COOLIDGE GIVEN BIG PLURALITY

SMITH WINS GOVERNORSHIP IN NEW YORK OVER THEODORE ROOSEVELT

G. O. P. TICKET ELECTED

EASTERN STATES GO REPUBLICAN WHILE DAVIS CARRIES THOSE IN SOUTH

New York.—The full measure of the Republican victory at the polls is not yet taken, but the returns continue to show that President Coolidge will have at least 200 votes to spare in the electoral college and the largest popular plurality in history. The showing made by John W. Davis remains unchanged and although Senator La Follette crept up a little in one or two Western states, there is no certainty that he would receive the electoral vote of any state group except that of Wisconsin. On the face of the congressional returns the Republicans made certain of a paper majority, at least, in both Senate and House, but doubt remained whether the margin would be great enough to give the administration the whip hand over the combined opposition of the Democrats and the La Follette bloc.

As the presidential figures stood with only a handful of electoral votes still in doubt, the indicated strength of the three candidates in the electoral college was as follows:

The future of the Democratic party, which now has suffered two crushing defeats in succession, also will become a subject of sober discussion among its titular leaders when the full effect of Tuesday's groundswell of Republican strength has been assessed. In a brief public statement Mr. Davis acknowledged "the decisive character" of the popular verdict against him, expressed a hope that the administration of President Coolidge would be beneficial to the country and declared a determination "to march on" in the ranks of his party.

He also sent a message of hearty congratulations to his successful Republican opponent and began preparations for a vacation that will take him away from the political vexations and jealousies into which he was plunged almost without warning by the breakup of the long Democratic deadlock in Madison Square garden.

Even the most sanguine of the Democratic chieftains was forced to concede as they surveyed the vast area of the political map which had been devastated of Democratic electoral votes, that the passions loosed in the sweltering convention hall last summer must have lived on to plague the party in more than one state. Despite the fight over the League of Nations, the bitter open war over the anti-Klan plank and finally the record-breaking deadlock over candidates, Mr. Davis and his campaign managers had spent their most assiduous energies for party solidarity and had hoped until the last for success. Yet Davis' popular vote, reckoned on the basis of the latest available figures, seems to have fallen even below the Cox vote in 1920.

What steps may now be taken to reorganize the party will have to be determined only after long cogitation.

It is the manifest hope of the La Follette element to take a place as the recognized "opposition party" at the expense of the Democracy. Such a purpose, of course, will be opposed stubbornly by many Democrats in places of high titular command or in positions of potential leadership.

It would occasion no surprise among the friends of Democratic National Chairman Shaver if he stepped out after the affairs of the Davis campaign are wound up and gave someone else an opportunity to try a hand at a compromise that would reelect once again such a winning organization as the party had in the days of Cleveland and Wilson. But all that has been said about a reorganization thus far has been in the nature of gossip and speculation only, for the Democratic leaders realize that the present moment of disappointment and confusion is not the time for serious planning.

As for President Coolidge and his personal friend and political associate from Massachusetts—Chairman William M. Butler of the Republican national committee, they conceded, have secured by the election a grant on their party's national machinery not likely to be challenged in the near future.

New York.—New York state's plurality for President Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes crept at more than 600,000 when returns from 7,010 out of the 7,553 election districts, including the New York City vote had been tabulated.

Gov. Alfred E. Smith was leading his Republican opponent, Col. Theodore Roosevelt by more than 103,000 on the returns from 7,031 districts in the state, including virtually the complete vote of the metropolis.

The vote for President was: Davis, 943,430; Coolidge, 1,774,945; La Follette, 453,705.

The vote for governor: Smith 1,533,429; Roosevelt 1,430,297.

New York.—Belated returns gave the Republicans the best of it in the upsets in both the House and Senate. But it appeared that final reports from all districts would be necessary before there could be a determination whether President Coolidge could expect a real working majority in the next Congress.

Returns from 390 of the 435 congressional districts gave the Republicans an actual majority—238—but in this total are included nearly a score of the La Follette insurgents.

The Democrats, meantime, had made certain of 150 seats and the Farmer-Labor party of two.

On the basis of these returns the Republicans had made a net gain of sixteen over the Democrats, recapturing twenty seats as against four now held by Republicans which were moved over into the Democratic column.

At adjournment last June the House lineup was Republican 225, Democrats 207 and three scattered.

In the Senatorial contests, the most surprising result was in Iowa where Smith W. Brookhart, Republican, who publicly repudiated his own national ticket had conceded his defeat at the hands of Daniel F. Steck, a Democratic lawyer of Ottumwa. Mr. Steck was generally credited with receiving support from many regular Republicans.

The Republicans, however, apparently had gained three Senatorial seats on the basis of returns received. These were in Massachusetts, Kentucky and Oklahoma.

The Democrats had elected eleven senators while seventeen Republicans had been chosen or had such leads as to make their election practically certain. In the six remaining contests, all in Western states, where returns were coming in slowly, the results were uncertain.

In Minnesota, Representative Thomas D. Schall, Republican, had what his supporters regarded as a commanding lead over Senator Magnus Johnson, Farmer-Labor. Johnson insisted, however, that the missing rural precincts would return him a winner.

investigation, led the field in Montana.

The result in both New Mexico and Wyoming were surrounded with much of the slowness in gathering of returns.

In picking a slate in Massachusetts the Republicans elected Frederick H. Gillett, speaker of the House, over David I. Walsh, the Democratic incumbent. In Kentucky, Fred M. Sackett, Republican, won over Senator A. Owsley Stanley, Democrat, while in Oklahoma it appeared that W. B. Pine, Republican, had defeated J. C. Walton, the Democratic candidate who ran on an anti-Ku Klux Klan platform.

Other Republicans elected to the Senate or who had substantial leads over their Democratic opponents were T. Coleman Dupont of Delaware who defeated James M. Tunnell, Democrat; Charles S. Deneen, who came in ahead of a field of six in Illinois; Senators Capper of Kansas, Borah of Idaho, Couzens of Michigan for both the short and long terms; Norris of Nebraska; Keyes of New Hampshire; Edge of New Jersey, and McNary of Oregon; Jesse H. Metcalf of Rhode Island; W. H. McMaster of South Dakota, and Guy D. Goff of West Virginia.

Democrats elected are: Heflin, Alabama; Robinson, Arkansas; Harris, Georgia; Ransdell, Louisiana; Harrison, Mississippi; Simmons, North Carolina; Blease, South Carolina; Tyson, Tennessee; Sheppard, Texas, and Carter Glass, Virginia.

The upsets in the House were widely scattered over the country. The Democrats lost the six seats they now have in Pennsylvania, but they elected their candidate over the Republican opponent in another Pennsylvania district. They lost four of their six seats in New Jersey; two in Indiana; one in Illinois; one each in Ohio, Michigan, Delaware, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Oregon and in Nevada.

They gained a district in Maryland, one in Kansas and elected their candidate in the eighth Ohio district over the Republican incumbent.

Return to the House of both the floor leaders—Longworth, Ohio, of the Republicans, and Garrett, Tennessee, of the Democrats—was assured, while it appeared that there would be no upsets in the New York delegation, the largest in the House, despite the heavy Coolidge plurality in the Empire state.

Among those returned in New York was Representative La Guardia of the Twentieth district, an avowed La Follette supporter, who ran as an independent, and Jacobstein, an upstate Democrat who had La Follette enforcement. The La Follette forces held their strength in Wisconsin and several of their allies in nearby states, among them Sinclair, North Dakota; Clague and Keller, Minnesota; Reid and Michaelson, Illinois and Woodruff and James, Michigan, who ran as Republicans, and Kvale and Wefald, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota, were reelected.

Representative Langley, Republican, Kentucky, who is under sentence to the federal penitentiary on charges of having violated the prohibition law, obtained a vote of confidence from the voters of the district, who returned him for another term, while in the Sixth Maryland, Representative Zihlman, Republican, who was exonerated by a House committee which investigated charges that he used official influence improperly, won additional vindication from voters in his district.

One woman, Mrs. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, will sit in the next House, the first woman to represent a congressional district east of the Mississippi.

Whether there again would be one Socialist in the House remained in doubt pending returns on a close contest in which Victor Berger of Wisconsin first was behind and then was leading.

Carries Marion Stronger Than Harding

Marion.—President Coolidge carried the home precinct of the late President Warren G. Harding by a bigger vote than Mr. Harding did four years ago. That precinct—precinct G of the Fourth ward—gave Coolidge 154, Davis 61, and La Follette 13. Four years ago it gave Harding 145 and Cox 110.

Kansas Voter, Then Dies

Kansas City.—John B. Kane, 65, left his grocery store and walked to a nearby voting booth, where he dropped his ballot in the box and said smilingly: "Well, I've not been feeling well of late, but I wanted to live long enough to vote for William Allen White." Then he returned to his store, seating himself in a chair, customers saw his head drop on his breast. When they reached him he was dead. White is running for governor on an independent ticket.

She was his stenographer. The statements were made in a declaration by Herrick filed in support of a suit he has brought against Miss Chiang for $50,000 damages for alleged breach of promise to marry him.

Birth State Gives Coolidge Big Vote

Montpelier.—President Calvin Coolidge's own state, where he was born and reared, gave him a tremendous vote. With 217 cities and towns out of the 248 in the Green Mountain state already completely counted, Mr. Coolidge had received 67,836 votes, Mr. Davis 13,491 and Mr. La Follette 5,120.

The fame of Charles N. Hatfield as a result of his rain-making undertakings in California has reached Africa, where he may have an opportunity to try his cunning on the Sahara desert. The Kings County Chamber of Commerce announced it had received an inquiry concerning Mr. Hatfield from Tunis, in French West Africa. The chamber will reply that farmers in this vicinity recently had paid Hatfield $3,000 for making it rain. Whether Mr Hatfield was responsible or not, it did rain 2.20 inches between March 15 and April 15 this year over an area seventy-five miles in diameter after the "rain maker" had "shot the skies" with fumes from chemicals.

Police declare Hart admitted perpetration of a dozen robberies and they also said loot estimated to be worth $15,000 was found in his room. The Rev. Meade B. During September class one railroads had operating revenues of $340,741,000, against expenses totaling $231,570,750, with a net operating income of $110,710,000, according to reports compiled in Washington by the Bureau of Railway Economics. While the revenues were 1 per cent under the corresponding ones last year, the operating expenses were decreased by 8.4 per cent under those of September, 1923. This, the report said, was due partly to a reduction of $13,910,000, or about 12 per cent, in maintenance expenses as compared with the same month last year. Expenditures during September for maintenance of way and maintenance of equipment were reduced by 5 per cent and 16 per cent, respectively, below the corresponding figures last year.

"The budget total, leaving out interest on the national debt and the postoffice department, will be well below 1,000 million dollars," said Lord. The budget will be presented to Congress when it meets.

Oil business in the San Juan county fields is booming according to reports and several new wells are about to be spudded in soon. Sugar beets are now being delivered to the new sugar factory at Maxwell, and there is every indication that the fall run will be a success in every way. The machinery has been given a thorough test and is working fine and will able to take care of the 20,000 tons which are to be harvested in the district this fall. Tests show that the beets run from 17 to 19.4 per cent sugar content which will mean a fine return for the growers.

This sand was tapped at the depth of 1,727 feet and the gravity of the oil is reported as 41, indicating that the drill is nearing the mother pool. It is the plan of the officials to continue drilling to the lower sand which is expected to be reached at the depth of about 2,700 feet.

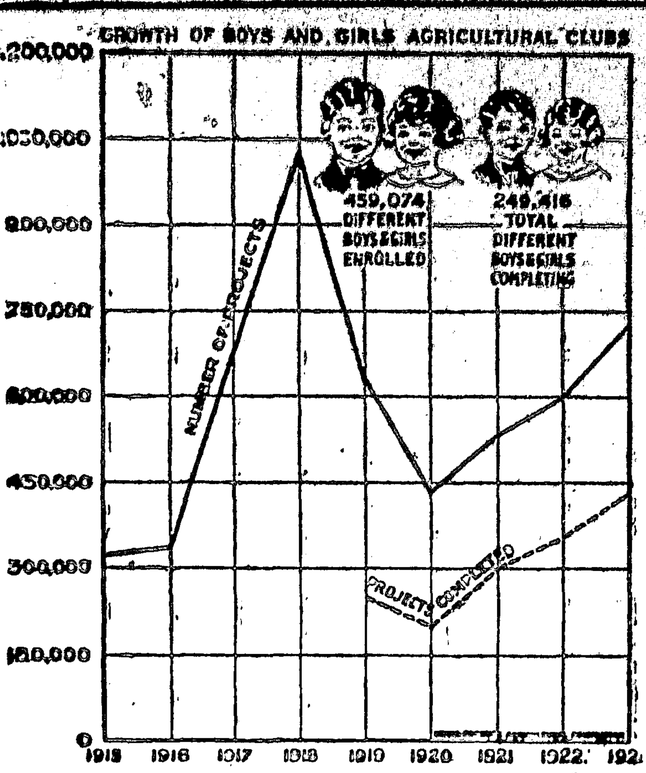
At the Stanley school house the first Girls' Club under the direction of State College was recently perfected for the Estancia Valley. Miss Lenz of State College assisted in the organization. Corbett for their leader. Mrs. Corbett was unanimously chosen leader. Seventeen girls enrolled.

Upon the basis of actual returns for twenty-nine counties and estimates for two counties, the Taxpayers' Association of New Mexico finds that the total 1924 taxes levied on general property for state, county, municipal and school district purposes in New Mexico will amount to approximately $3,000,000. The average tax rate to produce this total is $17.00 per $1,000 of assessed value as compared with $15.00 in 1923 and $20.00 in 1922. The state tax rate is $3.40 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation. Of this levy, $3.00 is for general state purposes, $1.00 for the state road fund and fifty cents for the state current school fund. These rates are the same as for 1923 and 1922. The 1924 county levies show increases over the 1923 levies in twenty-four counties and decreases in seven counties. In nineteen counties, the 1924 rates are higher than those of 1922, in spite of the fact that the Federal Aid Road levy was $1.00 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation in 1923 and $1.00 for 1924 and 1925. The reduction in the Federal Aid Road levy was made possible because of the issuance of $1,000,000 road bonds.

The big mill of the Wisconsin Milling Company is now one of the largest plants of the kind in the entire west although not as large as some. The mill is busy making cereals, graham and whole wheat flour, rye and buckwheat flour and yellow corn meal.

The convention of the auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, recently held in Las Vegas, was one of the most successful ever held in the state. Delegates from several states attended. The meeting of the organization next year will be held at Raton.

Junior Farmers Need Club Leaders



That club leadership must be increased properly to train the boys and girls of the nation who decide to remain on farms and become the bulwark of American agriculture is shown in a survey of the club work of the junior farmers just completed by Benjamin H. Darrow, director of the boys' and girls' club work of the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation.

According to the report of the Foundation, based on a count by the Department of Agriculture, 722,403 projects were begun in 1923 by 459,074 boys and girls, a number which is less than 6 per cent of the farm youth of the age of club age. Of these projects 420,740 were completed by 249,416 club members. Girls completing their work outnumber the boys three to two, there being 160,194 girls and 89,222 boys. The report also indicates that 65.6 per cent of the enrolled girls finished their projects, while only 58.0 per cent of the boys completed theirs. The high point reached in 1918, as shown by the accompanying chart, was due to the expansion of club work in connection with the slogan of the day: "Food will win the war." After the crisis was over there was retrenchment and club work suffered.

"Many of the 8,000,000 boys and girls engaged in club work hope to leave the farm," said Darrow, "but 59 per cent of them will remain in the country, experience has shown. All who stay on the farm should have the benefit of the inspiration and training club work affords. If we are to provide this for the junior farmers of the nation, we must rapidly increase the number of county club leaders."

HO, YE CARPENTERS!

Ho, ye Carpenters strong and bold,
All ye men (who are not too old),
Bring your hammers and bring your saws,
Come ye sons and come ye pa's!

We've digged the cellar and stirred the "wax",
We made the bricks and put them in stacks,
We hauled the stone and built the base,
Carried the bricks and put them in place.

The walls are up quite solid and true
And now the next thing there is to do,
Is put on the joists and rafters too
And cover the roof before we're thru.

So ho, ye carpenters, one and all,
Ye fat, ye thin, ye short, ye tall!
Bring your hammers and bring your saws,
Come ye sons and come ye pa's.

The church building has been going up nicely. The adobe walls are finished and the next thing is to put on the roof. In order to save the expenditure of money (which we do not have) we would be glad to have as many as could volunteer to help with this part of the work. It will not take long if there are a number of men to help. Everyone who can do so, come Saturday.—J. H. Thompson, Pastor.

SCHOOL NOTES

By F. D. COPELAND.

We are glad to record that Helene Titsworth is well along the road to recovery and will probably be back to school within a few days.

Corona was beaten by the Capitan boys last Saturday on the latter's court by 18 to 8. The visitors have a fast, snappy team that put up a good brand of ball and are capable of entertaining any team in this section. The second team went on to play Lincoln and won from them 10 to 6. Superintendent Smith and Coach Greer accompanied the squad.

As a fitting close to American Education Week there will be given a free public program at the high school on Friday evening November 21.

A general high school party was held at the school house last Friday evening. Miss McCluer played two piano numbers and Mrs. Copeland gave a couple of clarinet solos. Miss Townsend and Miss Fleming supervised the games, and Mrs. Carter, with the home economics girls, provided and served the excellent refreshments.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the people of Lincoln County for their support given me in the recent election. I shall strive to efficiently perform the duties of the office of County Clerk.

OLD BILL "Sourdough," the prospector-sage of the Capitans, expertly placed the other end of a keen thread of tobacco-laden saliva against the mossy side of an ancient juniper, tapped the winter verdure thoughtfully with the point of his pick, squinted a weather eye appraisingly, and rasped: "Fer'n'e'ance, th' prospectin' in this range'll be done under a weather hindrance this winter, and the dimmercrits hes 'bout as good a chance electin' a Bryan pres'dent as they is to uncover more 'an 'feelo' lead'. "Folks thinks we're a silent bunch. "Mebbe so, but we're a combined jazz band, forest fire and Injun snake dance beside 'at little 'down easter' at Washington. New Scenic Road Completed

Loveland.—The road built by the forest service over the Little South Poudre, linking the Poudre canon lands with the Buckhorn canon into Loveland, has been completed to the point that it is open for auto traffic. There is still a crew of forty men working to put the road in better shape for traveling. The new route traverses some of the most scenic points of the intermountain states, and enables the traveler to make a circle drive of 100 miles. Leaving Fort Collins, travelers may now go over the Poudre canon road for thirty miles to what is known as Federal bridge. Rushing upwards, the forest road ends to the John Derby ranch, over the Bennett creek trail, through Pingree park and Pennock pass to the head of the Buckhorn, which it joins the new Buckhorn road to Loveland. This new road, any officials, passes through some of the wildest region in the West, where the mountain streams dashed with trout make the region a fisherman's paradise.

Springs Prisoners Fight

Colorado Springs.—A jailbreak was narrowly avoided a few days ago when Melvin Majors 25, and George Marquette 20, convicts, held for charges of robbery with a gun one identified as the men who shot Patrolman James Cass in Denver several weeks ago, attacked and brutally beat James Boyd a fellow prisoner in the "hall pen" of the county jail. The men declared that Boyd was a "stool pigeon" and had been giving information to Fred Swaim, jailer. The police and sheriff have information that Marquette and Majors have been planning a jail break for several weeks. They intended to attack Swaim and make their escape it is said.

President's Airedale in Hospital

Washington.—There is gloom at the White House despite optimistic comforting reports. Paul Pres, the playful Airedale pet of Mr and Mrs Coolidge is in the veterinary hospital. The dog a constant companion of Mrs Coolidge on her frequent strolls about the city and about the house, has been operated on for a cold abscess. The frisky Airedale just past "puppyhood," is a familiar figure about the White House. When separated from Mrs Coolidge he has taken it upon himself several times to slip into the President's room in the executive office.

Cape May Airport Leased

Washington.—Lease of the Cape May airport to a commercial company has been authorized by Secretary Wilbur on condition that the leasing company will begin construction of a rigid airship within one year from the date of taking possession.

Old-Fashioned Winter Due

Washington.—The United States is due for the hardest winter in years if the well-known "law averages" that rules human destiny works out. In spite of the assertion of the United States weather bureau that long distance forecasting is impossible with present knowledge of meteorology, officials admit that an old-fashioned winter is overdue. Not since 1917 has the country suffered a really bitter cold season, according to the records. Following that season there were comparatively mild winters which indicate that December, January and February will be a grand polar celebration. Heavy snow, howling blizzards, plenty of sleet and biting cold waves—these are a number of pleasures in store for the country this winter, if the unofficial predictions come true.

Student Inherits $10,000,000

Iowa City.—Crawford, Fairbanks Fellow, University of California student, has received a $10,000,000 inheritance from the estate of his grandfather, Crawford Fairbanks of Terre Haute, Ind., who died recently.

Electrified Sands to Destroy Fogs

Washington.—Extensive experiments in the destruction of fogs and clouds by the use of electrified sand are to be carried out, under government supervision, at Bolling field. Army airplanes equipped with the device patented by Dr. L. Francis Warren of Harvard University, have been detailed exclusively to that work, and daily flights are to be made during the next six weeks to determine both the power and wide value in connection with aviation.

Dry Raiders Are Busy in Ukraine

Kharkov.—In their campaign to suppress the illegal sale of vodka, the militsioners have during the last month arrested nearly 2000 persons, while 11,000 searches of houses have been made by the militsy in the Kiev and Kharkov districts. These searches resulted in the discovery of 1,025 illegal stills, the confiscation of 70,000 barrels of bootleg vodka, and the imposition of fines amounting to the equivalent of $100,000.

Three Cents' Worth

At the faculty club at Indiana university a few nights ago the older professors were discussing how they saved the pennies when they were young professors. The story that took the prize was told by the head of a department. He said he ordered three cents' worth of meat from the butcher for his cat. The meat was delivered at his house, but before it came the cat had caught a mouse, so the professor called the butcher and asked whether he would come and get the meat and take it back—refunding, of course, the amount paid for it.

It was reported that the butcher took the meat back.—Indianapolis News.

Permanent roads are a good investment —not an expense

Why America Must Have More Paved Highways

Almost every section of the United States is confronted by a traffic problem.

Month by month this problem is becoming more and more serious.

Hundreds of cars pass a given point every hour on many of our state and county roads. Downtown city streets are jammed with traffic.

Think, too, how narrow many of our roads are, and how comparatively few paved highways there are in proportion to the steadily increasing number of cars.

If the motor vehicle is to continue giving the economic service of which it is capable, we must have more Concrete highways and widen those near large centers of population.

Every citizen should discuss highway needs in his community with his local authorities.

Your highway officials will do their part if given your support.

Why postpone meeting this pressing need?

An early start means early relief.

Silage Gases Dangerous

According to the United States Department of Agriculture the poisonous gases formed in a silo overnight while the silo is in process of being filled are deadly to persons. Freshly cut silage in the partially filled silo is the cause. When there is no air circulation the gases remain in considerable volume; immediate death may result from entering such a silo. To avert this danger, says the Department, run the ensilage cutter for a few minutes before anyone enters the silo. Air currents stirred up by the blower will either dilute the gases or drive them from the silo.—Exchange.

CAREFUL SELECTION OF BOAR IMPORTANT

The growing of a young boar to maturity is one of the most difficult tasks for the breeder. So difficult is this task that there is not more than one boar in a hundred that ever lives up to the expectations of the breeder. For this reason it is best to cull the male pigs very carefully and keep only those which show exceptional promise, suggests Prof. L. V. Starkey, chief of the animal husbandry division at Clemson college, who adds that it should be kept in mind that the boar is half the herd.

Breeders usually lose money on the boars which they grow out. Therefore it is better to dispose of them at four to six months of age. Boar pigs usually start to grow off very nicely. When they get to be from four to six months of age they frequently go off feed, go down in back and pasterns, and in a short time do not look like the same individuals.

The best way to grow out a young boar is to put him by himself in a field. The larger the field the better, because he needs exercise, shade, fresh water and shelter. If there are no other hogs in the same field, he usually has a quiet disposition. If other hogs are in the same lot or in an adjoining field he usually develops a nervous temperament and does not do well.

If boars are to make the best growth and develop, says Professor Starkey, they should not be used until they are a year old. However, if needed in the herd, they may be used for light service when seven or eight months of age.

The best breeding boars should be retained in the herd as long as they are able to reproduce. It will, of course, be necessary to have two boars to avoid inbreeding. Those who have only a few cows cannot afford to keep two boars—either they must dispose of the sow pigs or secure a new boar, and the latter is usually done.

Vaccinate Little Pigs for Proper Protection

In immunizing against hog cholera it has been assumed that suckling pigs were generally immune and that the time to vaccinate was immediately after weaning. That suckling pigs do possess a considerable degree of immunity no one will deny, but occasionally the losses are so heavy that the question of treating sucklings has been receiving serious consideration. The simultaneous treatment of suckling pigs is attended with considerable loss, and does not provide a lasting immunity in all cases. To overcome these difficulties Dr. R. R. Birch recommends serum alone to protect the pigs until they are twelve weeks old, at which time they may be weaned and given the double treatment. This method will provide for the smallest possible loss and at the same time will insure the highest degree of lasting immunity.—Geo. H. Glover, Veterinary Department, Colorado Agricultural College.

Oats Best for Cattle

Oats may usually be more profitably fed to cattle than to hogs. They should not be worth more than half the price of corn if they are to be fed to hogs at a profit. Whether they can be fed to hogs at the present time when they are worth 50 cents per bushel is a question which we will not dare to answer because we do not know what prices are going to be when the time to sell arrives. Oats should not make up more than a third of a ration to which corn or barley is used.

Ground Grain for Pigs

Ground barley and oats are quite an improvement over the whole dry grains. Possibly the pigs will eat the ground grains a little better if soaked, but usually it is not necessary to soak in addition to grinding. Pure bred pigs raised for breeding purposes should weigh 140 to 160 pounds if they have been fed well, but not pushed for show. Pigs that are to be shown can weigh close to 200 pounds when five months of age.

Hogs Require Exercise

During the summer hogs out on pasture get plenty of exercise. However, in the winter when hogs are likely to confine themselves too closely to their quarters, this may be sadly neglected. Good success has been obtained by arranging sleeping quarters some distance from feeding quarters. This method may not always be practical because where centralized houses are used the two may be closer together, or even in the same building.

Rape Cause of Blister

White hogs, and sometimes black and red ones, blister when running in rape. There is nothing peculiar about this crop which causes blistering; the trouble results simply from the combination of moisture, transferred from the rape to the hog, and a hot sun. By keeping pigs out of the rape patch until the dew or rain has evaporated from the leaves of the plants, blistering can be prevented. Even a small patch in a feed lot will save grain in raising pigs.

Function of Pure Breds

The greatest function of the pure bred herd is to produce choice sires which can be used in grading up scrub mules and grades which are already here.

All constructive breeders should be encouraged by those who are interested in the development of pure bred live stock. There is a tremendous difference between a well-bred bull or boar and one which is exceptionally well bred and at the same time shows the correct points of conformation.

BEFORE TWINS WERE BORN

Was Very Miserable. Felt Lots Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wyocena, Wisconsin.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my twins were born because my sister used it and recommended it to me. I was so I could scarcely go about my daily work. I was in such misery. But after I began taking the second bottle I was feeling lots better. I took three bottles and a half before I was confined and finished the bottle while I was in bed. I got up feeling fine and have taken care of the twins alone ever since. I recommend the Vegetable Compound highly and will sing its praises in the future."—Mrs. Ina Gumnitz, Wyocena, Wis.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one: Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after child-birth, and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother both before and after child-birth. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It can be taken in safety by nursing mothers.

The Self-Possessed Prince

Bernard Shaw, as everyone knows, is self-possessed to the verge of being inhuman. In a letter to a friend he once illustrated the fact that he never cried over spilt milk by likening himself to an Indian prince whose favorite wife, when banqueting with him, caught fire and was burnt to ashes before she could be extinguished. The Indian prince took in the situation at once and faced it in a thoroughly Shavian manner. "Sweep up your mucus," he said to his weeping staff, "and bring in the roast pheasant!"—Passing Show (London).

America Likes Vaudeville

If anyone doubts that Americans like vaudeville they have but to look at the financial statements of one of the large vaudeville booking organizations. During the first six months of 1924 when the legitimate theaters were reporting slow times, this one circuit, which ranks with the largest, earned more than 100 per cent after all charges were taken care of. The previous year it paid 60 cents on the outstanding capital stock.

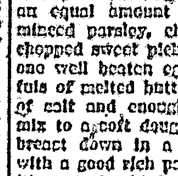
GOOD THINGS

A dainty cake is always an addition to any table. With a foundation of plain cake one may vary fillings, spices, flavorings in such a way that it will always be something different.



Hazel Nut Cakes.—Cream one-half cupful of butter, add one cupful of sugar gradually, three egg yolks well beaten, one-half cupful of milk, one and three-fourths cupfuls of flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder mixed well, and the stiffly beaten egg whites folded in at the last. Bake in a dripping pan and cut into small cakes with a small round cutter. Put together with:

Hazel Nut Filling.—Cream three tablespoonfuls of butter, add one egg yolk and stir until well mixed. Add three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, one teaspoonful of vanilla, one and one-half ounces each of hazel nut meats and pecan meats chopped; add one-half ounce of pistachio nuts, also chopped, and one and one-half tablespoonfuls of cream. When the cakes are prepared cover with a white frosting.

Louisville Black Cake.—Cream a pound of butter with a pound of sugar and add a cupful of New Orleans molasses, beating all well. Whip the yolks of twelve eggs and add a pound of browned flour (this should be carefully and evenly browned). Put two teaspoonfuls of baking powder into a cupful of cream or new milk, add to the mixture, flavor with a grated nutmeg or two, a tablespoonful each of cinnamon and allspice; add a quarter of a cupful of orange juice or grape-juice. Cut up two pounds of seeded raisins, one-half pound of figs, one-half pound of candied pineapple, and a pound of currants. Add these to the batter, using some of the flour to dredge over them; sprinkle with two pounds of blanched almonds, chopped. Bake in a moderate oven for four or five hours. Steam for two hours and finish baking two hours as this is found to make a more delicate cake. This will keep for years.

A nice oyster salad is prepared by serving oysters in layers in a lemon jelly. Serve on watercress with mayonnaise. This is both appetizing and pleasing in appearance.

Makers of Smokeless Powder Retain Secret

Gunpowder is a mixture of niter (saltpeter), charcoal and sulphur. It is black or brown in color, according to whether the charcoal used is completely "burned" or "underburned." Such powder always produces more or less smoke when exploded because there are fine particles of the saltpeter and charcoal which are not completely burned, says the Detroit News.

Smokeless powder, on the other hand, is not a mixture at all, but a chemical compound. The best smokeless powder is made from guncotton or nitrocellulose, which is made by treating cotton with a mixture of nitric and sulphuric acids. When smokeless powder explodes it is all converted into gases, such as carbonic acid gas, nitrogen and water vapor. The exact methods of making smokeless powder for rifles and other small arms are kept secret by the manufacturers.

Diver May Have Found Lost City of Vineta

Off Arkona, at the northern extremity of the Baltic island of Rugen, Captain Fuhrmann have discovered on the sea bottom the remains of a large mediaval warship, with many of her old guns still on board. From their workmanship it is thought that the vessel was a Danish warship.

"The diver who brought up the guns maintains that after the ship he saw only the remains of fortified walls. This has started the theory that the ship has been discovered of the long-lost city of Vineta, which was swallowed up by the Baltic Sea years ago, about the time when the North sea engulfed the Isle of Romesand formed the Goodwin sands.

The legend of lost Vineta has been sung in German verse. Fishermen on calm nights often say they can hear the sunken city's bells.
