SANTA FE CENTRAL.

Grading Nearing Completion and the Steel to Be Laid Right Away. Plenty of Water at Torrance.

General Manager W. S. Hopewell of the Santa Fe Central railway, who has just returned from a trip along the line of construction of that road, brings most encouraging and cheerful news. The grade is completed fifty miles south of Santa Fe and ten miles northwest of Torrance, leaving a gap of sixty miles of grade to be finished. As this is over the easiest part of the line and as for many miles the road runs on a tangent on this stretch, grading will be finished in plenty of time and there will be no interference with the track layers. The steel rails are loaded on the cars at Pittsburg, but owing to the congestion of freight business in the Pittsburg yards these cars have not been moved. They are expected to be at Torrance by the 10th inst. A Harris track laying machine is on the ground and will be used, and as soon as the rails reach Torrance active work will be commenced and pushed at the rate of two and a half miles a day. The yards at Torrance are graded in first class shape and ready for the steel. A plentiful supply of water has been struck at Torrance and samples of the water have been sent to the School of Mines at Socorro for analysis. If it turns out to be good engine water, this find will prove most valuable to the company. Another well seven miles northwest of Torrance is being drilled and a depth of 400 feet has been reached, but good water has not yet been found. The drilling is to be continued 3,500 feet unless good water is found before that depth is reached. The bridges along the entire line are completed and ready for the ties and steel, with the exception of the two long bridges across the Galisteo river and the La Jara cañon. These latter will consist partly of steel trusses and girders and this material is to be furnished by the King Bridge Company of Cleveland, O. Two car loads of it have already arrived and are at Kennedy station to be hauled to the place needed for the Galisteo bridge. The laying of steel rails, at the same time-tions, will commence about the 15th of December, and will be completed by the first of March, at which latter date it is believed that the road will be turned over by the construction company to the operation department of the Santa Fe Central Railway company.

An Enemy of Superstition.

Mr. Holley looked at his grandson with a mixture of amusement and reproach on his shrewd old face. It was dusk in the barn, a time for confidences. "Idunno where in all the earth you got such notions, sonny," the old man said; "not from your ma's folks, or your pa's, either. There never was any talk o' belief in signs and superstitions in either the Holley or the Fawcett stock, that's sure. It must have come from that lady they had to teach you, I expect.

"And you don't believe there's any harm in a bird's flying into the house, or breaking a mirror, or seeing a black cat, grandpa?" asked the little boy, earnestly. "And don't you care whether a pin sticks straight up in the floor, or which shoulder you see the moon over, or whether you get anything on you 'wrong side out?' Not any of these things?"

"All foolishness," said the old man, with a reassuring pat of the hot little hand. "I'm glad ye've talked it out with me, sonny. Now you just put it out of your head, and I'll tell you what I'll do. When we go up to the house I'll give ye a little old penny I've been saving for ye for a lucky piece. You jest carry it in your pocket all the time,—change it from one suit o' clothes to another,—and see what 'I'll bring ye."

"Do they really bring luck, grandpa?" asked the little boy.

"Course they do," said Mr. Holley, firmly. "When we get another spare time I'll relate to ye a few cases that's come under my own eye, of lives saved by 'em, and so forth. Course they do."

A glass or two of water taken half an hour before breakfast will usually keep the bowels regular. Harsh cathartics should be avoided. When a purgative is needed take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They are mild, gentle in their action. For sale by R. A. Hart.

Maybe He Liked It That Way.

"I don't say that a man's got to put through or even help to put through every reform movement he talks loud about," remarked Mr. Reynolds in a mildly judicial manner. "There's a good many different brands o' reform and pretty near all of 'em are kind of appealing to a man that reads and observes and thinks. If a man thinks he talks; and some of the goings on on this little ball of ours have got to be talked about. That's the only way to put a stop to 'em or help 'em along. Human needs must be cried up by the human voice."

True, assented the audience of one.

What I contend, continued Mr. Reynolds, is that there ought to be some kind of visible connection between the thing a man cries up and himself. He don't need to 'ustrate in his person all he's howling for but the beginner's must be there or folks won't take stock in it. I don't know but what something that came under my own observation will make that clearer to ye.

Mr. Reynolds continued: Last spring 'long 'bout April a stranger came into Chandler's livery stable where a number o' us thinking men were sitting. He was a nice appearing chap, well dressed and good spoken.

He had hair restorer to sell and he set out what 't would do in A1 style. I never heard any drummer that could teach him for language. Most of us wore a little mite bald on top and knew it—being married men—and he had us fidgeting our heads in no time and I don't mind swating up THAT I saw myself as I looked forty-two year ago, when I went court-bug.

"Well," says he, when he saw he'd got us up to the sticking point, "there aint any manner of doubt in my mind but what I've struck a class of American citizens that know a good thing when they see it."

He smiled and sat down on a buggy thill. Is'pose he'd kinder got het up talking. Tany rate he took off his hat to mop his forehead—

Well, questioned the audience, filling the pause as Reynolds intended.

His head was as bare and shiny as a peeled onion, responded Reynolds.

That hair-restorer might have been all he claimed it was. It may o'been just the thing for our heads. I don't say it wasn't. But after we saw his head it would have been against common sense to take stock in him or his stuff. You see what I've been driving at—don't ye?

Perfectly, replied the audience politely and candidly.

All They Could Afford.

As an illustration of the nature of Southern negroes—the Rev. D. J. Sanders, the negro president of Biddle university of Charlotte, N. C., relates the following:

Negroes are great lovers of pomp and ceremony, of titles and decorations, and the members of a large but ignorant negro congregation in North Carolina conceived the notion it would add to their influence as a church if the pastor could append D. D. to his name.

One of the brethren learned a certain institution would confer the degree for a price. He wrote and got an answer that fifty dollars would secure the honor.

Meantime the members went to work to raise the fifty dollars but their utmost efforts secured only twenty-five dollars.

The committeemen put their heads together and decided to send the money with this letter:

"Please send our pastor one 'D' as we are not able to pay for the other at this time."

To improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion, try a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Mr. J. H. Saults of Detroit, Mich., says, "They restored my appetite when impaired, relieved me of a bloated feeling and caused a pleasant and satisfactory movement of the bowels." There are people in this community who need just such a medicine. For sale by R. A. Hart. Every box warranted.

He Didn't Go.

M. E. Ingalls, prominent in railroad circles in the middle west has a rule that callers must send in their names from an outer office and await his summons if he desires to admit them. It is told of him that not a great while ago the rule was ignored by a stranger who swung the door open, let it close with a bang and jerkily asked:

"Ingalls in?"

"I am Mr. Ingalls," replied the railroad man, his color rising.

"So?" queried the stranger.

"Letter for you."

And he handed over an envelope. When Mr. Ingalls read the contents he appeared surprised and asked:

"Do you know what he says?"

"Yep," replied the stranger.

"Station agent in our town said you'd give me a job if I brought that to you."

"Indeed," commented Ingalls ironically. "Well, do you not think your chances would be better if you had at least knocked before entering, removed your hat when you entered and inquired for Mr. Ingalls instead of merely 'Ingalls'?"

The stranger looked discomfited, reached for the letter and left slowly. Before Ingalls recovered from the surprise there was a knock on the door, and responding to his "come in," the stranger re-entered, removed his hat and gently inquired:

"Is Mr. Ingalls in?"

The magnate, deeply impressed with the fact that his little lecture had produced quick results, said cheerily:

"Yes, my friend, I am he. What can I do for you?"

"Do for me?" came the answer. Then louder, "Do for me? You can go to the devil for me, you bald-headed little duffer. That's what you can do."

And he departed, slamming the door.—Philadelphia Ledger.

United States Court.

In the United States court held at Socorro last week Judge D. H. McMillan sentenced Demetrio Perea, ex-sheriff of Lincoln county and former postmaster at Lincoln, to two years and two days in the penitentiary and the payment of a fine of $889 for embezzling $1,638 postal funds. Perea pleaded guilty. After embezzling the money he fled to Mexico but returned and was arrested. Bert Rowland, who was formerly postmaster at this place, also pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months in the penitentiary at Santa Fe and to the payment of a fine of $152 for embezzling $150 postal funds.

A Cold Wave.

The forecast of sudden changes in the weather serves notice that a hoarse voice may invade the sanctity of health in your own home. Cautious people have a bottle of One Minute cough cure always at hand. E. H. Wise, Madison, Ga., writes: "I am indebted to One minute cough cure for my present good health, and probably my life." It cures coughs, colds, lagrippe, bronchitis, pneumonia and all throat and lung troubles. One Minute Cough Cure cuts the phlegm, draws out the inflammation, heals and soothes the mucous membrane and strengthens the lungs. Robt. Hurt.

A Good Seller.

The sales of some modern novels have reached hundreds of thousands, and two, one of which is modern and the other a classic, have passed the million mark. Webster's old Spelling Book may not have been as exciting as these novels but as a seller it surpassed them so far as to be in a class by itself. The history of the firm which printed the spelling book for years contains some interesting figures. The smallest number sold during any one year was over a third of a million in 1862, the largest more than a million and a half in 1866, and during the thirty-five years the same firm published the books more than thirty-one million copies were sold. It is doubtful if any book except the Bible ever equaled this record.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.

Digests all classes of food, tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, cures dyspepsia, indigestion, stomach troubles and makes rich, red blood, health and strength. Kodol rebuilds worn out tissues, purifies, strengthens and sweetens the stomach. Gov. G. W. Atkinson of W. Va., says: I have used a number of bottles of Kodol and have found it to be a very effective and, indeed, a powerful remedy for stomach ailments. I recommend it to my friends. Robt. Hurt.

P. H. THOMPSON KILLS

DOC DAY AT CORONA.

Day Tries to Get in His Work First But Thompson Is too Quick.

After Being Shot in the Arm and Side Thompson Gets His Gun and Quickly Vanquishes His Adversary—Thompson Gives Himself Up.

P. H. Thompson, accompanied by Billy Smith, detective for the El Paso & Northeastern system, arrived in Capitan on today's train from Corona, where he shot and probably killed a man by the name of Doc Day. Day and Thompson were in a store last night and Thompson stepped up to Day and began talking to him in a friendly manner, when Day drew a gun and began shooting without any apparent reason whatever. Thompson naturally was taken completely by surprise and before he realized what was taking place Day had fired two shots, one taking effect in his left arm and the other cutting out a piece of flesh from his side about the waist line. Thompson, however, quickly recovered himself and drawing his gun fired five shots in rapid succession, all of which took effect.

At last accounts Day was still alive but it is not thought he can possibly live. He was taken to the hospital at Alamogordo on last night's train to receive medical attention. Thompson came here today for the purpose of giving himself up to the authorities and having a preliminary hearing before Justice Hurt.

Mr. Thompson is and has always been a very quiet and peaceable man, avoiding trouble where ever possible.

The only hypothesis upon which Day's action can be accounted for is that some time ago Thompson and one of his (Day's) nephews had some trouble which Day probably resented.

Day and Thompson had previously been the very best of friends and Thompson had no reason to believe anything but the most cordial relations existed between them until last night's trouble arose.

That Thompson was not killed by Day's first shot is considered a miracle as he (Day) was not over five or six feet away when he fired.

W. H. Fisher and wife have moved into the building formerly occupied by J. S. Morris. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher will probably remain in Capitan permanently.

Mrs. Geo. A. Montgomery has purchased Miss Ella Mundells stock of Millinery and moved it to the commodious building on the corner of Fourth street and Lincoln avenue.

J. W. Reynolds, acting governor during Gov. Otero's absence following the usual custom, pardoned Elezio Sena out of the penitentiary on Thanksgiving day. Sena was serving a life sentence for murder from the county of Mora.

H. A. Crow, organizer for the Modern Woodmen, instituted a lodge of that order at North Capitan this week. The new lodge starts off with a membership of about fifteen, but this number will be greatly increased in the near future.

Torrance is growing rapidly, and several families have moved in since it has been demonstrated by the Pennsylvania Development Company that water can be secured at less than 500 feet depth. The water in their wells is of good quality and free from alkali. The supply is ample for several hundred people. The water from the well seven miles south of town will be piped into the city for the irrigation of the proposed parks and lawns surrounding the depot.

The plant at Pintado for treatment of the water for engine use is now in operation. The treatment is the suggestion of Professor Skeats, the chemical expert of El Paso, who also put in the plant. The treatment as now reported by the railroad men is not an unqualified success and causes the water to foam in the boilers. It is thought it will not be so bad when the water is permitted to settle longer. The company is considering the advisability of putting in another plant at well No. 7.

How to Prevent Croup.

It will be good news to the mothers of small children to learn that croup can be prevented. The first sign of croup is hoarseness. A day or two before the attack the child becomes hoarse. This is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough. Give Chamberlain's cough remedy freely as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the rough cough appears, and it will dispel all symptoms of croup. In this way all danger and anxiety may be avoided. This remedy is used by many thousands of mothers and has never been known to fail. It is, in fact, the only remedy that can always be depended upon and that is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Robt. Hurt.

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would observe results they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for."

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McKee's Wine of Cardui and Theodore's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, whites and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to those that have been barren for years. ANGUS CORRESPONDENCE.

Thanksgiving Day Passed Pleasantly
—A Basket Sociable Netted a Neat Sum for School.

Thanksgiving day was celebrated at Parsons by a large dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rice, including besides his own interesting family guests from New York and Chicago.

A party of thirty-two were seated at one long table in their spacious hall, carvers serving at either end. The table was lavishly supplied with all the good things of the season, to which the guests did ample justice.

Speeches and music followed the satisfying of the inner man, making a day long to be remembered by all participants.

The guests were Rev. Johnson and Mr. Pettibone, wife and daughter of Chicago; Mr. Hall and Mrs. Blodgett of New York; Mrs. Stevens of Kansas City; Thos. Garst and wife, Dr. Dryden and wife, Dr. Welsh and wife, A. C. Austin, wife and daughters, Mr. Pray and wife, Mr. Doak and wife, Wallace Gumm and wife.

News comes that the Rev. S. M. Johnson of Chicago, editor of The Conquest Bulletin, has secured a large endowment for a college to be located in the beautiful Bonita valley. The Christian flag is to be unfurled from its dome, it will be undenominational and American thought, history and great men will receive accentuation. The Grecian and Roman history and literature and heroes of the dead past will receive only minor attention. This means much for our county.

The Basket Sociable at Angus on the evening of the 25th was well attended, $42 being taken in which will be used for school purposes. The baskets were very pretty and brought good prices. The fish pond was soon emptied. All seemed to have a good time.

Mrs. Peebles brought a fine cake which was raffled for $2.25. Mr. Schafer, the gentleman who bought it, generously donated it to be sold by votes for the most popular young lady. Miss Mae Gilmore received the cake, which brought $21.45 besides the first prize.

The Busy Bees hope to give entertainments from time to time.

This district is bonded for $1000. The school house—24x40—is almost finished and paid for, but not enough money left to buy all the seats.

We have a first class teacher, Miss Helen Lynn Whinn, M. Ed., and look forward to better education for the young folks of our community.

There are not many cattle on the range this winter. Some horses, which will eke out a precarious existence.

It looks as if there was to be a big slump in the price of cattle the coming year.

The beef combine, the Argentine, at last have found out our packers' secret of mummifying fresh beef with creosote and are now flooding the English market with fresh beef.

The empire of Texas now has more cattle than ever before.

The cut-over pine regions of Michigan and Wisconsin, which grass heavily, are now stocked with cattle.

With the improved means of transportation we now have, no industry seems to be exempt from overproduction. A. C. A.

A Timely Suggestion.

This is the time of year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's cough remedy. It is certain to be needed before the winter is over, and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. In almost every instance a severe cold may be warded off by taking this remedy freely as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. There is no danger in giving it to children, for it contains no harmful substance. It is pleasant to take—both adults and children like it. Buy it and you will get the best. It always cures. Heartily Endorsed.

A minister whose education in business matters had been sadly neglected had a small charge and salary and helped out his living by writing for the papers. One day he received a check made payable to his order. He took it to the local bank and, handing it in, was told to endorse it. He hesitated a moment and then, taking up the precious document, wrote on the back, "I heartily endorse this check."

Better Than a Plaster.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on the affected part is better than a plaster for a lame back and for pains in the side and chest. Pain Balm has no superior as a liniment for the relief of deep seated muscular and rheumatic pains. For sale by Robt. Hurt.

What's in a Name?

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co. of Chicago discovered some years ago how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for piles. For all kinds of itching and sore throats, hemorrhoids, eczema, skin eruptions, burns and all skin diseases DeWitt's salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. Robt. Hurt.
