Washington Gossip.

Correspondence of the PROGRESS.

The spirit of the '60's invaded the National Capital during the past week, and the bloody battles of those stormy days were fought over again and again, not however with the same disastrous effects, for the sword hung quietly in its scabbard by the side, and the musket was shouldered with peaceful, proud intent. Kindly, generous hearted Father Time has tempered the bitter sting of the strife that threatened dissolution of these grand United States and has implanted in its stead sweet memories of comradeship and valor. The frost of many winters lingers caressingly, like a benediction, on the heads of those valiant soldiers boys and venerable age is creeping over many of them. Each year the ranks grow thinner, each year taps sound for many the sleep froes which there is no awakening. Men who have seen each other seldom, some possibly never, since the war, came to Washington, to meet often during the week and then to part, perhaps until they answer to the muster-roll of that one grand Reunion in which there will be no missing ones, no vacant places. Each year since 1890, when the membership reached its maximum, there has been a constant dropping out of the lines.

The week of the grand encampment was one of mingled joy and sadness. Sadness in the absence of the missing ones mustered out of the cares and sorrows of this world; sadness in the thought that these, too, must follow ere the passing of many winters. Joy, on seeing these grand old men meet again to renew friendships and recount again their stories and experiences of the '60s and the successes of their after-life. Joy, on seeing those who tramped foot-sore and weary, cold and hungry, tattered and torn, through these very thoroughfares, riding in state in automobile, unthought of then, and carriages, absorbed in contemplation of the changes that time has wrought in the city that was the center of the strife, and from which they were directed; anxiously, eagerly, looking for old landmarks, now sites and scenes of things so very different.

Banners and bunting abounded in profusion in all localities, and even the trees in their varicolored autumn leaves seemed to have decked themselves in gala dress for the grand encampment. G. A. R. magic letters that are the open sesame of warmest hospitality. The smiling skies and kindly sun beamed with loving tenderness on the visiting veterans and the ideal days added their large quota of enjoyment and delight to all.

For months past this grand reunion had been anticipated, planned and arranged for, indeed the preparations began immediately after the choice of Washington was made after much haggling by the executive board in Chicago, to which a committee had made the suggestion in December last. Committees were then appointed for preliminary preparations and subsequently sub-committees headed by prominent citizens, for arrangement of details, that grew more active and elaborate as the time drew near.

Many entertainments of diversified nature had been planned and were carried out for the veterans during the week of reunion. The first day of their arrival they witnessed an automobile parade, some of the vehicles being very elaborately decorated. In the afternoon a picturesque parade of the Red Men, and then formal exercises of welcome were held in the White Lot, when Secretary Hay, Secretary Moody and Commissioner Macfarland delivered addresses, to which General Eli Torrance, Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army, responded.

Possibly one of the most impressive features of the entire week was the camp fire of the evening of the first day, a feature fraught with sweet and sad memories, one possibly more than any other realistically suggestive of war time, when soldier took soldier into confidence, told him of the loved ones left at home to watch, wait and pray; when the results of the last battle were discussed and the possibilities of that of the morrow considered, or when loving messages of encouragement were laboriously penned to cheer aching hearts and lonely homes. Few who were fortunate enough to be present, will soon forget that rendering of "Rally Round the Flag Boys" in which the Marine Band and audience joined the octet in one grand chorus. The pyrotechnical display in the Washington Monument grounds was well worthy of the occasion. The fall of Pekin and many elaborate pieces of other character were produced in marvellously beautiful effects.

Tuesday was naval day—joined by the soldiers of the United States, the heroes of the sea of both Civil and Spanish wars passed in grand review before Admiral Dewey, also a hero and favorite of the hour who shared honors with the veterans and who stood with bared head as they passed. His popularity was evidenced by the enthusiastic and repeated cheering of the crowd. The rest of the day was devoted to reunions of the different departments of the G. A. R. and various receptions, one notable one being held in the Pension office. Again the events of the day were brought to a close by display of fireworks in the Monument Grounds.

On Wednesday morning the loyal hearts of those old soldiers were gladdened by the appearance of the President, who for the first time since their arrival was able to be with them, or even to be seen. Hundreds had up to that time haunted the temporary White House on Jackson Place, hungering for one glimpse of their Chief Magistrate. Just after General Torrance took his place in the reviewing stand President Roosevelt drove from the temporary White House. Loud bursts of applause marked the course of his carriage. Secretary Cortelyou and Col. T. F. Bingham rode with the president. So long was the parade of that day that it took five hours and a quarter to make the reviewing stand and the last of the procession went by at twenty minutes past five. There were 25,000 men in line. In Convention Hall Wednesday night Gen. Eli Torrance was the recipient of a handsome gold watch, a testimonial of esteem and popularity from the members of his staff. A diamond ring was also presented to his wife. In appropriate words of appreciation and gratitude the general expressed his thanks for the marks of esteem for himself and on behalf of his wife.

Thursday was election—G. A. R. elections. Gen Thomas J. Stewart of Pennsylvania won the office of Commander-in-Chief by an overwhelming majority. Of the 822 votes cast he received 467, and on the motion of General Black, seconded by Colonel McElroy, who were the other two contestants for the position, his election was made unanimous. William M. Olin, of Massachusetts, was elected Senior Vice Commander-in-Chief and James M. Averill of Georgia Junior Vice Commander-in-Chief. The evening's display of fireworks was special arranged in compliment to the G. A. R. The principal feature of the evening was the enormous G. A. R. badge, a brilliant and beautiful compliment in fire to the veterans. The reception of the afternoon that was held in the Corcoran Art Gallery was rendered notable by the presence of Mrs. Roosevelt to whom each guest was presented by Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey the chairman of the woman's citizen committee.

On Friday another important election was held when San Francisco was unanimously chosen as the place for holding the next encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. A. W. Atchison, of Texas, was elected surgeon-general, and D. B. Shuey, of Kansas, acclaimed chaplain-in-chief. Reports of committees and other business of import were disposed of during the day, and in the afternoon the final adjournment was made.

Another reunion has passed into history, one of the most notable of the organization. There remains but the memory that must linger until life itself fades away.

E. T. R.

The Nogal District.

A representative of The Herald visited the American and Helen Rae mines, properties of the American Gold Mining company last week. Development work was being pushed with great rapidity.

The company is putting in a fifty stamp mill and will also add a concentrator and cyanide plant. A car load of ore is being gotten out and will be shipped for a thorough test, so as to make sure as to the best machinery to save the values.

A drift is being run to connect the American and Helen Rae and the company is also opening up and cleaning out all the old workings of the latter.

There is enough ore in sight to last for a long time to come. The number of men working has been recently increased to about 200 and more will be added as place is made for them. The company is also putting up a large building for a general store.

All this activity makes Nogal have the appearance of a busy town which it is in reality. Several new buildings are going up and everything is prosperous.—Herald.

There was a fierce battle in a Magdalena saloon Sunday night between cowboys of the VXT outfit. Charles McMaives was shot in the thigh and lived only a few hours. No further particulars have been received.

A HANDSOM HOTEL.

Description of the Alvarado, Built by the Santa Fe Company, at Albuquerque—A Fine Edifice.

The Santa Fe Railroad company has just completed at Albuquerque, N. M., what is said to be the handsomest hotel in the territory. The Alvarado is a great, wide-spreading building fashioned after the Spanish mission style of architecture, with grey walls and a long series of arches, under the red tile roof with many towers. The hotel is 300 feet long and 160 feet wide and is built around an open court. In form and color, as well as in detailed beauty the Alvarado marks a new era of architectural achievement in New Mexico.

The mission effect is consistently observed in all the interior decoration. The main dining-hall has a dark, oak-ribbed ceiling and the walls are finished in black oak. It has seating capacity for 160 guests. In the office furniture and fixtures and in the general fitting up of the different rooms the mission idea is preserved in a general way, but the old roughness and carelessness has given way to grace and beauty. The low buildings, open courts and wide verandas are all arranged with the idea of making the Alvarado Mecca for invalids and health seekers. One of the features of the new hotel is the Indian room. This room has been fitted up to resemble an Indian tepee, and it is stocked with an Indian collection which is the pride of the Santa Fe system. It has been gathered through years of search among the Arizona and New Mexican Indians, and is said to be one of the finest Indian collections in the west. The hotel was commenced two years ago. Owing to the delays in getting the necessary material for fitting up some of the rooms and corridors, it was not ready to be opened to the public until a few weeks ago. The Alvarado will be extensively advertised by the Santa Fe company as a health resort, and it is expected to take a leading place among the noted hotels of the southwest.—Ex.

"While picnicking last month my 12-year-old boy was poisoned by some weed or plant," says W. H. Dibble, of Sioux City, Ia. "He rubbed the poison off his hands into his eyes and for awhile we were afraid he would lose his sight. Finally a neighbor recommended DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The first application helped him and in a few days he was as well as ever." For skin diseases, cuts, burns, scalds, wounds, insect bites, DeWitt's Witch Hazel salve is sure cure. Relieves piles at once. Beware of counterfeits.

Given the editor of the Nogal Republican sufficient rope and he will not only hang himself but strangle the entire Republican party in the county to death.

The Nancet-Copper company has been incorporated, the capital being $1,000,000 divided into 1,000,000 shares. The directors are Charles H. Nance, Frank Ackerman, Charles C. Cotton and C. H. Halsett of New Mexico and Clarence Le Font of Memphis, Tennessee. Headquarters at Albuquerque.

The Nogal Republican, the self-styled organ of the Republican party in Lincoln county, is making votes by the score for the Democratic party. Its methods are so at variance with those usually employed in elections in this county that the Republican party itself is becoming disgusted with its foul mouthed editor and threaten to revolt unless a check is put upon his rabid utterances. This is not to be wondered at. Such a vile sheet is a disgrace to any party and is enough to defeat any ticket.

Judge A. B. FALL, of Las Cruces has been nominated for councilman from the 9th district to oppose Hon. G. A. Richardson of Roswell the Democratic candidate. It will be remembered that Mr. Fall up to a few months ago was about as rank a democrat as could be found any where. Now he comes out on the Republican ticket against one of the staunchest Democrats in the territory. The 3rd of November can show but one resulting, an overwhelming majority for Richardson who, has remained true to his convictions and retains the respect of all regardless of politics.

County Prospector, in Live in California.

Will Visit Lower California in Search of Mineral Wealth--Success in Lincoln County Was His-- Tales of Early Days.

Jerry Hochrale, one of the oldest residents of New Mexico passed through this city today en route from his home in Lincoln county, to San Diego. Though about 70 odd years of age, he is hale and hearty and a typical prospector, in appearance. He said to a News man today:

"Yes, I guess I am the oldest resident of New Mexico, for I went there in 1868 when there was nothing in that section, but mountains, wild animals and Indians and there were plenty of the latter. I don't suppose it will do me any credit to tell how many red fellows I have dropped in my career, in fact I never kept track of them; but I will say this; that after we once got the Indians to knowing us we did not have nearly so much trouble with them as we had with bad whites and Mexicans.

"That was about the time when Pat Garrett, first became known in that country, or rather when he first got a job as a cow boy and deputy sheriff. We had just gone through with one war between Mexicans because I had sheltered their white enemies when the Kid came into prominence as a man killer. He seemed to have the sheriff pretty well bluffed and the people were getting pretty tired of him anyway, when some one came to me and wanted me to run for sheriff to clean him out. I said that I would not take the job under any circumstances, but told them that there was a likely young fellow in a cow camp who was a deputy sheriff, named Pat Garrett, who could do the work. Then we had the convention and nominated Pat. And I will say that he made the best sheriff Lincoln county ever had.

"Now I am quitting New Mexico for good and going over to see a country in the Muddy river region on the railroad that Senator Clark is building from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles. I passed over the country with a Mormon wagon train away back in '66 when I was coming east to New Mexico. The place is off the Mohave desert and when I passed over there there was alkali so thick on the ground that you could have skated on the crust. Then the water holes were 65, 72 and 85 miles apart as you came to them in crossing the desert to Muddy River, and it was only at certain seasons when you could cross at all or get water, because the wild beasts would drink it up before you reached there. It was on this spot that we had a bloody battle with 150 Indians, Piutes. The Indians had stolen some of the horses which belonged to the Mormons with whom I was traveling and when the men of the party tried to recover them they took a position on a rocky knoll and fired several volleys into the camp. Our party then made a detour and got behind the rock. After the smoke cleared away we found 19 dead redskins whom we buried the next morning. It was a narrow escape for us for there were only about six good guns in the whole party. While we were passing over that section I saw good mineral stables and now that the railroad is being built through there it will be a fine place for prospecting. I expect to stop there on my way to San Diego and see what the stables amount to. Then when I reach San Diego I will go to the postoffice of lower California, where I understand there are

A CIRCULAR.

How Commutation of and Second Homestead Entries May be Made.

The Progress is in receipt of the following circular from the Land Office, which is reproduced here for the information of the general public:

Registers and Receivers, U. S. Land Office, Gentlemen;

Your attention is called to the provisions of section 2 of the act of Congress of May 22, 1902 (Public, No. 122,) entitled "An act to allow the commutation of and second homestead entries in certain cases," which read as follows:

That any person who, prior to the passage of an act entitled "An act providing for free homesteads on the public lands for actual and bona fide settlers, and reserving the public lands for that purpose," approved May 17, 1900, having made a homestead entry and perfected the same and acquired title to the land by final entry by having paid the price provided in the law opening the land to settlement, and who would have been entitled to the provisions of the act before cited had final entry not been made prior to the passage of said act, may make another homestead entry of not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres of any of the public lands in any State or Territory subject to homestead entry: Provided, that any person desiring to make another entry under this act will be required to make affidavit, to be transmitted with the other filing papers now required by law, giving the description of the tract formerly entered date and number of entry, and name of the land office where made, or other sufficient data to admit of readily identifying it on the official records: And provided further, That said person has all the other proper qualifications of a homestead entryman: And provided also, That commutation under section twenty-three hundred and one of the Revised Statutes of any amendment thereto, or any similar statute, shall not be permitted of an entry made under this act, excepting where the final proof, submitted on the former entry heretofore described, shows a residence upon the land covered thereby for the full period of five years or such term of residence thereon as added to any properly credited military or naval service shall equal such period of five years.

Under said section any person may make another homestead entry who, prior to the passage of said act of May 17, 1900 (31 Stat., 179), made a homestead entry for lands in the ceded Indian reservations affected by said act of 1900, supra, and perfected the same and acquired title to the land by final entry under section 2291 U. S. R. S., or by commutation under section 2301 U. S. R. S., or any amendment thereto, or any similar statute, by having paid the price provided in the law opening the land to settlement.

You will require each applicant to furnish sufficient data whereby his former entry may be identified, and show that he has all the other qualifications of a homestead entryman.

It will be observed that an entry made hereunder can not be perfected by commutation under section 2301 R. S., or any amendment thereto, or any similar statute, excepting where the final proof, submitted on the former entry "heretofore described," shows a residence upon the land covered thereby for the full period of five years, or such term of residence thereon as added to any properly credited military or naval service shall equal such period of five years.

Very respectfully, BROWN WATSON, Approved: C. A. HITCHCOCK, Secretary.

When you wake up with a bad taste in your mouth, go at once to Robt. Hurt's drug store and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. One or two doses will make you well. They also cure biliousness, sick headaches and constipation. His Life was Saved by Chamberlain's. "B. L. Dyer, a well known cooper of this town, says he believes Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy saved his life last summer. He had been sick for a month with what the doctors call bilious dysentery, and could get nothing to do him any good until he tried this remedy. It gave him immediate relief," says R. T. Little, merchant, Hancock, Md. For sale by Robt. Hurt.

To My Friend. It is with joy I tell you what Kodol did for me. I was troubled with my stomach for several months. Upon being advised to use Kodol, I did so, and words cannot tell the good it has done me. A neighbor had dyspepsia so that he had tried everything. I told him to use Kodol. Words of gratitude have come to me from him because I recommended it.—Geo. W. Fry, Viola, Iowa. Health and strength of mind and body, depend on the stomach, and normal activity of the digestive organs. Kodol, the reconstructive tonic, cures all stomach and bowel troubles, indigestion, dyspepsia, Kodol digests any good food you eat. Take a dose after meals.—Robt. Hurt.

It Needed a Tonic. There are times when your liver needs a tonic. Don't give purgatives that grapes and weaken. DeWitt's Little Early Risers expel all poison from the system and act as tonic to the liver. W. Scott 531 Highland ave., Milton, Pa., says: "I have carried DeWitt's Little Early Risers with me for several years and would not be without them." Small and easy to take. Purely vegetable. They sever grip or distress.—Robt. Hurt.

A Necessary Precaution. Don't neglect a cold. It is worse than unpleasant. It is dangerous. By using One Minute cough cure you can cure it at once. Allays inflammation, clears the head, soothes and strengthens the mucous membrane. Cures coughs, croup, throat and lung troubles. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Children like it.—Robt. Hurt.

A Remarkable Record. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over thirty years, during which time many million bottles have been sold and used. It has long been the standard and main reliance in the treatment of croup in thousands of homes, yet during all this time no case has ever been reported to the manufacturers in which it failed to effect a cure. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is pleasant to take, many children like it. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by Robt. Hurt.

Both the commissioners, after reading it, expressed their appreciation of its kind intentions of The World. "It has been our greatest difficulty to make the American people understand the deep rooted patriotism that prevails among the Boers. We do not know the condition in the Transvaal today; we do not know that the Boers have suffered defeat. Each movement of the British is heralded as a victory, while every movement of the Boers is recorded as a rout or retreat. I do not believe these reports are true. But this is not the vital question. "Conceding, which I do not, that the Boer forces are or will be crushed, the idea of a republic for the Transvaal has not been given up and never will be. Though it may be a hundred years before another opportunity is given to strike for independence, it will be done. I shall not talk of terms of peace. The English can never conquer us so long as a man or an ox remains alive in the country."

Mr. Weesels said that the party had fled upon June 20 as the time for leaving the United States, but were not sure of that, as events might prolong their stay. Concerning the suggestion that the Boers make new homes for themselves in America, Mr. Weesels says: "While we believe that the Boers will obtain freedom, or at least partial freedom, within a year or so, if not at once, we are very uncertain as to the future. If any definite offer is made to us as the official representatives of the people in South Africa, we shall be glad to lay it before our people and give them an opportunity to decide. We like the country and the people. Were the Boers to come to America their trials would never be repeated. "But I do not think that all Boers would come, and I doubt whether a majority of the Boers in the Orange Free State and in the Transvaal would be ready to leave their adopted home. They are willing to trek farther into the interior if they have any assurance that the British flag will not follow them."

The envoys say that since they started on their mission they have been under constant surveillance by detectives and secret service agents of the British government.

MR. MOODY'S WIDOW The Late Evangelist's Helpmeet Sweet Faed, Motherly Woman. Mrs. Dwight L. Moody, widow of the great evangelist who recently ended his long and active career, is a pleasant faced, low voiced, motherly looking woman who has never shared or wished to share in the publicity of her late husband. She has, however, taken her share of the work. For many years she accompanied him in his tours, bearing uncomplainingly the discomforts of travel and helping in the revivals. But always she has kept herself in the background, and only those who knew the great evangelist intimately have heard of this gentle, sweet faced woman.

Her maiden name was Miss Emma C. Revell. She is a sister of Fleming H. Revell, the Chicago publisher. It was in 1862 that she first met Mr. Moody, who was then just at the beginning of his career as an evangelist. During their first few years of married life their financial outlook was gloomy indeed. Mr. Moody had not then made a reputation as an evangelist, and although he was enthusiastic over his work, there were times when it seemed that he must abandon preaching in order to provide for his family. During these trials, as in the brighter years which followed, Mrs. Moody was always a faithful helpmeet.

Mrs. Moody is the mother of three children, two of whom have died recently. She still makes her home in Northfield, Mass. During the latter part of her husband's career she was compelled to give up the life of travel and devote herself to her home and her children. Her plans for the future have not been announced, but it is probable that she will attempt to carry on much of the work at Northfield which Mr. Moody had set on foot.

One of the most frightful accidents that has ever occurred in the Portales community happened last Saturday afternoon at the residence of Jim Scott who lived about ten miles from town. Scott's two little children, one two and the other six years of age, were out playing "keeping house." An old goods box was their house, and in this the children built a fire to "cook dinner." Presently the family was aroused by the screams of the children, and ran to their rescue, but were too late. The flames had enveloped the little ones, and before they could be put out the children were burned so badly that they died Sunday night.

Old Aztec Workings Which Have Long Been Idle Being Opened Up by Americans and Proving Bonanzas—Rich Mining Country There.

TO THE PROGRESS.

Thinking a correspondence from Oaxaca, Mexico, would interest your patrons I have concluded to send this.

Oaxaca is fast becoming the most paying mining district in Mexico, having been formerly worked by the Aztecs and old Spaniards under Cortez, but having no machinery to operate with they worked the mines until they struck water or got in so far they could not handle the ore on the back of a peon (or slave), then the mines were abandoned and new ones worked. Following this, history tells us of the destruction of the Aztecs and flight of the Spaniards, so these old mines have laid here unworked until one decade ago, when the Americans commenced to arrive in this part of Mexico, and at the present time there are dozens of Americans getting immensely rich mining in this section—90 per cent of them operating old workings.

Our company, the Americano y Mexicano Ore Extracting Co., have opened up an old gold working thirty-three miles west from Oaxaca and it is a bonanza. Some of the rock runs up into the hundreds of dollars per ton, and we expect it to improve upon development below the water level, which as yet we have not reached—sufficient ore, however, having been unearthed to justify a ten-stamp mill, which we hope will be running in ninety days. This mine is known as the Solidaridad.

Another property belonging to a rich Mexican about sixteen miles south of the city of Oaxaca and known as the Placers, where they have just cut into the old workings, shows assays of 84 lbs. of silver and 80 ozs. gold to the ton. A short time ago $250,000 cash was refused for the mine. Bonanza, in Villa Alta, about sixty miles northeast, shows 126 pounds silver and 26 ounces gold. This is another old mine that has been developed in the last sixty days; in fact, all of us are now turning our attention to old workings.

Since my return here I have secured three old mines. I do not as yet know what they will be, but think one will not lose what he invests in this class of property, for it is bound to be of value in the next decade.

The Mexican laws governing mining property are very lenient and encouraging. When you find a claim, go to the district land office, make a denouncement (application for title) on so much land as you want then in sixty days you must have it surveyed and your plans turned in to the land office, whence they are sent to the City of Mexico, and in from six to eight months you receive your 'titula' (patent), and upon receipt of the patent you have to pay to the government $10 Mexican money for every pertinencia you have. A pertinencia is 100 meters square, and every year as long as you keep the mine you have to pay $10 for each pertinencia. The surveying will cost about $5 per pertinencia and the denouncement about $35 regardless of the number of pertinencias. You do not have to do any stipulated amount of work. It depends on whether you care to develop your property or not, and the state of Oaxaca is very lenient to Americans, as they are what is needed to develop this country.
