Tucumcari to have Electric Plant.

The construction of the Tucumcari Electric Light plant begun the first of the week under the supervision M. H. Fisher and J. H. Laurie of Alamogordo. The poles, wire and machinery are all here and unloaded, and about 25 men will be put to work at once on the plant. The contract has been let for the hauling of the stone and the main building will be begun this week.

It is thought that the construction of the plant will take about one month to complete it, at which time they will begin work on the ice plant and steam laundry. The plant will be on of the best in New Mexico and the people of Tucumcari will soon have electric light system to which they can point with pride.—Tucumcari Times.

To Irrigate the Tularosa Valley.

Judge Benjamin S. Baker, associate justice of the Supreme court of New Mexico and district judge of the second judicial district, in company with Maj. W. H. H. Llewellyn of Las Cruces, made a visit to the Tularosa valley this week. The object of the visit of the two being for the purpose of looking farther into matters relating to an immense irrigation project, which they are said to have well in hand. At Tularosa it is understood that, by the erection of a dam, they can secure water with which to produce the necessary moisture for an extensive and rich area of territory. Heretofore there seems to have been some doubt as to the possibility of getting a supply of water, but there seems little question as to the success of the enterprise. Thus far it has reached the stage where incorporation of the projectors is to be accomplished. After that the work will be pushed to a finish, as now expected, without futher delay.

The Southwestern Mercantile Company are still selling at a big discount on all of their stock at this place; as they intend moving next week. If you are in need of any thing in their line, you will save money by getting their prices before buying elsewhere.

Fatal Game of Cards.

While Reverend Father Felix Mariano Lepore, pastor of the Mount Carmel Catholic Church, of Denve, and Joseph Sorice of Pittsburg Pa., were playing a game of cards, in the priest's apartment in the rear of the church, they shot each other, both will probably die. In an ante-mortem statement made to Judge Sales of the District Attorney's office, Father Lopore said that he believed the assailant had been sent to Denver for the purpose of killing him. Sorice refused to talk. Lepore was once a banker in New York, and failed for a considerable amutt. Among his creditors was G. Pasquel, a partner of Sorice, who came to Denver a short time ago and demanded money from Lepor which demand was not met.

To be at Tucumcari.

It is stated that arrangements have been made in the E. P. & N. E. system to remove the shops of the Rock Island and the E. P. & N. E. to Tucumcari, from Dalhart and Santa Sosa. This arrangements was made after a purchase of 60 miles of track from the Rock Island by the E. P. & N. E. system, extending from Santa Rosa to Tucumcari. By this change Tucumcari will have the shops and roundhouses which were at Santa Rosa in addition to all the machinery and aparatus which has been at Dalhart. The change will likely take place about Jan. 1. The big boilers and the greater part of the machinery for the electric light and ice plant and the steam laundry are already in Tucumcari and will be installed by the first of the year.

The acquasition of the roundhouse and shops of the two roads would make Tucumcari an important town in New Mexico.

Corona.

Mr. Lee is about to erect an "Eclipe" wind-mill, on his place.

Mr. Gilbert has struck another vein of water in the Crary well.

Wm. Richards has gone down Gallo canyon, after stray horses.

Foster and Brown, cow men of the lower Gallo were in town the first of the week.

Colbough has returned from the Pecos River and is now fencing his ranch.

D. C. Ker is about to sell his well and ranch to a man from Texas.

H. K. Roundtree's family moved this week into their renovated cottage.

Some men never know they have any nerve until they have a tooth pulled.

Jack Frost has finished his ice plant and is now turning out the pure article in quantities to supply all demand.

Capitan being 1,000 feet higher than Corona will have that much the start of us when the final trumphet shall sound, but we'll "get there just the same".

Messrs. Elton Durham, Jack Adkins and Homer Fletcher, from Texas, have lately arrived to look the grounds over for the location of a colony and are stopping with Uncle Jay.

D. C. Ker is busy working overtime to pump water for the six flocks of sheep, four herds of cattle, three bunches of horses, besides supplying water for three drilling outfits and the Corona households.

Hondo Happenings.

Miss Mary Holcomb of Picacho was visiting in Hondo, Sunday.

Mrs. W. A. (Oscar) Hyde, has been on the sick list a few days, but is better now.

Walter Weems, of Missouri, a health-seeker was in our midst this week.

"Uncle Ben" Kawata, has been busy this week fitting up house for Hondo school.

J. S. Lenox passed through, Saturday enroute to Roswell, after a few days outing in the mountains.

Even the medicine men get mixed some time, the Cartiladge Co., an institution that proposes to make men taller, sent Walker Hyde one of their circulars, He gave them the "hoss laugh."

Supt. E. J. Coe, passed through Wednesday, on his way to Picacho, stopping at the Hondo school a few minutes on his way.

Chase & Sanborn's coffees are the best. For sale by Welch & Titsworth.

Jicarilla.

R. J. Murphy has struck fine ore in his Albatros mine.

A. H. Norton is doing assessment work for J. D. Brotherton who is busy at the oil well.

A. N. Price's strike holds out well. He has quite a lot of ore that runs $30 per top.

George Sligh is still drilling for water, in West Gulch, and is now down 300 feet.

The American Placer Co. has shut down to make some repair which will take some time to fit up.

Wm. Conner is doing the work on the Tip Top mine for the Comrey Brothers and have some fine ore.

A. H. Norton has moved his family out from the "Oaks" for the winter, while he prospects his claim in White Oaks gulch.

The placer machine of the Free Gold Milling Company is doing good work and making the owners money, they have demonstrated the fact that there are lots of gold in the gulches, they made a clean up of one days run of $90, their expenses were $21, this leaves a good margin. The average for the week has been $80 per day.

Angus Notes.

Mrs. P. G. Peters is on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Griffith, of Capitan, are visiting on the Bonito this week.

Mr. Peters and Mr. Rogers returned from Roswell this week.

Mrs. Marshall West is visiting friends at Angus this week.

A birthday dinner was given at Angus hotel, last Sunday in honor of George Hager.

Master Wm. Peters entertained a number of his little friends at a birthday dinner last Sunday.

A class in guitar music was organized at Angus this week with Miss Grace Austin as instructor.

Prof. Harper dismissed school Wednesday for a vacation till next Monday.

There were a basket social at the Angus school house last Wednesday evening.

Angus will have a Christmas tree. Do your part to make it the best.

Best Kind of Proof.

"Here!" exclaimed the irate customer to the trunk dealer, "I thought you said that chest I bought of you was mothproof?"

"Well," said the dealer, "wasn't it?"

"No! When I opened it my things were full of moths!"

"Great Scott, man! What better proof of 'em do you want?"

And Not Over Here.

"I think you must be mistaken, sir," the old man chipped in.

"What about?" demanded his neighbor in the crowd.

"Didn't I just hear you remark you were glad the war in Bulgaria was over?"

"Not exactly. I said I was glad it was over in Bulgaria."

An Exception.

Mrs. Casey—Yis, an' I think it's a good husband he'll make her, too. Ye can always tell what's in a man from the look av his eye.

Mrs. Kelly—Maybe, Kilen, maybe. But many's the time I've seen the tears rise in Denny's when it wasn't salt water he'd been drinkin'.

In Society.

Tess—Miss Nuritch talks so much about her mother's social position before she was married.

Jess—Well?

Tess—Did she really have any position in society?

Jess—Oh, lots of them. She never accepted a place as cook except in very swell families.

Nerve.

Lazy Larry—Say, lady, I'm that hungry I don't know what ter do. I ain't had nothin'——

Mrs. Housekeep (at her front door)—Walk around to the kitchen, poor man, and you shall be fed.

Lazy Larry—Aw, that's a purty long walk, lady; couldn't yer hand it out here just as well?

Their Teachers.

Miss Nancy—I wonder why it is that sailors are such terrible swearers?

Cousin Tom—Why, don't you know? They learn profanity of the parrots. I thought everybody knew that.

Miss Nancy—Why, of course! How dense it had not occurred to me!

How He Got Out.

"No," said Woodby, "I don't see Wilkinson at all any more. He has dropped out of our social set."

"He tells a different story," remarked Stonehaven.

"Indeed!"

"Yes; he claims he has climbed out."—Catholic Standard.

The Liberal.

"Does your husband take your advice?" said the inquisitive relative.

"Yes, indeed," answered young Mrs. Torkins. "I told him months ago that he ought to give up playing the organ, and he informs me that he has taken up other music."

CODES USED BY RULERS.

European Monarchs Spend Much Money on Messages.

No European ruler uses the telegraph so much as the Emperor of Russia. He uses a secret code both for his private and his official messages, and he spends $20,000 a year in this kind of correspondence. Emperor William spends $15,000 a year in the same way, and he uses a code which he has invented himself and which he finds very useful whenever he desires to communicate with the Cabinet Ministers or other prominent officials.

The telegraph is not used to any extent either by the King of Italy, the Emperor of Austria or the King of Greece, but, on the other hand, King Edward and Queen Alexandra of England use it constantly. King Edward signs his private despatches "Albert Edward" or "Bertie," and the Queen, who always signs hers "Alexandra," writes quite as many in German as in English. During 1902 the amount expended by the royal couple in this manner was between $11,000 and $12,000.—New York Times.

Beachy Head Falls Away.

Beachy Head, with its seven white cliffs of varying height, called the Seven Sisters, says the London Times, is a prominent and well-known headland on the south coast, the highest point being 556 feet above the level of high water. Unfortunately, the cliff in front of the lighthouse of late years has shown signs of insecurity, which in 1813 culminated in a heavy fall, amounting, it is estimated, to no less than 26,000 tons of chalk. Again in 1896 another dislodgement occurred of an estimated quantity of 20,000 tons. By these serious downfalls the distance between the lighthouse tower and the cliff edge was reduced from 100 to 70 feet, and there are not wanting signs that further disintegration of the cliff may sooner or later take place. Thus has arisen the necessity for a new lighthouse, on a more stable and enduring site.

Easily Recognized.

Mr. Bibb—Have you been enjoying the race, Miss Dale.

Miss Dale—Oh, yes, immensely. I have not seen the Shamrock yet, but I have been watching the Reliance very closely. I can tell her by her big red mainsheet.

BROTHER TO "CARDIFF GIANT."

Fake Petrified Man That Has Lain Long Unclaimed.

Attention is being directed to the alleged remains of a petrified giant which have been lying in the charge of the London and Northwestern railway company for a number of years. The specimen is 12 feet high, and is was said to have been dug out of the Giant's Causeway, after lying there for centuries. Two showmen quarreled over its ownership, and left it with the railway company. The latter applied to the courts for leave to sell on account of their charges, but they were dismissed from the case. So the giant was thrown into Chancery. He weighs two tons 15 cwt. He feels like soft grey stone. If he were what he purports to be—the fossilised remains of a once living man—he would be one of the marvels of the world, infinitely more wonderful than the bismuth man in the British museum. "He was carved out of rock at Carrickfergus," says one of the few men living who know the history of the giant; and there seems to be little doubt that he was a very clever fake.—London Telegraph.

"The Petrified Giant."

Long True to Her Lover.

A New Jersey spinster, aged ninety-four, has kept green in her heart the memory of a lover who died seventy years ago, admitting no rival there and attributing her longevity primarily to her fidelity, and after that to her all-around aversion to doctors, never having had one called in since her debut. If not a mother in Israel, she must rank as one of the most respected old maids thereof, and has a record for pride to point its slow and moving finger at for a long time to come.

Air Not for Navigation.

A Chinese proverb states positively that "the Creator never meant the air to be navigated."

THOSE HELPFUL BROADWAYS

They were on their way home at 2 a. m. As they turned into their own quiet cross town street after leaving the cars Mrs. Broadway sighed wearily.

"Dear me," she said, "how glad I am to get near home once more, but how very lonely it seems around here. I don't believe there is a soul abroad except ourselves."

Broadway looked sharply up and down the street. "Yes, there is," he said. "There is a woman ringing the doorbell at the house across the street. She seems to be having trouble to get in."

The apparently forlorn condition of the past-midnight prowler touched a sympathetic chord in Mrs. Broadway's bosom. She had been locked out herself on several occasions, and knew how it went.

"The poor thing," she sighed. "Let's go over and ask her if we can be of any assistance to her."

The woman on the doorstep gave the bell another push as she saw them approach, then turned and faced them.

"I'm in a terrible fix," she said, helplessly. "I have no key and the bell seems to be broken, and I can't make anybody hear, and I don't know how in the world I am ever going to get in."

Mr. Broadway reached over the stone balustrade to the front window. "I think," he said, "there may be a way. I think I may be able to boost you in through the front window. I am sure I can if that window is not latched."

He pressed upward on the sash and the window rose slowly and with a slightly creaking sound. "It is all right," he said, and pushed still harder. "Now," he said, when the aperture had assumed proportions commensurate with the anatomical structure of the woman, "if you can bridge the chasm you will be all right."

"Oh, I can do that easy enough," said the woman. "I can crawl in, I am sure."

"Very well," said Broadway, "here goes."

It required considerable reaching and scrambling on the part of the woman and much lifting and balancing on the part of Mr. Broadway, but the passage through the window was finally effected and the woman landed on a soft rug inside.

"I'm safe," she whispered, "Thanks, ever so much." Then she closed the window.

The Broadways hurriedly descended the steps. "What number is this?" she asked when she reached the street. "Did you notice?"

"One hundred and eighteen," he said.

Mrs. Broadway was the first to see the sequel to their samaritanism in the evening paper.

"No. 118—118," she said, wonderingly. "Why, that is where we helped the woman in through the window last night, wasn't it, Jasper?"

"Yes," said Broadway. "What about it?"

"She—she lied," panted Mrs. Broadway. "She made that up about living in the house. Nobody lives there—that is, nobody was home last night. Everybody is away in the country. When the servant in charge happened to be away last night and that woman knew it. She—she was a thief. She must have had accomplices. A little woman like her could never have got away with all the stuff the papers say she took. It all comes of your lifting her in through the window. The idea of a man of your age lifting a strange woman, anyway! I didn't approve of it at the time, but I didn't like to say anything; you are always so apt to accuse me of being jealous every time I open my head about such things. But she certainly was smooth."

Broadway read the account of the robbery gravely. "We'll be in luck," he said, "if the authorities do not light on us as her accomplices."

The Cedars of Lebanon.

"There are only about four hundred of the Cedars of Lebanon left," says Lewis Gaston Leary in Scribner's. "High up on the rocky slopes, Hadrian sculptured his imperial anathema against all who should cut these sacred trees. The Maronite peasants almost worship them, and call them the 'Cedars of the Lord'; and a recent governor of the Lebanon has surrounded them by a great wall so that the young shoots may not be injured by roving animals. Yet century by century, their number grows less.

"But if the cedars are few in number, those few are of royal blood. They are not the largest of trees, though some of the trunks measure over forty feet around. Their beauty lies in the wide-spreading limbs, which often cover a circle two or three hundred feet in circumference. Some are tall and symmetrical, with horizontal horizontal branches; others are gnarled and knotted, with inviting seats in the great forks, and charming bits on the thick foliage of the swinging boughs.

"The wood has a sweet odor, is very hard, and seldom decays. The vitality of the cedar is remarkable. A dead tree is never seen, except where lightning or the ax has been at work. Often a great bough of one tree has grown into a neighbor, and the two are so bound together that it is impossible to say which is the parent trunk. Perhaps the unusual strength and vitality of the cedars are due to their slow growth. When a little sprout, hardly waist high, is said to be ten or fifteen or twenty years old, one cannot help asking, 'What must be the age of the great patriarchs of the grove?' It is hard to tell exactly. By the aid of a microscope I have counted more than seven hundred rings on a bough only thirty inches in diameter. Those who have studied the matter more deeply think that some of these trees must be more than a thousand years old. Indeed there is nothing wildly improbable in the thought that perhaps the Question, for instance, may have been a young tree when Hiram began cutting for the temple at Jerusalem."

Thanksgiving in Capitan.

The Thanksgiving festivities in Capitan passed off very entertainingly as usual. The exercises at the schoolhouse were well attended, and the bountiful dinner provided by the patrons of the school left nothing wanting—socially or mentally. The K. of P. ball in the evening, however, was the principal feature, and attracted large numbers from outside points, who knew the K. P.'s reputation for furnishing a superior entertainment. The music was the best obtainable, the company the best-behaved [illegible] ever assembled under similar conditions, and the dancing was simply perfection, and was carried on without cessation until the dawn of a new day.

The turkey shoot and galloping race at the Shields attracted the sharp shooters.

A nice line of ladies and children underware at Mrs. G. A. Montgomery.

George Killen from the Bonito is in town this week, doing some carpinter work for the News.

C. I. Bradley, the ranchman and hog raiser from Picacho was in the city the first of week.

Messrs. Charles Spence and L. H. Rudisille, of White Oaks were in Capitan, on business, Tuesday.

Albert and Mrs. Pflugsten from the Nogal Mesa, was visiting in Capitan this week; guests of Ye editor.

H. C. Crary, one of White Oaks most prominent citizen, passed through Capitan, Monday, enroute to Angus.

Postmaster Ritter, went to Socorro, Saturday, where he was called to appear as a witness before the U. S. grand jury.

Miss Ida Richard of Portales, passed through Thursday on her way to Pates, where she will teach school this winter.

Prof. Dudley, Al. Woods, Emmet Barton, Sig. Hall, Bob Ransome were among the visitors we noticed from Nogal this week.

I. N. Bailey, Coalora, the top blacksmith and machinest of the New Mexico Fuel Company, gave the News a call this week.

"Jack" Maxwell, an old timer of Lincoln county, though of late years have lived in Tularosa, was in Capitan several days this week.

W. C. English returned Saturday, from Jackson, Mo., where he has been on a two months visit with his relatives and friends at that place.

W. M. Reily cooped his flock of turkeys this week, although, he has honest neighbors there are danger of their going astray on Thanksgiving.

W. E. Peters of Hondo, was here Monday, on his way to Angus. Mr. Peters is heavily interested in mines, in the Jarilla district. He is owner of two of the best mines known in the camp.

A young man from Coalora was arrested last week for carrying a concealed gun and fined $50 and costs.

Jap Clark was found guilty last week at the district court held at Roswell, and sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

M. J. Walsh, the gardener and truck farmer, of Hondo, called Wednesday and presented the News with a fine large bundle of Celery. Ye editor, too, enjoyed his dinner of cranberries, celery, and (hen) turkey.

Charley Kerby, Alamogordo, was up for Thanksgiving. Chas. needs no introduction to the young people of Capitan as, he once lived here for a number of years and stood high in the social circle of the 400.

Attorney Wharton returned home Tuesday, via Capitan, after a two weeks stay at Silver City and Alamogordo. The Judge is preparing to move to Alamogordo, where he will open his law office, and, where he already has a good practice.

A wreck on the main line Friday evening between Alamogordo and Three Rivers, in which eighteen cars were ditched, held two southbound passenger trains at Carrizozo for thirty-six hours. The 150 passengers made things interesting for the inhabitants during their stay.

J. R. Shanklin, of Lordsburg, a son of Mrs. Abe May, and well known in this part of Lincoln county, arrived here Thursday. He purchased the Heights saloon from Guy Herbert & Co., and we predict for him a large share of the public patronage.

On Thursday evening a brakeman on the train from Carrizozo, known as "Shorty," while making a coupling, slipped and broke his right leg below the knee. Dr. Fuller attended to the man's injuries, after which he was placed on the train and taken to the hospital at Alamogordo.

ADMIRAL SCHLEY ENDORSES PE-RU-NA.

Pe-ru-na Drug Co., Columbus, Ohio:

Gentlemen:—"I can cheerfully say that Mrs. Schley has taken Pe-ru-na and I believe with good effect."—W. S. SCHLEY, Washington, D. C.

ADMIRAL SCHLEY, one of the foremost, notable heroes of the Nineteenth Century. A name that starts terror in the heart of every Spaniard. A man of steady nerve, clear head, undaunted courage and prompt decision.

Approached by a friend recently, his opinion was asked as to the efficacy of Peruna, the national catarrh remedy. Without the slightest hesitation he gave this remedy his endorsement. It appeared on later conversation that Peruna has been used in his family, where it is a favorite remedy.

Such endorsements serve to indicate the wonderful hold that Peruna has upon the minds of the American people. It is out of the question that so great and famous a man as Admiral Schley could have any other reason for giving his endorsement to Peruna than his positive conviction that the remedy is all that he says it is.

The fact is Peruna has overcome all opposition and has won its way to the hearts of the people. The natural timidity which so many people have felt about giving endorsements to any remedy is giving way. Gratitude and a desire to help others has inspired thousands of people to give public testimonials for Peruna who heretofore would not have consented to such publicity.

Never before in the annals of medicine has it happened that so many men of national and international reputation have been willing to give unqualified and public endorsements to a proprietary remedy. No amount of advertising could have accomplished such a result. Peruna has won on its own merits. Peruna cures catarrh of whatever phase or location in the human body. This is why it receives so many notable and unique endorsements.

Address The Peruna Drug M'f'g Co., Columbus, Ohio, for free literature on catarrh.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Believe in Signs.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune at Crisfield, Maryland, writes: Strange customs and beliefs, which are relics of barbarism, linger among the people, white and colored, along the eastern shores of this state, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina. Only one night last week an old negro named Finney was called to his door and riddled with buckshot by men who believed that he was a sorcerer, and had cast a "spell" on a negress named Mary Holley, which had caused her death. Finney was well known as a conjuror and worker of strange things, and there were hundreds, both white and colored, who visited him when they were sick or in trouble, or had lost valuables and wished to find them.

While all the people of this region are full of superstition, some of the people of New Hampshire wear a stocking in the toe of which a potato has been tied, to ward off sore throat; Maine people assert that a nutmeg, pierced and hung on a string around the neck, will prevent sore throat; a double cedar knot is carried in the pocket to prevent rheumatism by Michigan residents; stems from the golden rod are used for the same purpose in Massachusetts; horse chestnuts bring good luck in New Jersey; Irish potatoes with holes bored through are a cure for rheumatism in New York; turning a shoe upside down under a bed will prevent cramps is the belief of the people of Pennsylvania.

ORIGIN.

Of a Famous Human Food.

The story of great discoveries or inventions is always of interest.

An active brain worker who found himself hampered by lack of bodily strength and vigor and could not carry out the plans and enterprises he knew how to conduct was led to study various foods and their effects upon the human system. In other words before he could carry out his plans he had to find a food that would carry him along and renew his physical and mental strength.

He knew that a food that was a brain and nerve builder, (rather than a mere fat maker), was universally needed. He knew that meat with the average man does not accomplish the desired results. He knew that the soft gray substance in brain and nerve centers is made from Albumen and Phosphate of Potash obtained from food. Then he started to solve the problem.

Careful and extensive experiments evolved Grape-Nuts, the now famous food. Grape-Nuts contain the brain and nerve building food elements in condition for easy digestion. The result of eating Grape-Nuts daily is easily seen in a marked steadiness and activity of the brain and nervous system, making it a pleasure for one to carry on the daily duties without fatigue or exhaustion. The food is in no sense a stimulant but is simply food which renews and replaces the daily waste of brain and nerves.

No flavor is charming and being fully and thoroughly cooked at the factory it is served instantly with cream.

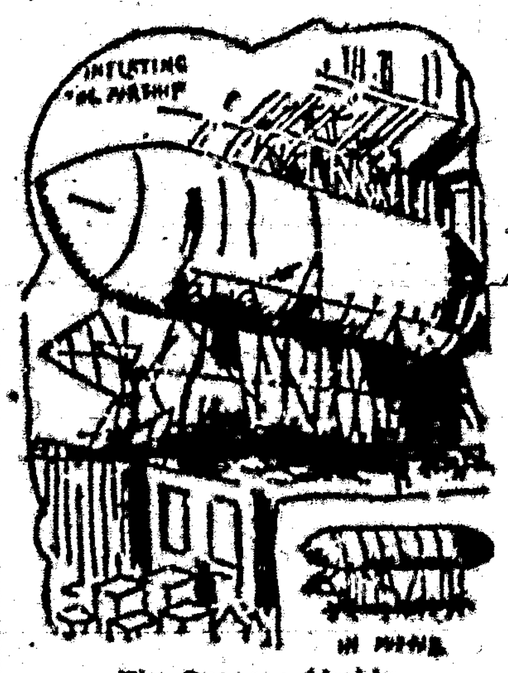
The signature of the brain worker system of, C. W. Post, is to be seen on each genuine package of Grape-Nuts.

Look in each package for a copy of the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

THINK WELL OF AIRSHIP.

Stanley Spencer's Machine May Be the Long Looked For.

There has been a great deal of interest attaching to Mr. Stanley Spencer's preparations at the Crystal Palace for his airship trip around St. Paul's, says a London (Eng.) dispatch. The "ship" is the largest of its kind constructed in this country, and much more powerful than that used by M. Santo-Dumont in his flight round the



The Spencer Airship.

Eiffel Tower. The gas vessel is 96 feet long, and the twenty-four horsepower motor can develop a speed of twenty-five miles an hour. The weight of the whole apparatus is about 18 cwt., and requires 30,000 feet of hydrogen gas to lift it. It has been inflated with gas several times, and found to work well.

Mosquito a Back Number.

The idea so largely prevalent that the New Jersey mosquito is the greatest pest that afflicts humanity evidently is erroneous. Witness this description of the "Midge," from an English periodical: "We describe this fearfully venomous insect with fear and trembling, for should a true and particular account of the virulent little beast get to the ears of say half a dozen of them, and they discover who was their historian, we might meet with an excruciating death. In size the "Midge" is nothing formidable, and looks, when not under the lens, like a tiny bit of black thread about one thirtieth of an inch long; and yet the diminutive speck, which will crumble to nothing under the slightest pressure of the finger, can raise a mound of inflamed flesh the size of a baseball, lasting for a period of one week to three months, or longer, leaving the slenderest ankle with no more elegance in it than there is in a German sausage. Talk about the mosquito! Talk about the viper! Why, the "Midge" could insert its venom as easily through the steel-clad leg piece of an ancient knight as it could through the open-work stocking of one of England's fair daughters! Indeed, if a viper possessed but half the amount of poison in proportion to its size as the "Midge," it would be sudden death to approach within a mile of it.

Magnified

JOKERS OF WEST POINT.

Queer Ammunition With Which the Reveille Gun was Charged.

At West Point, among so many young men full of health and animal spirits, it is inevitable that there should be plenty of jokes afoot, even to the extent of pranks constituting breach of discipline. A favorite form of mischief consists in tampering with the gun. Once at least, according to H. Irving Hancock, the reveille gun was loaded with a peculiar kind of ammunition.

When the sentry comes in from guard duty at night he finds coffee and sandwiches in the tent which serves as cadet guardhouse. As it is not easy to gauge his appetite there is generally a liberal supply of the sandwiches.

An officer and a member of the board of visitors were walking one morning before reveille. The officer was dilating upon the wonderful air at West Point. Suddenly the reveille gun was fired and both gentlemen began to sniff.

"Marvelous air," said the visitor. "I should call it peculiar."

"It does seem strange," admitted the officer.

"It smells like—like fried ham!"

"Precisely. But who is cooking it?"

It was too early for breakfast in any of the houses at the officers' quarters, and besides the odor seemed to come from the plain.

"This must be looked into!" muttered the officer. "Suppose we take a walk over the plain."

A fragment of scorched ham was found in the grass, then a piece of badly made toast, then more ham and more toast.

A trail of fried ham and toast extended for an eighth of a mile. Some cadet had loaded the gun with sandwiches, rammed them down under newspaper wadding and awaited the event. No one ever discovered who that frolicsome cadet was.

Irritation and Pain.

A sharp definition must be drawn between irritation and pain. Irritation is not pain, but only a frequent cause of it. Thus, a crumb lodged in the larynx near the vocal cords produced violent irritation and prolonged coughing, which often results in actual pain. So, too, a fly or a speck of dust in the eye sets up violent irritation and inflammation, followed by acute pain.

Of the surface of the body, the finger tips and the end of the tongue are most sensitive; for instance, a burn on the finger is much more painful than one on the back would be, while one on the tongue would be more painful still.

Deep wounds are not painful, as a rule, save as regards the surface injury. Of pains not caused by external injuries, neuralgia of the fifth nerve, the one which supplies the skin of the head and face, is the most intense. It has frequently driven people mad for the time being, and sufferers have been known to cut and even burn the flesh in desperate attempts to relieve it.

The rupture of the branches of the dental nerve in tooth-drawing also causes agony so intense that it has been stated that no human being could endure it for more than two seconds at a time.

Disappointing.

"I went with my wife to visit her relations this summer, and it was the first time most of them had seen me."

"What was the verdict?"

"They were too polite to tell me. All except Uncle Jethro. Jethro looked me up and down when he heard I was the feller who had married Libby Ann. Then he slowly turned away.

"Didn't he say something?"

"Yes. He summed me all up in one word."

"And that was?"

"Shucks!"

Miss progress—or the girl gets left.

ALL TIRED OUT.

The weary, worn out, all-tired feelings come to everybody who taxes the kidneys. When the kidneys are overworked they fail to perform the duties nature has provided for them to do. When the kidneys fail dangerous diseases quickly follow, urinary disorders, diabetes, dropsy, rheumatism, Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney and bladder ills. Read the following case:

Veteran Joshua Heller, of 706 South Walnut street, Urbana, Ill., says: "In the fall of 1899 after getting Doan's Kidney Pills at Cunningham Bros.' drug store in Champaign and taking a course of treatment I told the readers of the paper that they had relieved me of kidney trouble, disposed of a lame back with pain across my loins and beneath the shoulder blades. During the interval which had elapsed I have had occasion to resort to Doan's Kidney Pills when I noticed warnings of attack. On each and every occasion the results obtained were just as satisfactory as when the pills were first brought to my notice. I just as emphatically endorse the preparation to-day as I did over two years ago."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Heller will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Medical advice free; strictly confidential. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per box.
