to do his discovering today, he would find a worthy rival in the man who has just returned from his voyage about the great expanse of the sea.

Christopher crossed the Atlantic on his historic voyage in a 100-ton sailing vessel—the Santa Maria—with a crew of fifty-two men. But Capt. George Ward, a modern Columbus, puts the historic navigator to shame by spanning the broader Pacific in a 20-ton Chinese fishing junk, with his Chinese wife as his mate, his two-year-old son as cook and cabin boy, and a foremost crew of three Chinese, of whom two had never been beyond the confines of Hongkong harbor.

Several months ago, tired of life on the Chinese coast, Ward decided to return to America. So he gathered tools and timbers, fashioned himself a ship, signed on a hand or two, and embarked with his family for British Columbia. That was at Shanghai, June 21.

Junk Is Sensation.

Last week saw the finish at Victoria, B. C., of the remarkable crossing of 6,000 miles of the Pacific. Into the harbor stole a craft, the like of which had never before been seen in these waters. Spectators robbed their eyes in bewilderment over the vessel, with its towering stern, its stumpy of a bow, its amazing coat of red, green and yellow, the two bulging brilliant fish eyes glaring on both sides, the three ill-cut sails bellying to the breeze—and over all the five-striped, multi-colored flag of the Chinese republic.

Timid souls gazed nervously at the mysterious stranger, fearful lest she be some ghostly visitor from the deep, bearing to retribution some ancient, slumbering mariner.

The full tale of the 61 days at sea—from the sailing day, June 21, at Shanghai to the day of arrival at Victoria, September 19, as told by Ward and his wife—matches the highest flights of imagination.

"One night," said Captain Ward, pointing out a snake skin as wide around as a man's thigh and ten feet in length, "we were at anchor off the China coast. The man on watch barked off a small chow dog ahead backed and awakened me. Oh, the China coast you sleep with your gun on your pillow and I had it handy as I sprang up, thinking pirates might have boarded the ship.

Snake for Breakfast.

"The first sight to meet my eyes was this great snake sliding down from the deck into the cabin. Well, he took the floor. I let him have it; the table calmed me better. And then I blazed away. It took four shots to finish the beggar. I threw it on the deck.

"Half a minute later I followed. But it was too late. These fellows (pointing to his three Chinese) already had the snake all over and in the pot. I didn't even get the whole skin. The men lived well next morning, breakfasting on snake, cat and duck from the cargo pot. They died like lords!"

"Full of pride in his vessel, the skipper had a thousand instances to tell of her seaworthiness.

"She'll ride anything or we wouldn't do here," it was the roughest trip I ever made and I've made plenty.

"Nervous? Not a bit. The Shanghai people were when we left. But I know what was before us—no doctoring, no fresh provisions, no ice chest—hardship unmitigated. I know all that, and so did mother.

Washed Once—No Luxury.

"Water? Plenty of it for drinking. The tanks carry between 400 and 600 gallons. But the luxury of a wash was a weekly occurrence. Washing clothes was out of the question. We couldn't think of having a bath—not that I was greatly troubled by the sailors there. As for the rest, we had plenty. There was always a fish to be caught on the road, a bird to be shot or a porpoise to be harpooned. Food was the least of our worries."

Captain Ward smiled and admitted that after all he was glad it was over. His Chinese wife at the tiller counted. Little Bob, nine years old, born in China, with the voice and language of a Westerner but the features of the Oriental, lent his part to the interview.

"I didn't like it very much, too much seasick," he admitted. Then, licking first a cone in one hand and then another in the other, he added: "Victoria more better than Shanghai. Ice cream more cheap here."

"If it wasn't for her we would never have made it," the skipper proudly chimed in again of his Chinese wife. "She can handle the ship better than I can, and the crew hops when she gives orders. No, she isn't the mate, she's the master."

Is Thoroughbred of Sea.

Big and brawny, Ward is a thoroughbred of the sea, bronzed and wrinkled by the sun and winds of many waters. Mild-mannered and affable, he seems to have something of the imperturbability of the ocean.

IN 1916 the fifth year of Democratic Administration of state affairs $16.13 out of every $100 was used for state purposes.

In 1921 the fifth year of Republican Administration $8.18 out of each $100 is used for state purposes; $6.93 less is used for county purposes $8.54 more is used for highways and $6.34 more is used for education.

This tabulation was prepared from the tax rolls of the 31 counties and may be verified by reference to such rolls at the assessors office in each county.

The statement of Mr. Hinkle and other democratic speakers and in democratic advertisements that 42 per cent of the money paid in taxes is used for state purposes is absolutely incorrect, and the men who are making such statements either know nothing about the state's finances or are attempting to mislead the people.

In Torrance County the portion of each $100 paid in taxes which goes to state purposes is only $6.67 and in McKinley County, which pays the biggest percentage of any county it is only $11.26 for the whole county, while in the city of Gallup, where $26.18 out of each $100 goes to the Democratic city administration only $6.54 goes to state purposes.

County, School and part of the Highway Funds are under local control

Good Man for Commissioner.
Mr. Brock Sloan, republican nominee for Commissioner in District No. 2, announces his candidacy in this week's Mountaineer. The Republican County Conventions made a wise choice when it placed Mr. Sloan on the ticket; a better man could not here be found to fill the office of Commissioner. He is now filling by appointment the unexpired term of Dr. J. T. Stone, deceased and is first class commissioner. Mr. Sloan received the appointment of commissioner without any solicitation or knowledge that he had been recommended until he received notice of his appointment from the Governor's office. He is a good business man and worked several years for Corona Trading Co., looking after its live stock interest. He afterwards went into the ranching business and now owns a sheep ranch near Ancho. If you want to vote for a good man, one who will fill the office of commissioner in a satisfactory manner, remember Brock Sloan on election day.

Fought for Legion Men.

THE AMERICAN LEGION
Office of the National Commander Indianapolis, Indiana,
September 29th, 1922.
The Honorable Holm O. Bursum, Socorro, New Mexico.

My dear Senator Bursum:
The service men and women are deeply grateful for the way you have stood by us, fought for us, and in the face of great well-financed attacks, by what we can not help but feel to be sordid and selfish opposition, refused to desert your convictions for the right. Those whom you represent appreciate your high stand. The nation is behind us all in the fight and no one can continue to prevent the people's wishes from being carried out in a republic.

We have only begun this battle. We are right and right always prevails in America.
At our National Convention next month the Adjusted Compensation legislation will be endorsed more strongly than ever.
The American Legion is more unanimous and stronger in its conviction of the justice of this legislation than ever before. You will be interested to know that even in this year of financial depression and industrial troubles our membership has increased.
Nearly half the states of the Union have more members now than at the end of last year.

I am writing you that you may know that we are grateful for all your endeavors in our behalf.
We shall not forget, and we shall win this fight.

Yours very sincerely,
HANFORD MACNIDER.
The old bones bill is dead.
The Bursum bill, introduced by Senator H. O. Bursum, chairman of the Pension Committee, on Sept. 22, 1922, is the bones bill now before congress. Jones is for the dead bill which will never come up again. Davis stands with Bursum, author of the bones bill, which will be considered by Congress during its next session.

Candidate for School Superintendent.

The readers of the Mountaineer will observe the announcement of Miss Ruby Hylbert, of Corona, Republican nominee for County School Superintendent in the week's paper.
Miss Hylbert comes before the voters of the county as a lady of excellent character and extra fine attainments. She is a graduate of two leading universities, and has had a long experience in teaching and has lived in the county since 1914. She is now teaching in the high school at Corona, where she has taught the past two years, and it is the universal verdict of that town she is the best teacher they have ever had. Her sole dependence of support is her salary as a teacher, and also with that supports an invalid brother who is unable to work. That she would make a good school superintendent there can be no doubt.
Miss Hylbert's candidacy should have close consideration by every voter in the county.

Mr. C. C. Martin who has been making his home with his daughter Mrs. T. J. Simor for the past two years, left this week for Stillwater, Texas, where he will attend to some business. He will remain in Texas until next summer.

Ellis Marr and family were here today from Alto.

The Fisher Lumber Co. has a large stock of Pine Screen Doors of all sizes; also a good stock of Wire Cloth, from 22 to 40 inches wide, both the light and galvanized. No. 100 mesh being in stock. Come in and see our stock. 10-4

The real farmers, the fellows who make things grow from the soil, instead of on paper, and the live stock men, are rallying to the support of C. E. Hill, who qualifies as a first class builder.

Stephen B. Davis for Senator.

The Democrats are making their principal fight on Stephen B. Davis, the republican candidate for United States Senator.
Their newspapers and speakers continue to reiterate the statement that Judge Davis has never delivered his position on the soldiers' compensation bill; that the people have not learned his position on that measure; that they don't know whether he would support it in the senate or should pass congress again, or would he take a stand with the President. They know better than this. In nearly every speech Judge Davis has made he has stated that he stands squarely on the republican platform, which pledges itself for a soldiers' compensation bill, and further states that would work and vote for a bill compensating the soldiers for services in the world war. What more could Judge Davis say on that proposition? What more can he promise? Senator Jones can do no more.

Judge Davis is a man whose fine ability is conceded by all.
His personal character is beyond reproach; no scandora nor wrong doing attaches to him.
No connection with rings or cliques has ever been traced to him.
He is as able a man as Senator Jones in every sense of the term and will work as hard for the people of New Mexico as Senator Jones has ever worked or will ever work should he be elected. Judge Davis has a much greater advantage over Jones for being useful to the people as a U. S. Senator. He is a Republican, both houses of congress are republican and we have a republican President and he would be a great deal more able to secure what the people want, and need than a democratic senator not in harmony with the majority in congress with the President. Senator Jones' "Seniority" claim amounts to call him nothing in the face of conditions confronting him and it is purely nominal. A vote for Judge Davis will be a vote towards the upbuilding of New Mexico and the betterment of our conditions. Consider well who can serve you best able and an honest republican or a democrat.

Frank Phillips and Pat Dixon are back from their trip to Texas.

Harold P. Clark and Mrs.
Clarke were here last Saturday from Glendon. Mrs. Clarke is Vice Chairwoman of the Republican County Central Committee and is a very active and useful member of that Organization.

Mrs. Harry Cumroy has again been employed to teach the Dress school. Miss Valdes the teacher having resigned and returned to her home at Springer.

ry Cumroy and Burk's Brothers

Political News from Santa Fe

Oratory is about over, and aside from a few closing meetings at home towns of candidates there will be no more publicity until the votes was counted.

Refring here is strongly in favor of the republicans, the professionals placing their money regardless of the political affiliations or the republican state ticket.

Two years ago the republicans were demoralized by independent movements in a number of large counties, particularly in San Miguel and Bernalillo, and while there are a few independent, so called, movements in some of the smaller counties this year they are not hurting much. The trouble in Socorro may cost a few votes, as will the trouble in Dona Ana, and the "independent" movement in Mora is not considered as affecting the state ticket at all. This condition, under normal figures, gives the republicans a tremendous advantage and is what the gamblers are basing their offers on.

The recent attack on Muller, republican candidate for the state land office, is not nothing any votes against him, according to the political deputato here, and the money is on Muller to win. Muller denies having written the letter; Nels denies having received it, and attention leaves the democratic committee to explain whether the letter was taken from the office of Nels or acquired from the mails before reaching him, if Muller did write it. It is reported that the democratic state committee received the letter in a plain envelope and with no other enclosure. There is talk of damage suits, and some are nervous for having made the publication.

DOES LAUNDRY WORK AND HOUSEWORK TOO

Surprised to Find Herself Feeling So Well

Taunton, Mass.—"I used to have pains in my back and legs so badly, with other troubles that women sometimes have, that my doctor ordered me to stay in bed a week in every month. It didn't do me much good, so one day after talking with a friend I bought a box of E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about the same trouble I had. I thought I would try it also. I find that I can work in the laundry all through the time, and I feel better, too. Last month I was so surprised at myself to be up and around and feeling so good while before I used to feel completely lifeless. I have told some of the girls who work with me and have such troubles to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound, and I tell them how it has helped me. You can use my testimonial for the good of others."—Mrs. BLANCHÉ BELVA, 69 Grant St., Taunton, Mass.

It's the same story—one friend telling another of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Try the Grocer first! SLEEPLESS nights and daytime irritation, when caused by coffee drinking, often require a call on the grocer to avoid a later call on the doctor.

Postum, instead of coffee, has brought restful nights and brighter days for thousands of people—together with complete satisfaction to taste.

You will enjoy the full, rich flavor and aroma of Postum, and nerves will be free from any possibility of irritation from coffee's drug, caffeine. You can begin the best today with an order to your grocer.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling fully 20 minutes.
