Mexico's Wonderful Coal Resources.

Heridan, coal mining infor New Mexico, in his report, says the demand
in the territory exceeds supply, notwithstanding a stitution of oil for coal on miles of railroad. Great have been made in the ry's coal industry, he says,
report concludes: "Given ortation facilities and a ent number of miners, the Mexico mines are today
ed, to quadruple the output due 5,000,000 tons per an-which can be easily increased or 20 millions or ten times much with a further increase velopment and equipment."

Mountain of Iron Ore.

A. Kapus, a mining expert, scouting the Colorado Fuel iron company, came in from yesterday morning.
Kapus has been exploiting country north and west of
for several weeks in search ore. He was shown many sits of iron, but the bodies
not large enough to interest
James Hurt, of this place, ted him to the foot of the tan mountain on Thursday
ing, where a large body of ctic iron has been uncovered, n which Mr. Hurt is largely ested. It is probable they visit every prospect of interefore returning, as the ex-chief object is to find the t of the iron deposits in this er of the county. Mr. Hurt point out not only a deposit,
a mountain of magnetic iron
that cannot fail to interest
C. F. T. man.

Railway Projected for New Mexico.

Plans of incorporation of the New Mexico and Western
y company were approved
ttorney General Hall at Aus-Texas, on Nov. 26. The busi-headquarters are to be in the ad Dallas. The road pro-in from Dallas, thence in a arty direction to Roswell, a ace of 300 miles. The road
each all important points
bet Dallas and Roswell.

The Booming Town of Estancia on the Santa Fe Central.

A. G. Burlingame, who returned last week from a tour of the north and middle counties of the Territory, reports towns and settlements springing up mushroom like in many places, and particularly along the route of the Santa Fe Central to Torrence on the E. P. & N. E. The latter town has considerable to recommend it,
not the least of which is its oil prospects. But the new town of Estancia, Mr. Burlingame thinks, will be the chief town. It is the only point on the line where good water in abundance can be got at from ten to thirty feet. It is enjoying a boom at present. It is a settled fact that the railroad machine shops will be located there. The firm of Dunlavy Brothers have received a saw-mill plant which will be operated in the Manzana mountains west of town; a newspaperman from Trinidad, Colo., has erected a printing office, and is daily expecting his type and presses.
Plenty of good water is available at a shallow depth. A number of settlers have squatted on the lands adjacent, waiting until they shall be opened to the public, the tract having been held for some time by the Estancia land grant.
Among the former Lincoln county residents now at Estancia are the Wolverton brothers, Ed. Gilmore, Monk, the blacksmith, and his son.

Negat Characters.

We hear of nothing doing for Christmas. Guess everybody is going to see their kinfolks.

E. H. Homan has gone to Santa Kona, where he has an interest in the proposed irrigation canal.

Con. Whited has been appointed postmaster. The new mail service is proving very convenient to our citizens.

The Bonito Mining company is doing development work in the Oscuras under the direction of W. S. Bourne.

Quite a crowd was before Ye Honor Underwood this week. We have a justice that attends to duty promptly.

Clark Hust comes to town just often enough to say "Howdy" to the boys. He says his last assay will make more gravy for the boy.

Miss Lucy Henley is back from an extended visit in the Jicarilla,
and we notice that Johnie is more popular this week with the young men.

A fire in the livery yard caused considerable excitement on last week. The fire department responded promptly, and with a broom and rake succeeded in extinguishing the flames.

Jicarilla.

E. H. Talbot is pegging away
on his claims some of them look good.

Mr. Carr, of the Free Gold Co., is working away with his new machine, which is a success.

Joe Spence of White Oaks is doing some work for W. S. Peters on the Eureka.

School closes here on the last month. The directors are going to have the schoolhouse plastered
before next term.

provement on his house for the winter. He is still working his claim west of Ancho gulch.

American Placer company, has completed a new boiler house and expects to start up in a short time now.

contemplating building a concentrator for the treatment of the dumps. He proposes to drill for water. Wm. Purdy is doing some assessment work for him,
and it looks very much like business.

The Southwestern Mercantile Company are still selling at a big discount on all of their stock at this place; as they intend move-ing next week. If you are in need of any thing in their line,
you will save money by getting their prices before buying elsewhere.

caused a little excitement this week by bringing in from his placer mine a quart bottle of what looked like copper and gold.

John M. Penfield has come back from a hunting trip to the Capitan mountain. A burro, heavily laden with wild turkey
and a bear, showed the result of his expedition.

goat skins, etc. Highest market price paid by Welch & Titsworth.

Christmas Presents.

If you want to make your lady friend, wife, mother or sister a nice Christmas present call on the Southwestern Mercantile Co.,

can drawn work, shawls, carved leather goods, etc. They have a beautiful line of these goods.

Those Sympathetic "Tickers"

My cousin and I live in a little cottage just large enough for two people and a maid, with an extra room for an occasional visitor. The cottage is situated in one of the numerous suburbs of New York.

Among other things in which we economized were clocks. No handsome timepiece adorned our mantels. I had a gilt clock, about as large around as the watch which our great-grandfather used to carry. It cost me 75 cents. My cousin had one of the same make, as large as a tea saucer, perhaps.

If we had owned watches, what I am going to tell might never have occurred. Preoccupied as we were with our business, and our own petty concerns, neither of us observed the conduct of the clocks when they were together, although if we had looked with all our eyes, we probably should not have seen anything unusual. Just a big clock and a little clock ticking away on the shelf.

How could we guess that they were talking to each other and laying foundations for an intimate friendship?

After a time my cousin went away on a vacation. I and my little clock sat down alone to breakfast and were alone upstairs at night. No friendly voice or ticking sounded from the next room; it was quiet as the grave.

On the fourth evening of my solitude I found on retiring that my clock had stopped. I laid it over first on one side, then on the other, for I remembered once having made a clock go by turning it on its side. All to no purpose!

I had to go up stairs and arrange with Nora to call me in the morning. At the breakfast table I repeated the shaking operation at intervals of two or three minutes. It was of no avail. There would be one or two languid ticks, and that was all.

The next night my cousin returned. When I told her my clock had failed she remarked wisely:

"It needs cleaning, of course. It can't be worn out already."

"It is only a short time since it was cleaned," I said. "But I'll have to take it back and find out what is the matter."

From force of habit I took the clock with me to breakfast the next morning. Realizing my mistake, I gave it a vicious little shake, as I set it in its usual place beside the big clock. Glancing up from time to time during the meal, we saw the little thing ticking away as joyously as it ever did.

"Probably I wound it too tight, and my shaking it so much has finally loosened it, so it can run again," was my surmise.

A month or so afterward the same thing happened again, and we laughed about it.

The third time I did not wait for my cousin to return, but wound up her clock which she had left behind, and took them both with me to breakfast. And the little clock, which repeated shakings had failed to set to work, started off as joyously as ever, and then a fourth time the same thing occurred; only then I did not wait until morning, but brought the big clock into my room and set the little one beside it on my bureau.

The susceptibility seems to be all on the part of the little one; the big one is apparently indifferent. The little one stands the reparation very well for a few days; then, apparently, the loneliness is too much for it and the sight of its big friend is necessary to rouse it to action.

Is there a scientific reason for this occurrence? or is it merely a coincidence? Is there a process of evolution in what we call inanimate matter and has it just arrived at that stage when the moral qualities are being developed and attachments are formed corresponding to human friendships?

My cousin and I are still asking each other those questions.

Goat Deserved to Live.

Mike Nolan was smoking comfortably in his yard in East Burlington one evening and a friend of his was leaning over the fence talking to him. As his eyes ranged over the yard he caught sight of the old billy goat.

"Mike," says he, "I see you have the goat yet."

"Oh, yes," says Mike.

"I thought you said you'd kill the goat."

"Here, and I did, but I will tell you how it was," answered Mike. "I came home the other night from my work and saw the goat in the yard. 'What do you think the goat's done now?' 'I dunno,' says I. 'He's showed up Finnegan's red shirt that his wife had hung on the line to dry, and Finnegan says he'll kill the goat if you don't do it yourself.' I says: 'I'll not have Finnegan or any other man lay hands on that goat; I'll kill the goat myself.' An' so I got down me owd gun and took the goat out into the corner of the yard and tied him to the fence and stood forinst him to shoot him. And he gave me a kind of a knowing look like, and I minded the time when he was a little goat and played wid the children, and I couldn't kill him looking like that. So I took him down to the railroad track and hitched him between the rails and went up behind the wall until the express train came along. Presently I heard the train coming and I says to myself: 'Ole man, ye're gone now. Ye was a good goat in yer day, but ye're gone now.' An' wid that I heard the whistle blowin' and the brakes a grinding and the men hollerin', and I says: 'What's that goat done now?' I ran to the track, and what do you think? That old goat had coughed up Finnegan's shirt and dragged the train!"

The Fountain of Youth.

Like pretty much everything else, this matter of having children has two sides to it. As a great many children are believed and as children are the joint product of heredity and environment, both elements present in every child, it is possible to say that there are two ways to get people understanding parental responsibility instead of too late. And, having responsibility has...

...and against destruction and health in old age. They are satisfied to the vanity for family immortality. But more than these and all other advantages is the advantage of prolonging one's life. Growing children will keep any proper man or woman young in spirit and in mind, will retard the development of that morbid, uncomplacent cynicism which carries old age both for one's self and for those about one.

A Wonderful Clock.

C. C. Mower of Orwigsburg, Pennsylvania, is regarded as a mechanical genius. Not long since he bought a grandfather's clock and set out to complicate its works. The result is that it is the wonder of the countryside. Besides showing the hour, the day of the week, and the month and striking the quarters, he has made it possible in a way for the clock to deliver a sermon. Every Sunday morning at 8:30 a little door just above the figure XII flies open and a little man pops out. He has a Bible under his arm and carries the inscription, "When I am going to appear, ye know; but when the Son of Man cometh ye know not." The figure stays out until midnight, when it retires to reappear again the following week.

Waste of Sin.

A western newspaper thus philosophizes: "Jails are built by honest men's earnings. Courts are supported from peaceful men's substance. Penitentiaries are built and supported by the toil of virtue. Crime never pays its own way. Vice has no hand to work and no head to calculate. Its whole faculty is to corrupt and to waste and good men pay the bills."

The Teacher Won.

Hinton, Ky., Nov. 2.—For over two years two of the best physicians in this part of the State have been treating Mr. E. J. Thompson, a popular local school teacher, for Diabetes. They told him that but little could be done to help him. He made up his mind to try a new remedy called Dodd's Kidney Pills, and says:

"They saved me when the doctors held out no hope. I took in all about ten boxes. I will always praise Dodd's Kidney Pills for the great good they have done for me."

Many people, and some physicians, still persist in the belief that Diabetes is an incurable disease. Our teacher, Mr. Thompson, says it is curable, for Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him after two good physicians had treated him for two years without success.

A remedy that will cure Diabetes will surely cure any case of Kidney Trouble.

HAD WINGS LIKE A BIRD.

Colorado Man's Plans to Solve Aerial Navigation.

"Every Man His Own Balloon; or, Flying Made Easy," ought to be the title of the patent papers in the case of Reuben J. Spaulding of Rosita, Col. Columns and columns of space have been devoted to the "buzzard" of Prof. Langley, which does buzz but doesn't fly, while the wonderful invention of Reuben J. Spaulding, patented in 1899, has remained unheralded and unused, although his invention was as successful as that of Prof. Langley.

Spaulding was an observer of the flight of birds. He attributed their remarkable flying abilities to wings alone. He figured that no matter how much a man might know about aeroplanes, angles of resistance and wind currents, the first essential to flight was wings.

Much studying and working by

Spaulding evolved a pair of wings, which were evidently designed to carry a man into the ethereal heights with a movement something like that of a pigeon. He drew up an application for a patent and submitted a model shown in the accompanying illustration:

Among all the thousands of models in the Patent office none is more remarkable in appearance than this flying machine of the Colorado genius.

A rough model of a man with a head disproportionately large and with eyes ghastly green is provided with a pair of wings of a brilliancy of hue that would make a parrot wild with envy. These wings are not made of a solid piece, but consist of planes stuck into a frame exactly as the wing feathers of a bird are arranged.

A bird without a tail could not steer itself, and neither could a man bird, so the inventor attached a tail of generous proportions, also made of feathers, so that it could be spread out like that of a turkey or folded neatly and modestly into a small space.

Attached to the arms of the man is a series of levers, so arranged that when he flaps his wings he rises into the air and is on his way. Once clear of the ground, he may facilitate his flight by working his legs up and down with a motion like that used in treading water, and the energy thus expended will be conveyed to the wings by an ingenious set of ropes.

Neither Mr. Ireland nor anyone else in the Patent office ever heard whether Spaulding jumped off the barn in his town, trusting to his wonderful wings.

Swimming Wings.

An Italian inventor, Amadeo D'Arceff, has just patented some "swimming wings" for poor swimmers to hang on their feet. The contrivance is intended also to aid good swimmers in gaining speed.

Top Raising in Iowa.

The soil which across cultivated in Iowa, probably 100,000,000 pounds of the investment being about $200 million. The latter figure is three times greater than the crop. One pound of it is worth 100 times the value of the soil.

How a Farmer was freed from Misery

WORTHY of a higher recommendation than I can find words to express. This is what Mr. J. H. Plangman (of Sherman, Tex.) says of Doan's Kidney Pills. He tells his experience in the following words: He says, "Sometime in September I was taken with a dull aching pain across the small of my back, directly over the kidneys. I paid small attention to this at first, thinking it would pass off. But instead of getting better it became worse and in a short time the pain centered through my left hip and down my left leg as far as the knee."

Pain across the small of the back. This is precisely what kidney trouble will do with the body. It does not always show itself at first, but appears just in this way, when some unusual movement or action brings sharp pains and exhaustive aches, telling of sick kidneys.

So Mr. Plangman's experience bore this out. Continuing, he says: "I did not know the cause of the trouble, but I am led to believe now that it was first brought about by jumping in and out of the wagon and in some way I may have strained my back."

"I was constantly growing worse," he continues, "and I became very much alarmed about my condition. I knew that something had to be done or serious results were sure to follow. I went to a specialist here in Sherman, and underwent a rigid examination."

Then he relates how the doctor told him that it was a serious case, but that he could cure him for fifty dollars.

However, necessity knows no law and Mr. Plangman paid half down and took the treatment and followed it faithfully for four weeks. Naturally, he thought that he would soon be rid of the trouble, but in spite of the doctoring he goes on to add, "I was in such misery that it was almost impossible for me to do my work."

"It was at this juncture that Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice and I procured some from the drug store of C. E. Craycroft. I used these pills according to directions and to my surprise I was considerably relieved on the second day and in a short time completely cured."

"This is the universal experience of those who have been sufferers from kidney trouble and who have been fortunate enough to test the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. There is nothing wonderful or magical about this remedy. It simply does the work by direct action on the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only and this accounts for their speedy and certain action."

Early indications of kidney trouble come from two sources, the back and the bladder. The back becomes weak and lame because the kidneys are sick, and relief from backache can only be complete when the kidneys are set right.

Pain in left knee. Irritation of the bladder shows that the kidneys are out of order. Delay in prompt attention often causes serious complication. Relieve and cure sick kidneys and ward off dangerous diabetes, dreaded dropsy and Bright's disease, by using Doan's Kidney Pills. They begin by healing the delicate membranes and reducing any inflammation of the kidneys, and thus making the action of the kidneys regular and natural.

Aching backs are cured. Itchy, back, and hip pains overcome. Swelling of the limbs, rheumatism and dropsy signs vanish. A Timely Shot Saves the Life of Will Brewer.

On Friday evening last, the 4th instant, W. H. Brewer, manager of Pfaff's saloon at Coalora, met with an accident which, but for the presence of mind of his companion, might have resulted seriously if not fatally. He was out horseback riding in company with Ira O. Wetmore, and was thrown by his horse, his left foot being caught in the stirrup. Wetmore, with rare presence of mind, quickly saw the extreme danger of his friend Brewer, and, pulling his gun, by a well-placed shot, killed the animal in his tracks, and undoubtedly saved Brewer's life.

In less than two weeks Christmas will be with us, bringing with it "peace and good will to men." Of all seasons, Christmas, with the mistletoe and holly, and all the dear old customs associated with it, is perhaps the most joyous. It is a season of feasting, and giving and getting presents. The children are already looking up long stockings, large enough to hold all the toys which Santa Claus will bring them on that occasion. We hope to share in the general happiness of the season, although our faith in the generosity of old Santa Claus has long since been shattered; therefore, in order to comply with the time-honored custom of giving and getting presents, we agree to give a fully paid-up seventeen months' subscription to the Capitan News to the first person or persons who delivers or causes to be delivered at this office, not later than 10 a.m., on December 24, a turkey, hen or gobbler, dead or alive, dressed or undressed, makes no difference, provided it is the real thing. No stuffed arrangement goes.

If you want a new dress, a new suit of clothes or an overcoat, or in fact anything in the way of wearing apparel, go to the Northwest Mercantile Company, at Coalora, N. M.

CHINAMAN HAD HIS NERVE.

Lowly Celestial Walked With England's Highest Nobles.
 Queen Victoria, with the prince consort and her family, attended in state the opening of the great exhibition of 1851. While the choir was singing the "Hallelujah chorus" a Chinaman, superbly robed, suddenly emerged from the crowd and prostrated himself before the throne. No one knew who he was. He might be the emperor of China himself come secretly to England to share in the great doings. The lord chamberlains, greatly perplexed, applied to the queen and the prince for advice and instructions. He was informed that there must be no mistake as to the stranger's rank and that it would be best to place him between the archbishop of Canterbury and the duke of Wellington. In this position of honor the Chinaman, with magnificent dignity, walked through the building, to the delight and amazement of all who watched. Next day it was discovered that he was the keeper of a Chinese junk which had just cast anchor in the Thames, and which everybody was invited to visit on payment of a shilling a head.

To the Pioneers.

To men who broke the way to life's new birth,
 'Tis not your find, through self-renouncing love
 That in your crowns, but what you sought above
 And far beyond—of so much greater worth
 It was the aim, the good-to-mother earth
 And all her children, that, we hold, did move
 Your patriotic hearts to cut the grave
 And grove the barren soil. You wrested birth
 And beauty, wealth untold for future good,
 By patient struggle and a spirit bold,
 From the unknown. You toiled in faith for gold
 That lives in tower and stone, in drought and flood;
 You carved for self a fortune, but secured
 Far more for others, by what you endeared.
 —Rev. L. C. Edtall, Bushville, Ill.

Tree Ferns Natural Arch.
 In the Antelope Valley of California grows the strangest yucca tree of all the western desert. The yucca is a tree not given to whims; it has been described by Van Dyke as having "a tall stalk, rising like a shaft from a bowl and capped at the top by nodding creamy flowers." But the strange seeming yucca is famous for its curious form. Nobody watched it grow; all that is known about it is that it has two roots, its great stalk or trunk describing a graceful arch, rotted firmly into the ground at each end. At the top of the arch a great branch, like an extended arm, shoots

FOOT OF THE MODERN GIRL.

Average Size of Shoe Sold To-Day is Number Five.

"Athletic exercise is undoubtedly adding cubits to the stature of the modern girl but," remarked an F street shoe merchant, "it is likewise increasing the length of her feet, increasing them indeed, into such wonderful proportions that the perfect mine of small jokes we used to hear about the pedal extremities of Britain's daughters is entirely exploded."

"Having paid these young ladies the compliment of imitating their training, the humorist now finds that his countrywomen's feet have developed the proportions he once found so ludicrous."

The time when to possess tiny feet was a thing to be desired, is past; the athletic girl having changed all that. The proper and beautiful thing nowadays is to be of classical dimensions. As it is shape, not size, that makes or mars the beauty of a foot, the sensible woman hails this evolution with delight, proving that the change is owing to the wholesome outdoor life of the really modern girl. And, I may add, continued the merchant, "that never has footwear been prettier than now. It's really amusing to hear the athletic girl order the size of her foot. We sell No. 5 and 6 now, when only a few years back we rarely had a call for a shoe over No. 3—that being considered a large shoe. I often picture the daughters from the Flowery Kingdoms witnessing such a sale. Their sleepy, almond eyes would stand open in positive horror could they see the heroic proportions of their Western sisters' pedal extremities, and in the shock fail to appreciate that the modern girl consults quantity as well as quality."

LIKED HIS "NIP."

Not a Whisky, but a Coffee Toper.

Give coffee half a chance and with some people it sets its grip hard and fast. "Up to a couple of years ago," says a business man of Brooklyn, N. Y., "I was as constant a coffee drinker as it was possible to be, indeed, my craving for coffee was equal to that of a drunkard for his regular 'sip' and the effect of the coffee drug upon my system was indeed deplorable."

"My skin lacked its natural color, my features were plucked and my papers were scattered to such an extent as to render me very irritable. I also suffered from palpitation of the heart."

"It was while in this condition I read an article about Postum Food Coffee and concluded to try it. It was not long before Postum had entirely destroyed my raging passion for coffee and in a short time I had entirely given up coffee for delicious Postum."

"The change that followed was so extraordinary I am unable to describe it. Suffice it to say, however, that all my troubles have disappeared. I am my original happy self again and all the while the soothing and powerful effects produced by my cup of Postum made me feel as though I have been landed at another station."

"But long ago I converted one of my friends to Postum and he is now as hale as I am." Name furnished by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The Gift of Gab

The corporation lawyer and the conspicuous financier were waiting for the board of directors to assemble. From the Broadway pavement far below the office window loomed fragments of the monologue of a toy "fakir."

The lawyer said to his friend: "That reminds me of the days in my teens, when I got a job driving the wagon of a medicine fakir in a circuit of the small towns of Ohio. The 'doctor' had a wonderful harangue, and I listened to it several times a day for three months, until it became riveted in my memory to this day. His finest effort went like this:

"In the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-four, an English nobleman and member of parliament, Sir Richard Seymour Plantagenet, was traveling in India, casting his lordly eye over the vast domains of his sovereign queen. While hunting the mighty three-tusked elephant of the Ramapootra river, in company with the Rajah of Calcutta, he was bitten by a cobra de capello, the deadliest serpent known to man, ladies and gentlemen, whose bite is fatal in the space of one-half hour by the clock."

"Sir Richard wrote his will on the leaf of the papyrus plant and said farewell to his weeping friends, when a native staggered up, torn and bleeding from the thorns of the jungle, bringing a bundle of leaves of the oribori plant, whose secret had been revealed to him by the Grand Lama of Thibet."

"He bound the leaves on the wounded ankle of Sir Richard, ladies and gents, and in one hour the nobleman was again in full pursuit of the savage, three-tusked elephant of the Ganges. The secret of the oribori plant was brought to England in this way, and eminent physicians found that its wonderful healing powers were able to kill any poison whatsoever in the blood."

"If you have coughs, colds, consumption, rheumatism, neuralgia or boils, the marvelous Ori-Bori Tonic will attack the seats of disease without mercy. It is the cheapest and most wonderful medicine known to man. A teaspoonful in a pint of boiling water and a wineglass after every meal. Ah, what is this? Here is this bright-eyed young man, who says he was so lame three weeks ago that he could not work, the sole support of his aged mother. He happened to buy one bottle of the Ori-Bori Tonic and comes to buy another bottle for his mother, who is in bed with pleurisy. He is the picture of health and it touches my heart to see such filial devotion. Thank, young man, only 50 cents, the half of one dollar. Here is your change. Remember this is your last chance to buy health and happiness for yourself and family."

"When the crowd was wrung dry," said the corporation lawyer, as two directors entered the room, "the doctor used to turn to me and soften his trumpet tones to remark: 'Well, William, we must get back to the tent and mix some syrup and water for an early start to-morrow. And we're pretty near out of coloring extract. And don't you forget to remind me to order another gross of bottles.'"—New York Times

The Man That Laughs

I love the ringing music of a cheery, hearty laugh,
 For it routs the imps of worry as the breezes scatter chaff,
 And there's not a scene of gladness known to mortals here below
 But is made a little gladder by a merry ho! ho! ho!
 For Merriment's a singer, and laughter is his song,
 And where the singer singeth the happy angels throng,
 For in all celestial anthems nothing sweeter is, I trow,
 Than the melody that lures us in a ho! ho! ho! ho!

You are feeling rather weary—'tis an oft-recorded tale—
 And you fancy trouble's demons all are camping on your trail,
 Till you meet the man of laughter with his cheery ho! ho! ho!
 And, some way, as you listen, all the haunting demons go;
 Then you vow that this old planet is a place of joy and cheer,
 And there's pleasure in reflecting that you now are living here
 And you wouldn't for a fortune lose your grip on things below—
 Ah! because you hear the music of a ringing ho! ho! ho!

Two angels walk upon the earth, walk

daily to and fro,
 The one is clad in robes of white, the other in garb of woe.
 The voice of one is laughter; the other's is a sigh,
 Joy is the one, the other Woe; for souls of men they vie;
 And the one comes running, running, summoned by the witching spell
 Of the rippling notes of laughter that the spirit's rapture tell;
 While the other straight is driven from the souls it haunts below
 By the ringing and the singing of a ho! ho! ho! ho! ho!

We all do love the music of a cheery, hearty laugh—
 To spirits bowed with trouble 'tis a heaven-given staff—
 But our burdens seem so heavy as we pass them in review
 That we often let another do the laughing we should do;
 At any rate, it's so with me, for I'm of brittle clay,
 And happy it is with you, although I do not say;
 And so, perchance, you'll join with me, this one bouquet to throw,
 To the man who brings us blessing with the ho! ho! ho! ho! ho!
 —A. J. Waterhouse in New York Times.

Australian Hemp Crop.
 When Charles Lamb used to write to his old friend, Bryan Field, a judge in Sydney, N. S. W., in the early days, he invariably asked in a postscript: "How is the hemp crop out your way?" These inquiries puzzled the judge for a long time, till one day another judge suggested that they might have some playful reference to the large amount of hanging that was going on, mostly through Bryan Field's strong belief in the proper punishment for murderers and thieves.

antipodes in those days, when it was required for huge consumption, but the industry is likely to become an important one now. The government of New Zealand has encouraged its growth of late and now it appears that during the past twelve months hemp to the value of $2,750,000 has been produced in that colony.

FEMALE WEAKNESS

1212 Congress St. PORTLAND, MAINE, Oct. 17, 1902. I consider Wine of Cardui superior to any doctor's medicine I ever used and I know whereof I speak. I suffered for two months with suppressed menstruation which caused very protracted pains which I could not stand up. My limbs would swell and I would feel as weak I could not stand up. I naturally felt discouraged for I seemed to be beyond the help of physicians, but Wine of Cardui came to my aid. I felt a change for the better within a week. After nineteen days treatment I menstruated without suffering the agonies I usually did and soon became regular and without pain. Wine of Cardui is simply wonderful and I wish that all suffering women knew of its good qualities.

Wilhelmina Brown, Treasurer, Portland Economic League

Periodical headaches tell of female weakness. Wine of Cardui cures permanently nineteen out of every twenty cases of irregular menses, bearing-down pains or any female weakness. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui today.
