THE GIFT REAPER.

Mr. J. L. McCorkle Succumbs to the Ravages of a Long Standing Disease.

Last Sunday night while on a hunting trip in the Capitan mountains Mr. J. L. McCorkle one of Capitans most exteemed citizens and business men was taken with a hemorrage of the lungs and died before any assistance could be given him. The sad news reached this place Monday morning when Mr. McIntosh who was with him came in town after Mrs. McCorkle. Mr. McCorkle has been a suffer from lung troubles for the past ten years, but to all appearances he seemed to retain his strength to a remarkable degree and his condition was not regarded at any time as dangerous and had not the fatal hemorrage came he might have lived for years in this high climate.

The deceased was born in Vaiden, Miss., on the 18th day of December, 1862 where he grew up to manhood. On the 17th day of January 1890 he was married to Miss Buelah Kimbrough in Carrolton, Miss. At the first appearance of the disease which caused his death the deceased removed to Texas where he hoped to regain his health. After a residence of several years in that state he came to Capitan in the spring of 1899, being one of the first to engage in business at this place. During his residence here he made friends with every one with whom he came in contact and was generally admired for his many manly trails.

The funeral services were held at the Methodist church and were conducted by Rev. Goodson an old friend of the deceased who paid many glowing tributes to the worth of his departed friend and brother. After the services were over the remains were laid to rest in the Capitan cemetary. At the grave the Knights of Pythias Lodge of which order he was a member administered the rites of that order.

The deceased leaves a wife and three children to whom the entire community extent their heart felt sympathy.

Says He Was Tortured.

"I suffered such pain from corns I could hardly walk," writes H. Robinson, Hillsbrough, Ills., "but Bucklens Arnic Salve completely cured them." Acts like magic on sprains, bruises, cuts, sores, scalds burns, boils, ulcers. Perfect healer of skin diseases and piles. Cure guaranteed by R. A. Hurt. 25c Too Cautious.

"Yes," said the throughtful theorist, "it certainly is possible to be too cautious and painstaking. Now, there was young Grubb, for instance. He knew nothing about love-making and he realized it, so when he fell in love he decided to practice a little in order that everything might be done in such a way as to make success practically assured."

No one can reasonably hope for good health unless his bowels move once each day. When this is not attended to, disorders of the stomach arise, biliousness, headache dyspepsia and piles soon follow. If you wish to avoid these ailments keep your bowels regular by taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver tablets when required. They are easy to take and mild and gentle in effect. For sale by Robt. A. It May be the Reason.

He didn't think much of newfangled ideas, anyway.

"It's a surprise to me," he said, "that our ignorant progenitors ever were able to bring up children at all. They had none of the necessary modern facilities. There was no kindergarten in the Garden of Eden."

WHAT IS A CHRISTIAN?

"Ian Maclaren" Defines Him as One Who Has Attained to His Height in Christ

"Christ did not come to cramp any one's manhood. He came to broaden it," writes the Rev. John Watson, D. D. ("Ian Maclaren"), on "A Young Man's Religious Life," in the Ladies' Home Journal. "He did not come to destroy our manhood; He came to fulfill it. A thoroughgoing Christian is a man with a stronger reason, kinder heart, firmer will and richer imagination than his fellows—one who has attained to his height in Christ. A bigot, or a prig, or a weakling, is a half-developed Christian, one not yet arrived at full age. What ought a Christian to read? Every book which feeds the intellect. Where ought he to go? Every place where the moral atmosphere is pure and bracing. What ought he to do? Everything that will make character. Religion is not negative, a giving up this or that, but positive, a getting and a possessing. If a man will be content with nothing but the best thought, best work, best friends, best environment, he need not trouble about avoiding the worst. The good driven out the bad. There are two ways of lighting a dark room. One is to attack the darkness with candles; the other is to open the shutters and let in the light. When light comes, darkness goes. There are two ways of forming character. One is to conquer our sins, the other is to cultivate the opposite virtues. The latter plan is best because it is surest—the virtue replaces the sin. Christianity is not drill; it is life full free, radiant and rejoicing. What a young man should do is not to vex himself about his imperfections, but to fix his mind on the bright image of Perfection; not to weary his soul with rules, but to live with Christ as one liveth with a friend. There is one way to complete manhood, and that is, fellowship with Jesus Christ."

MELINE'S SINGULAR POSTERS

How He Explains the Statements in His Speech. A Printer's Error.

It is not often that a printer's error is so useful and opportune as one that has just occurred in the posters containing the report of the speech of M. Meline, minister of agriculture, says the Paris Daily Messenger. It will be remembered that at the recent rise in the price of wheat the town populations were clamoring for the removal of the duties, while the country, that is to say the farmers, were clamoring equally loudly for the maintenance of the duties. Now, curiously enough, of the placards containing M. Meline's speech in the chamber of Nov. 12 and 13, those posted in the town speak of measures looking toward the lowering of the price of wheat, while those posted in the country speak of measures looking to the raising of the price of wheat. M. Meline explains the curiosity in this way: The "lowering" is a mistake which was not discovered until 1 of the posters had been struck off. Not wishing to put the state to the loss involved in throwing away those already printed, he decided to post them in the towns "where the placards are never read," and to put the remainder where the mistake had been rectified in the country. The question is, did M. Meline, when he gave that explanation, wink the other eye?

Philosophy of a Six-year-old.

Some bright little girls who live in West Ninety-sixth street were recently taken by their parents to see the wonders of the "zoo" at Bronx park. As they reached the habitation of the wolf they found the beast just devouring a live sparrow as a portion of his dinner. The eldest little girl, becoming excited and indignant over the spectacle, stamped her foot, exclaiming: "Oh, you cruel, wicked wolf, to eat that dear little sparrow! What a monster you are!"

Miss Marion, aged 6, looked at her incensed sister with a philosophical air and said, "What do you want the wolf to do about it and cook it first?"—New York Tribune.

Wheat Farming.

A Nebraska paper tells of a man who bought a farm there upon which there was a mortgage of $700. He did not make much money the first year, but he sowed 30 acres of wheat the next year. It was a poor year for wheat, and the stand was so poor that he thought he would not harvest it. He returned to his old home and left the farm and the mortgage to fight it out as they pleased. The wheat ripened, fell to the ground and seeded it self. There was a fine crop, and as some one was kind enough to write about it to him he went back, harvested it and sold it for enough to pay the mortgage and all other debts.

Children Study Too Much.

The cramming system and its accompanying evils are characterized as "A National Crime at the Feet of American Parents" by Edward Bok in The Ladies' Home Journal. "No child under 15 years of age," he contends, "should be given any home study whatever by his teachers. He should have not more than from one hour to four of schooling each day, the hours increasing with his years. Outside of school hours he should have at least three hours of play. After 15 the brain has another period of rapid development, with special increase of the higher faculties. Four hours of schooling, then, is not too much, provided the child's physical being is capable of it, and in time an hour of isolated study may be added. But that is enough.

"Five hours of brain work a day is the most that we should ask of our children, and the child should pass at least two hours a day in the open air. Our boys and girls do not get enough fresh air and sunshine into their bodies and natures. The highe. istitutions of learning understand the need of physical development for brain growth far better than do our lesser schools and our homes—sad as it is to admit."

Get Them Mixed.

Out in Missouri," says a western congressman, "they tell a good story on Senator David R. Atchison, who had the honor to be president for the duration of one Sunday by virtue of his position as president pro tempore of the senate. There was a good deal of discussion about bringing Kossuth to this country and much talk about the great Magyar. A bill had been introduced in congress to defray his expenses and was then before the senate. The word Magyar was tinkling in everybody's ears, and it had not escaped the attention of Senator Atchison—though he didn't know what it meant at that time. There was talk one day in the cloakrooms about the 'Magyar' and the propriety of voting for a bill to pay his expenses, no one denying that he was a great orator and a friend of this country.

"'Well,' said Senator Atchison after a short reflection, 'if, as I take it from his name, he is related to the Maguires of Kentucky, he is a good fellow, and I shall vote for the bill.'

"There was some secret smiling, but no one dared to correct the senator, and as soon as they could make their escape that crowd of senators went into the chamber to have out their laugh over Atchison's mistake in confounding the word Magyar with Maguire."—New York Tribune.

Fate of the Reina Mercedes.

Preparations are being made at the Norfolk navy yard for sending the former Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes to Portsmouth, N. H., where it was determined some time since to station her. The department's original plans for converting the raised wreck into a receiving ship having been abandoned, the hulk will be tied up at the Portsmouth yard and not even kept in ordinary condition, such expense being useless, says the Washington Post. It will be necessary to tow the Mercedes up the coast, as to place her engines in condition is a practical impossibility. She is a mournful wreck, as she lies among the collier fleet at the Norfolk navy yard, and naval men appear surprised that the further expense of towing her north should be incurred.

WU TING FANG, CHINESE MINISTER

was, with the tiniest of feet and the gentlest of small voices. She did not speak much English when she arrived in this country, but has added to her vocabulary until she now gets along very well with visitors. She shares her husband's progressive ideas and takes a lively interest in Americans, their customs and their doings. She is of equal rank with her husband, a fact indicated by various ornaments that adorn her costume, and is entitled to enter and leave the room at the side rather than behind him. Her gowns, of rich brocade, heavy with embroidery, are beautiful, and no woman in Washington society wears more magnificent jewels or a greater profusion of them.

Ensilage For Horses.

As many people have an idea that ensilage is not a good feed for horses, we will call attention to the fact that the Virginia experiment station has been testing it and reports that the trouble from its use has arisen from too much having been fed at the beginning, and as the horse likes it he is tempted to eat too much of it, as he might of green grass or clover. This is more apt to be the case when it contains a large amount of corn. When the station began by feeding small quantities and increased very gradually in the amount given, no injury resulted, and after the horses were well accustomed to its use they would not eat too heartily or it ever when given opportunity.

Southern Corn Bread.

A favorite southern dish is Virginia corn bread. It is served in a deep earthen baking dish and is dipped out with a spoon. As a breakfast dish it has no equal. Break two eggs into a bowl, add about one-half cup of flour, one cup of meal, one-half cup of milk, one spoonful of lard and butter mixed and a heaping teaspoonful of baking powder. Beat thoroughly. Then add a cup or more of hot water. It should be very thin and should be poured into a deep earthenware dish to bake.

We are now ready to buy or sell on commission and the undersigned in addition, and, second, to demonstrate by object lessons that legal tender money is useless—nay, a curse, and therefore should be abolished altogether.

"Our modus operandi in this greatest of all reforms is to set in motion at first an interchange of services between men and women out of employment and paralyzed for lack of money. To do this requires no capital, and there is no possibility of a failure. From this 'mutual aid department' to the production and interchange of articles of common use among the associates, and gradually rise from these simple operations to larger enterprises, and finally bring our co-operative forces to the construction of monumentable or permanent wealth, which lessens toil and increases the comforts of man.

"By such progressive methods we expect to be able not only to liberate the industries from the obstructions and extortions of the money power, but also to clear the mind of man of money hypnotism."—San Francisco Examiner.

INDUSTRIES OF LINCOLN COUNTY.

Providence has done more and man has done less for Lincoln county than for any section of the southwest. We can say it without fear of successful contradiction, that Lincoln county is richer in natural resources than any other section in the territory.

Lincoln county includes the largest and richest mineral belt in the territory, which has not yet been prospected, let alone being developed. The deepest mine in the county is the Old Abe, at White Oaks and set to it outside of White Oaks is the American mine at Nogal. The American is only 170 feet in depth and has yielded over a half milion dollars in gold. The Old Abe has produced nearly a million dollars in gold retorts. There are hundreds of prospects in the county that are more promising on the surface than either of the above mentioned properties, that are lying idle for a lack of capital to develop them and place them among the list of rich producing properties.

The mines and prospects of Lincoln county include gold, silver, lead, copper, cobalt, nickle, woolframite, etc., and vast deposits of both bituminous and anthracite coal, adjacent to "these vast beds of coal is the largest and best deposit of iron ores to be found in the United States to day. The high character of this iron and its close proimity to an unchaustable supply of fuel, makes possible the establishment of iron and steele works at Capitan at no distant day.

There are other valuable and rare minerals and precious stones not mentioned above to be found in Lincoln county, but up todate no prospectors have bothered to prospect for these.

The county will soon take the lead as one of the heavy producers of as first class quality of lumber. The timber is here in abundance. Just as soon as the demand is made upon us for building material large sawmills will be erected and lumber manufactured and shipped from Capitan. At present small sawmills in the White and Capitan mountains supply the local demand.

The country is covered with a most luxurious growth of grass that serves to fatten thousands of heads of cattle yearly. No country in the southwest excells this as a stock growing section.

Water "the God of all harvest" which is a most important factor, is here in abundance, and is distributed throughout the country in the form of springs and running streams. The streams which flow down from the White mountains are the purest water found in New Mexico. It is a pure and healthful draught of life saving liquid, fresh from the brew of nature.

The climate is the most perfect to be found anywhere or at least that is what competent government experts say. The United States Government recoginizing this fact has located the National Marine Hospital for consumptives at Fort Stanton, five miles from Capitan. In the mountainous parts which include two thirds of the country, springs reigns perpetually. The thermometer rarely ever registers as low as zero in winter or reaches the eighty degree mark in summer. The rainfall averages from ten inches per annum, on the plains to one hundred and twenty inches high up in the mountains. The average rainfall at Capitan is about sixty inches per annum, In most parts of the county the average rainfall is ample for the growing of crops.

All of Lincoln county is a veritable health and pleasure resort. One can find most any climate or scenery desired within a few miles of Capitan. Large banks of snow are to be found in the months of July and August, in sight of Capitan, some of which never melt the year around, while here we have a semi tropical climate in mid winter.

Hundreds of pleasure and health seekers visit the White and Capitan mountains every year. They spend in various lanuries, etc., and it has only been within the past year that they could reach them by railroad, which is now completed to Capitan and Nogal. They come here to take an outing in the mountains, catch a string of trout from the mountain streams and get a "whiff" of pure air.

In Lincoln county is some of the most wild and enchanting scenery to be found in all the southwest. The country abounds game and fish. There are more bear, deer, antelope, mountain lion, wild turkey, etc., found in the mountains of Lincoln county than in any other section of the territory.

Horticulture and agriculture are among the most important industries. Lincoln county has taken the prizes on her fruits wherever exhibited, for years. All the cereals and vegetables that grow in the temperate zone grow here, and with excellent markets agriculture and horticulture are very paying employment.

In conlcusion, there is no county in all the southwest that can excel Lincoln county in natural resources, and the time is not far distant when capital, combined with enterprise and labor will convert these hills and vallies into veritable mines and it is here that thousands of people will be enabled to build up comfortable and happy homes.

The Capitan coal fields are the largest in area of any in New Mexico, covering over four hundred square miles. All experts who have examined these coal fields agree that there are at least five strata of coal of commercial value. These coal measures vary in thickness from three to seven feet. Aside from being a first class coal for steam and domestic purposes, it is also an excellent coking coal, and is comparatively very free from ash. It is claimed that the coke made from Capitan coal is equal to the famous Connellsville article. There are now two large coal companies operating at Capitan and employing hundreds of miners. This coal finds a ready market at fancy prices.

Within five miles of Capitan are the greatest deposits of iron ore in the southwest. There are mountains of this iron ore that gives an average of .65 per cent iron and a trace of gold, taken from over one hundred sample tests. The ore is comparatively free from tanic acid and other objectable matter, making it a desirable quality for manufacture of Bessemer steel.

An eastern company has secured opitons on about ten thousand acres of this iron land and we expect to soon see large iron and steel manufacturing plants established here.

Saved His Life.

"I wish to say that I feel I owe my life to Kodol Dyspepsia cure," writes H. C. Chrestenson of Hayfield, Minn. "For three years I was troubled with dyspepsia so that I could hold nothing on my stomach. Many times I would be unable to retain a morsel of food. Finally I was confined to my bed. Doctors said I could not live. I read one of your advertisements on Kodol Dyspepsia cure and thought it fit my case and commenced its use. I began to improve from the first bottle. Now I am cured and recommend it to all.' Digest your food. Cures all stomach rouble. Robt. Hurt.

A. J. Snell wanted to attend a party, but was afraid to do so on account of pains in his stomach, which he feared would grow worse. He says, "I was telling my troubles to a lady friend, who said: 'Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy will put you in conditions for the party.' I bought a bottle and take pleasure in stating that two doses cured me and enabled me to have a good time at the party." Mr. Snell is a resident of Summer Hill, N. Y. This remedy is for sale by Robt.
