I. W. W. PLANS REIGN OF TERROR

CENTRALIA RIOT TO BE REPEATED EARLY IN FALL BLEUTHS STATE

GENERAL STRIKE SOON

WOBBLES PROMOTING STRIKE TO BE CALLED WITHIN SIX WEEKS, IS CLAIM

Sacramento, Calif.—Sacramento is to be subjected to a "reign of terror" by the Industrial Workers of the World and members of the organization plan to give the city "the same kind of a dose that was administered to Centralia, Wash." It has been learned by state investigators who are probing the activities of the organization in California.

Inside details of the plan of the I. W. W. to get revenge on Sacramento for prosecutions of its members under the criminal syndicalism act, were obtained by the investigators during a meeting of the organization in a nearby city a short time ago. A report of the results of the investigation has been filed with state authorities.

The time set for the drive on Sacramento is the early fall, according to one of the officials of the I. W. W., who told at the meeting of plans to "teach Sacramento a lesson." The arrest of this official is expected.

This leader was the principal speaker at the meeting, according to the investigators. He began revealing the intended invasion of Sacramento by referring to the suit for an injunction against the I. W. W. brought by District Attorney J. J. Henderson, and the numerous arrests and convictions of I. W. W. members under a criminal syndicalism law.

"It is about time," the official is quoted as saying, "to give Sacramento a dose of the same kind that the members gave Centralia, and make her up. It will be a good time to start it when the members come back this fall to spend the winter."

The speaker is declared to have said that the organization should invade Sacramento with 25,000 I. W. W. members as can be gathered together, open a hall, start a free-speech campaign, fill the jails of both the city and county, then have parades and start a general "reign of terror" in the city.

The investigators also have reported concerning the plans of the I. W. W. in promoting a general strike in industries, agriculture, lumber and general construction camps, which the organization hopes to call within six weeks.

The investigators also secured a quantity of a new consignment of I. W. W. literature, published in Chicago and California headquarters, which has been broadcast through the state.

The Industrial Workers of the World, its officers and members were restrained in an injunction granted by the Superior Court of Sacramento county from acting as an organization or as its officers and members in California.

Prosecuting attorneys who attended the court session said the granting of the injunction will eliminate long trials of members of the I. W. W. under the state syndicalism law, make membership in the I. W. W. a violation of the injunction and as such contempt of court.

Plan to Lay Off Workers

St. Paul.—Northwest railroads are preparing to take immediate steps to reduce working forces substantially, principally because of a sharp falling off in revenues due to slackened business. The St. Paul Dispatch asserts it was disclosed in railroad circles. Thousands of men in the states between the Mississippi valley and the Pacific coast will be taken from the pay rolls beginning within the next ten days, it was said.

Mountain Sheep Protected.

New York.—To save the Mountain sheep and antelope of Mexico from extinction by hunters, the Mexican government has appointed Ben H. Tinker of Tucson, Ariz., game warden for the territory, it has been announced.

No Street Care in Berlin.

Berlin.—In consequence of the enormous losses suffered in running the street cars in Berlin, the municipality has decided to suspend the operations of the entire service.

New Mexico State Items

De Baca county is rapidly becoming one of the big cotton centers of the state and the crop there this year will be the best in history. According to the report of many of the growers the crop is standing the drought better than other crops in the valley.

The peach and melon growers of the Mesilla valley will probably ship the largest crop in history this year. While the exact total can not be given at this time there is every indication that the shipments will break all records and the price is said to be satisfactory to the growers. While the acreage has not been greatly increased the increase in the yield will make up for this.

Producers & Refiners Company has secured additional acreage in the Ute Dome district and is now making preparations to drill another well. The company recently opened a big gas well in the Ute district and officials of the company believe that this will develop into the gasifer section of the field. The tools have been ordered and drilling will be started as soon as the material can be placed on the ground.

Owing to the many cases of hay fever in Gallup, the matter has been taken up by the Gallup Kiwanis club and an effort will be made to rid the city of every kind of weed that can be found in or near the town. Most of the trouble is said to come from the tumble weed and an attack will be carried out against this pest by the city officials and every property owner, the members of the Kiwanis club taking the lead in the work.

A deal was closed at Lordsburg recently whereby the claims of the El Tiro Treading Company, were taken over by the Calumet and Arizona Mining Company. The El Tiro properties are known to be one of the most important copper mining districts in the entire southwest.

Sportmen all over New Mexico are getting their shotguns in order and sorting out the shells left from last year, for the hunting season which opens the first day of September. Prior to 1923, the wild dove season opened August 15, but this year the season does not open until September 1, and all sportmen should bear in mind for the state game department will make every effort to enforce the laws during the fall hunting season. Game birds all over the state are reported to be plentiful and if all sportmen will try to keep within the law during the season, there is no reason why New Mexico should not be a veritable paradise for the hunter.

The McKinley County bank at Gallup was closed a few days ago, and a notice posted on the door said the institution was in the hands of the state bank examiner. The bank has deposits of $503,000 and loans and discounts amounting to $253,000, according to its statement of June 30. No announcement of the reason for closing was made.

Henry Langdell was acquitted at Hillsboro on a charge of murdering William D. Hudson, whose body was found April 10, 1922, at the bottom of a cliff near Hillsboro.

Nothing Helped until She Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"When my baby was born," says Mrs. Footsuzny, 106 High Street, Bay City, Michigan, "I got up too soon. It made me so sick that I was tired of living and the whole time running down something awful. I could not get up out of bed mornings on account of my back; I thought it would break in two, and I started to do any work I would have to lie down. I do not believe that any woman ever suffered worse than I did. I spent lots of money, but nothing helped me until I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took a whole lot better after the first bottle, and I am still taking it for I am cured it is what has put me on my feet."

Big Lime Slide at Jupiter Terrace in Yellowstone

A cave-in, which occurred at the beautiful Jupiter terrace of the Mammoth Hot Springs in Yellowstone National Park recently, was the most curious within the memory of the old residents. After softening because of an unusual flow of hot water, a chunk of the formation fell, leaving a hole approximately 20 by 40 feet. The material, consisting of white carbonate of lime, then flowed down to the high way below and into the water supply reservoir. This photograph shows the spot where the slide occurred. Note the white streak in center of the picture.

Helicopter Is in Its Infancy

New Flying Era Promised When Mystery Craft of the Air Reaches Perfection.

Dayton, O.—The helicopter is rated as the mystery craft of the air. It is in its infancy, but will grow into a carrier of unlimited utility, according to George de Bothezat, inventor of the big machine that has been flying here. Mr. de Bothezat was selected by the engineering division of the government air service to conduct the Dayton experiment because he has made a life study of stability in aeronautics and is a world authority on propellers and lifting screws.

Viewed from above, the De Bothezat helicopter is seen to be a framework of metal tubing assembled in the shape of a Maltese cross 60 feet in span, with a six-bladed propeller, or lifting-screw at the end of each arm. At the middle of the cross a high-powered rotary engine is set up on end. Through shafting extending out along the arms the engine drives the ring-and-pinion gears that turn the windmill-like wheels at the four corners.

These gears, designed by Mr. De Bothezat, are exceedingly intricate, and the first of their kind to be used in aeronautics. Concerning them Maj. Thomas H. Hano of the air service, who supervised the experiment, has said, in a letter to the inventor: "I never believed they would work. I think I told you I expected them to fly all over the aerodrome on the first attempt to run the machine. I don't believe any one else had much confidence in the gears. It is particularly interesting to note this when, after 70 or 80 flights and very severe usage, the gears have given no trouble of any sort. In many ways the successful design of the gears is the most remarkable thing about the helicopter."

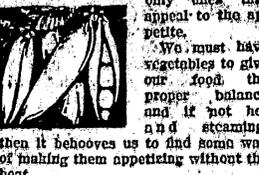

One Hundred Successful Flights. But the helicopter is more than an admirable piece of mechanism. It has flown 100 times, lifting its weight of 3,400 pounds off the earth and, on occasion, carrying the extra weight of four men. Its greatest height reached in any flight was between 50 and 60 feet and there it hovered, maintaining itself in position, for five minutes. In its hundred hops and descents it has not been scratched. According to its designer it is the first machine in history that has ever hovered; and it has traveled across its flying field faster than a man could run.

"The machine has been claimed for the helicopter by some writers," said the inventor. "We do not pretend to have accomplished a great deal yet. We have simply made a start in a line entirely new in aeronautics. We do not ask that the helicopter be compared with the present-day airplane. It is fairer to compare it with the first airplane in which the Wright brothers began their flying. We have succeeded in going up and coming down again without disaster. We have shown that it can be done, which is all that the Wrights did when they were at our stage in their experiment. Furthermore, we do not claim that the helicopter will displace the airplane. It only completes the process of flying. It does what the first airplane cannot do—it hovers motionless in air, and it needs no great amount of ground for taking off and landing."

"Many questions are asked by the skeptical public and by the critical champions of airplane flight. For example, what prevents the helicopter from side-slipping? I would explain that our four lifting screws are set at an inward inclination of 45 degrees, their axes converging toward the top. This gives the flying surface a caucer shape and lends stability to the machine. If a side-slip starts, the machine tends to right itself instantly. It has inherent stability. For safety's sake, "The enormous slip and apparent frailness of the propeller blades are

COOL, REFRESHING VEGETABLES. Which the mercury is soaring up in the nineties, cooling dishes are the only ones that appeal to the appetite. You must have vegetables to give our food the proper balance and if hot hot and steamy, then it behooves us to find some way of making them appetizing without the heat.

These vegetables may be prepared in the early part of the day and when dinner time comes a steak may be broiled or a few chops and dinner getting is a simple process. With the wealth of delicious vegetables to be found at this season, one may have a pair for each dinner and never run low on ideas.

Peas are such a delectable vegetable that they may be served often in most families. One day cook them, dress them with cream, and serve in ripe tomato baskets. This dish not only gratifies the eye but will prove satisfying to the palate. Peas in Aspic Jelly.—A pint of shelled peas will make six individual molds. Cook the peas in just enough water to cover them, adding a teaspoonful of sugar and a slice of onion; when tender drain and cool them. Soak one tablespoonful of gelatin in two tablespoonfuls of water, then add one and one-half cups of nicely seasoned meat stock, or canned bouillon, boiling hot. Stir until the gelatin is well dissolved, then strain and chill but do not let it come to the point of congealing. Add the peas and a tablespoonful of chopped red pepper, stir occasionally until the jelly begins to thicken. Pour into molds wet with cold water and place on ice. Serve turned on sliced cucumbers dipped in French dressing or on water cress.

Mousse of Peas.—Cook a pint of thick white sauce, one tablespoonful of gelatin softened in cold water, one beaten egg, salt, paprika and white pepper to taste. When cool fold in a cupful of whipped cream and pour into little ramekins to chill. When serving garnish with a point of whipped cream topped with minced parsley.

"The tender morsels on the palate met And all the force of cookery is felt."

SUMMER SUGGESTIONS

In many places small boxes of tea of various kinds may be purchased in little bags, with just enough in them for a cup of tea. When traveling a cup of tea is quickly made with boiling water, drop in the bag and in a minute or two you will have a refreshing drink. Carry a box in your bag, for it will prove a comfort to come one, even if you don't care for tea.

The hot weather brings discomfort and loss of appetite. It is almost too hot to eat some days, but the body must be nourished. Let the meals be as simple and as easy of digestion as it is possible to plan.

Peach Cream Sherbet.—Measure two cups of ripe, washed, fresh peaches; add one cupful of sugar and stand on ice for three hours. Fold in one cupful of cream whipped until stiff and freeze. Serve garnished with chopped maraschino cherries.

Glycena.—Blend one pint of milk, add one tablespoonful of sugar and the same of butter, and cool until tepid. Soften one yeast cake in one-fourth of a cupful of lukewarm milk, combine with the first mixture, add a teaspoonful of salt and three cupfuls of flour. Let rise until the sponge is light, then add two-thirds of a cupful of butter, one cupful of sugar, a teaspoonful of nutmeg, and four eggs beaten light; add to the sponge with six more cupfuls of flour. Let rise, stir down, roll out and cut into small rounds. Let rise half an hour and put into the center of each a teaspoonful of the following mixture: Four apples, cupful of raisins, three ounces of citron, all chopped fine. Moisten the edges of the cakes and press together in the form of a turnover. Let rise again until very light and fry in deep fat. Roll in powdered sugar. These cakes will keep two weeks.

Scotch Short Bread.—This bread is too rich for daily food, but is very popular for an occasional treat or to serve with tea. Take one pound of butter, one-half pound of sugar, two beaten eggs and two pounds of flour, a grating of nutmeg and a teaspoonful of salted lemon peel. Mix and roll a half-inch thick. Prick with a fork and bake in a hot oven.

TIMBER PRODUCTION ROCKY MOUNTAIN DISTRICT ACCORDING TO 1922 CENSUS FIGURES

Denver.—The 1922 census of lumber production for the states of Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota shows an increase of approximately 20 per cent in the manufacture of lumber over the 1921 production when 71,000,000 board feet were reported as manufactured in the Rocky Mountain district. The 1921 figures reflected the general depression in the lumber industry and the increases shown by the 1922 figures indicate a gradual return to normal conditions. The increased production is quite general, being reported by large and small mills alike.

The total production of lumber during 1922 for these three states was 83,148,000 board feet, according to preliminary figures just compiled by the forest service in co-operation with the census bureau of the Department of Commerce. The production of lath and shingles in this region is limited to twenty mills which reported a total of 8,150,000 pieces of lath and 322,000 shingles manufactured in 1922.

Two-thirds of this lumber production is made up of western yellow pine, 13 percent of lodge pole pine and an additional 10 per cent of spruce, while the remaining 7 per cent consisted of Douglas fir, white fir and a small quantity of aspen and cottonwood.

While the above cut represents the combined production of 303 sawmills, 40,000,000 feet, or almost one-half of this production, was manufactured by fourteen mills, each cutting in excess of 1,000,000 feet yearly.

Plantings of Winter Wheat and Rye. Washington.—The area which will be sown to winter wheat and rye this fall will be considerably less than last year, according to the report of the United States division of crop and live stock estimates. It is estimated that the area sown to winter wheat in the entire United States will be 515 per cent of that sown last year, and that of winter rye 91 per cent of last year. The probable area to be sown in the most important wheat producing states as compared with last year is as follows: Pennsylvania, 93 per cent; Ohio, 70; Michigan, 69; Indiana, 63; Illinois, 50; Missouri, 75; Nebraska, 75; Kansas, 80; Texas, 62; Oklahoma, 78; Colorado, 90; Washington, 103, and all others, 92 per cent. The revised estimate of the area sown to wheat last fall is 50,770,000 acres compared with 47,611,000 in 1921 and 44,834,000 in 1920.

Mrs. Reid said that since she has undertaken her campaign against Mrs. Reid she has been subjected to threats and made as a means of extorting her to halt her efforts.

things will happen to helicopters before we have learned how to perfect and use them. But so for the accident you suggest, that is hardly possible, for we have provided a large margin of safety in the strength of our machinery.

"We are jokingly accused of choosing perfectly still days on which to fly, and people wonder what the helicopter will do in a gale. To that I would retort that the first airplane pioneers never attempted a flight when the slightest breeze was blowing. In time we shall learn, as they have learned, how to manage in a wind. We insist that our helicopter, the first machine of its type in the world, has done pretty well. It has performed better than the first airplane, at least. The first flight of the Wrights was 12 seconds, the next 15 seconds. Finally, on their fourth flight they stayed up 57 seconds, and on landing smashed their machine. Our first flight was 1 minute and 45 seconds. We have done 100 times and still have our helicopter. "Yet we make no boastful claims. We have demonstrated, we believe, that the basic principles of the helicopter are correct. When they are further worked out, better performance will follow."—New York Times.

Waterloo Displaced as Belgian Tourist Mecca

Brussels.—Waterloo, until 1914, was the most frequented spot in Belgium. Victor Hugo's "dracary plain," dotted with monuments commemorating the armies taking part in the battle, topped by its colossal lion on the historic hill of Mont St-Jean, attracted countless foreign visitors, and Sunday citizens of Brussels journeyed here in caravans.

Guides fought at the Waterloo station for the commemorative privilege of escorting over the battlefield the numerous visitors who arrive by train dispersed into the town.

Deveriated Flanders fields are monopolizing the carefully chosen Newport, Dismal, Ypres and the less, the most thickly populated war cemeteries of Belgium, also provide the greatest attraction for the living.

The World War has killed Waterloo, and by half destroying Flanders has re-created it.

Island Sugar Crop Increases. Manila.—The 1922-1923 sugar crop of the five centrals controlled by the Philippine National Bank in the island of Negros will be about 65,000 tons, or approximately 50 per cent greater than the last crop, according to D. P. O'Brien, supervising engineer of the Philippine Sugar Central agency.
