Seven Points of Supremacy

1. The sole leather used in "FOOT-FITTERS" is of the best quality obtainable. Even the insoles are set from standard outside leather.
2. "FOOT-FITTERS" are the only shoes in the world having full length ramps and sole leather box-tops. This feature prevents ripping at the tip and makes a smooth, outer and inner surface.
3. The insoles are shoulder channelled so that they sit tightly against the outside. There is no room for a cork filler. A small piece of duck is used to prevent squeaking.
4. The California inside counter pocket is of great value, for it saves the wear on the socks. There is no rough surface to rub against.
5. "FOOT-FITTERS" heels are 1/4-inch longer than generally used. They give additional support to the arch and increase the comfort and wear of the shoe.
6. The vamp is reinforced with 3-oz. duck. This absorbs the moisture from the foot, thus keeps the vamp from cracking and holds the shoe in shape.
7. Edmonds' "FOOT-FITTER" shoes are called "FOOT-FITTERS" because they fit the foot snugly. Built on combination lasts they support the foot like a doctor's bandage. "FOOT-FITTERS" give Comfort, Service and Appearance.

How do you expect the Postal Clerk to know whether you mean Trinidad, California, or Trinidad, Colorado?
ALWAYS SPELL OUT THE NAME OF YOUR STATE IN FULL IN THE ADDRESS.

"MORE BUSINESS IN GOVERNMENT"

This apt phrase was used in President Harding's first message to Congress and applies particularly in postal management where postmasters are being impressed with the fact that they are managers of local branches of the biggest business in the world.

HERE COMES A STRANGER!

Let's make our post office look neat. Mr. Postmaster. Straighten up the rural letter box, Mr. Farmer. Tidy up some, Mr. Rural Carrier. First impressions are lasting. Maybe Mr. Stranger, taking notice of these improvements, will come back, bringing you benefits. Start these with "POSTAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK" May 1-8.

HUMANIZING THE POSTAL SERVICE

There is no unimportant person or part of our service. It is a total of human units and their co-operation is the key to its success. In its last analysis, postal duties are accommodations performed for our neighbors and friends and should be so regarded, rather than as a hired service performed for an absentee employer. Film Party in New Guinea Discovers People Who Are Interesting Relics of the Past.

Adventures in the wilds of New Guinea were experienced by a film party in a small motor launch, the Wattle. The expedition cruised along the coast of New Guinea, three times grounding on uncharted reefs, and exciting the hydrographic staff carefully collected the charts carried. A week or so later a storm picked up the Wattle and impaled it on a coral spur. After unwelcome labor to a shade temperature of 104 degrees the launch was refloated. In one place the visitors found that the people were still in the Neolithic age, stone axes and adzes being in general use. The camera expert was interested in the weaving of cloth by the natives. A special stone was selected and cut down with a stone adze. The bark was bent and looped, turned inside out and placed in the sun to dry. Then it was soaked in water and again dried. Finally it was cut into lengths with a sharpened flat stone like a chisel. The journey up the Ramu river, in New Guinea, was rendered difficult by the hidden logs and sometimes only four and one-half miles were covered in the day. Sixty days were spent in that river, the Wattle pushing up about 170 miles.

President Harding recently assured a delegation of far western senators that the McNary reclamation bill, involving the expenditure of $30,000,000 in reclaiming arid lands and swamp lands in southern and western states, has his full support.

Senate Republicans meeting in party conference, voted 20 to 9 in favor of the passage of a soldiers' bonus bill at this session of Congress. The finance majority was requested in a formal resolution to report such a measure "within a reasonable time," which was construed by some leaders as three or four weeks.

The United States has officially recognized the new government in Guatemala. It was officially stated at the State Department. The old government in Guatemala was overthrown last December and the new government established in February with the election of General Orellana as president.

Allied governments to which the United States government extended loans during the World War have been advised by the State Department that the American debt refunding commission is prepared to begin negotiations for conversion of the various loans, amounting to $11,000,000,000, into long-term securities.

Levying of additional taxes probably will be necessary to meet the deficit of more than $300,000,000 forecast for the fiscal year of 1923 by Secretary Mellon. It was said at the treasury. High officials of the treasury, discussing the expected deficit, said that no consideration had yet been given to meeting the lack of funds.

The recording of accredited delegates and alternates had reached above 2,000 when the thirty-first continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution convened in Continental hall, thereby assuring, general officers said, the largest meeting in the history of the society. The first session of the congress was given over largely to the formalities of the opening with the exception of the annual address of Mrs. George Maynard Minor, president general.

The Supreme Court of the United States has recently decided that no person could be imprisoned at hard labor without presentment and indictment by a grand jury, because the punishment brought the offense under the category of infamous crimes.

Looking at the public utilities of Colorado, New Mexico and Wyoming from a broad and better angle, figures just compiled show that, since 1912, the purchase of supplies and materials, these organizations annually distribute $34,000,000 in wages among more than 20,000 employees.

IRISH FACTIONS AGREE ON PACT

DECISION TO FORM BASIS FOR PEACEFUL ARRANGEMENTS.

ERIN TO SETTLE STRIFE

LEADERS INFLUENCED BY FRACTIONAL CHARACTER OF STRUGGLE.

(Western Newspaper Union News Service.)

London.—An agreement has been reached between the military leaders of the Republican and Free State forces in Ireland, says a dispatch to the Westminster Gazette from Dublin, which will constitute the basis for peaceful arrangements in connection with the future policy of both sides and profoundly influence events in southern Ireland for the better.

The correspondent claims authority for this announcement and says he understands that, in consequence of the agreement arrived at, hostilities between the rival forces are to cease, although the political issue between the two parties is not affected.

The decision, it is added, followed negotiations between the respective leaders who have been deeply influenced by the fratricidal character of the struggle, as well as by consideration of the effects upon the national situation.

Dublin.—The dissentists of the army will be represented at the sitting of the Dail Eirann. No connection between Eamon De Valera's Republican organization and Rory O'Connor's section of the army is admitted, beyond Mr. De Valera's declaration that their aims are identical and O'Connor's reciprocal pronouncement that if his section of the army supports any presentation De Valera will be the man.

Some of the organizers of the dissentists section of the army are among the most prominent members of the Dail. On either side of the controversy is there the slightest indication of any idea of acceptance. Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins will stand by the treaty, according to their assertions, until the people have had an opportunity to pronounce their desire.

The activity of the Belfast boycott committee, whose force is in Rory O'Connor's army, daily is being shown in Dublin by orders to various firms, commanding a cessation in their dealings with Belfast and the threatening of prompt punishment in the event of refusal to acquiesce.

Mary Garden Quits Opera Leadership.

Chicago.—Mary Garden has announced her retirement as director general of the Chicago Opera Company, a position which she has held for the past year. "I am an artist, and I have decided that my place is with the artists, not over them," she declared in a statement which was taken as an indication that she would remain with the organization as a singer.

Colorado Senate Passes Tunnel Bill.

Denver.—With the passage of the Moffat tunnel bill by a vote of 29 to 4, and of the Peterson flood prevention bill by 24 to 2, the State Senate brought nearer the day when northwestern Colorado will have adequate railroad transportation and southern Colorado will be protected against flood. Both bills were passed on third and final reading.

Big Coal Stock on Hand.

Chicago.—The end of the third week of the nationwide suspension of coal mining operations finds large stocks on hand, a diminishing demand and stagnant markets for all grades of coal, practically unchanged. Trade reports here show practically no demand for industrial or domestic coal, except for use in steel plants, which requires a quality produced almost exclusively in West Virginia and Kentucky fields. There is still on hand about 22,000,000 tons of the $20,000,000 above ground at the beginning of the suspension.

Famous Washington Hotel Burns.

Washington.—Vice President Coolidge, several members of the Senate and House of Representatives and many other persons present in public, business and social life, were among some 700 guests of the New Willard hotel who were routed from their beds by a fire which swept the top floor of the ten-story gray stone structure. The blaze had its origin in the ball room, where a few hours before the Gridiron Club held its annual spring dinner and frolic.

New Crisis Passed in Genoa.

Genoa.—Another crisis in the economic conference was passed when the German delegation announced after a long session and frequent communications with the Russians and Italians that the Germans would not reply to the recent note of the two powers stipulating that the signatories "expressly reserve for their government the right to declare null and void any clause in the Russia-German treaty which may be recognized as contrary to the existing treaties."

WASHINGTON SIDELIGHTS

United States Is Now the World's Banker

WASHINGTON.—An official publication of the federal reserve board discloses how completely the United States has taken the place of Great Britain as the world's banker, the leading investor in foreign enterprises. In addition to the $11,000,000,000 war loans by the United States to the allies, private American capital has advanced $4,000,000,000 to foreign borrowers since 1914. With trade credits taken into account, it is estimated that the world owes us between $15,000,000,000 and $18,000,000,000.

enterprises paying dividends of hundreds of millions of dollars, and the volume of American investment abroad is increasing daily.

The balance of trade in favor of the United States represents a continuous credit piled up in foreign countries to the order of American manufacturers, farmers and exporters. That item alone represents a loan that totals many millions at any given time.

The billions more or less permanently invested in foreign countries place the United States in an advantageous position to increase its export trade. Foreign purchases flow to the country which loans its dollars to build and operate factories, railroads and industries generally.

American dollars are now building meat packing plants in South America, cement factories in China, knitting mills and machinery to operate in Japan, municipal docks in France, street car lines in Switzerland and railroads throughout Europe.

Millions are invested each month in the United States in bonds and other securities offered for sale by foreign governments and foreign municipalities. Listed in the New York exchanges are the bonds of a dozen foreign cities and governments.

Belated Justice for "Boy Desperados"

THREE small boys, seven, eight and eleven, now serving five-year prison terms for alleged burglary of a post office in West Virginia, soon will gain their liberty and be returned to their parents through the interest and intervention of Mrs. Warren G. Harding.

Investigation of their cases by the Department of Justice, which followed Mrs. Harding's intervention, disclosed an unusual chain of circumstances which led to the imprisonment of these "youthful desperados." Officials said they never should have been sentenced. They already have served about six months in the national reform school.

The lads are Andy Bergols, seven; Frank Boska, eight, and Teddy Bowen, eleven. Their parents live at Weirton, W. Va. They were tried in the Federal court of northern West Virginia before Judge Baker and were sentenced along with seven other older boys, ranging in years up to fifteen, each to five years at penal servitude.

The chief evidence against the youngsters, it is shown now, was furnished by bloodhounds. The dogs used by the police of Weirton took up a scent at the point of the alleged robbery and tracked it through the woods to a settlement of steel workers. There police gathered up the ten boys and, on what now is said to have been purely circumstantial evidence, all were found guilty.

The attorney general's investigation showed the three youngsters, along with the seven other alleged "desperados," as they were called by the district attorney, were put through the third degree and that police officers at Weirton wrung confessions of guilt from the boys. They later denied their guilt and so pleaded, but apparently were victims of police prejudice, in a locality where the steel workers are under the lash of police authorities.

Field Service for Many Army Officers

NEARLY a dozen colonels, a score of lieutenant colonels and more than 60 majors are included in a list of 164 army officers to be relieved from duty in Washington before the end of the present fiscal year and assigned to field service issued by the War Department. The others are captains and lieutenants.

The list also carries the names of 23 officers who will be detached from their present duty in the War Department as soon after the end of the fiscal year as is possible to permit them to attend the service school classes opening in August and September. The total number of officers to be thus transferred from War Department service to the other activities of the army is 102, with six additional staff officers to complete their four-year term of service by early fall and return to duty with troops.

The reduction in officer personnel in Washington was made possible as a result of a study ordered by Secretary Weeks to determine the extent to which war activities had been closed out sufficiently to permit additional officers to be spared to stations where their services could be used to better advantage.

Every branch of the War Department was included in the reduction of officers personnel. From the general staff, 21 officers were listed for immediate transfer, 12 for transfer after June 30 and 9 for release later in the year on expiration of their four-year term of duty.

The office of the assistant secretary of war will lose 13 officers immediately, due to closing out of war claims; the air service, 9 officers; judges advocate general's office, 18 officers; quartermaster general's office, 29 officers; the chief of ordnance, 14 officers, and the adjutant general, 17.

There is no lack of sympathy as the part of this administration, it was asserted, but the fact remains that the

Sympathy Is All U. S. Can Give Armenia

SYMPATHY is all the United States can give Armenia. The United States sincerely hopes that the League of Nations will be able to do something to relieve the political, economic and financial condition of Armenia, under the terms of the new agreement which apparently has been reached among the allied nations to turn the country over to the league for administration.

High administration officials admitted that this country is watching developments in connection with the fate of Armenia with interest. It is known that Secretary of State Hughes, himself, has always had a very sympathetic attitude toward Armenia.

The administration has not lost sight of the fact that the allies offered the United States a mandate over Armenia, but the officials are bearing in mind that any enterprise by this government would undoubtedly call for the use of a considerable body of troops in the light to which the Bolsheviks were now in control.

There is no lack of sympathy as the part of this administration, it was asserted, but the fact remains that the American people undoubtedly would not stand for the necessary outlay of men and money which would be involved in any attempt to assist the Armenians in their struggle for establishment as a free and independent nation.

The nation takes no cognizance of the boundary lines drawn by an American commission at the instance of former President Woodrow Wilson. It was stated at the State Department.

So far as this administration is concerned there is no record of the so-called Morgenthau commission, named by former President Wilson for the purpose of laying out the boundaries of Armenia.

HAD HEARD ABOUT IT

"Well, well!" exclaimed the facetious stranger. "So that is Chiggersville?"

"That's right," said Lem Botta, proprietor of the village grocery store. "I guess you've heard about this place before."

"Sure! A man mentioned it on the train."

"One of our citizens?"

"No, the brakeman. He bawled: 'Chiggersville!' just before we got here."

WOMEN MAKE FINE AVIATORS

According to Writer in the London Mail, They Are Fully the Equal of the Men.

It seems to be quite clear that women do not intend to be content for a moment with remaining on the earth during the dawn of the great new era of the air.

More and more woman passengers are being booked by the continental "airways." Quite often they outnumber the men. Nor are they going to be content to play a merely passive part and simply sit in a machine that some one else is piloting. They are going to handle for themselves some of the best, swift "air cars" that are now forthcoming.

Only the other day, when a widely known air pilot decided that the time might be ripe to start a school for skilled flyers of "public life," "airplanes," he found that half a dozen of those interested in his scheme were young, vigorous and ambitious women who were keen to enter this new profession of the air.

That a well-qualified woman, mentally and physically lacks anything that would enable her to be a good airplane pilot was proved not to be the case even in days far distant before the war, when the handling of a flying machine was infinitely more arduous and risky than it is now.

As a matter of fact, with the modern machine growing more and more stable, and its handling becoming so much a question of delicacy of touch, a woman is particularly well suited to fly a properly equipped touring airplane. That a woman's nerve might fall her in some emergency has often been an argument advanced, but it was disproved very neatly only the other day. A young woman was making her first flights alone in the airplane when the motor stopped suddenly.

She was not over the aldrone at the time and the moment would have been an awkward one for even a skilled pilot. This woman, however, did precisely the right thing, and got back onto the flying ground in a clever glide, which won her the unstinted admiration of her instructor—London Mail.

Low Prices for Trash

That there could be a direct connection between the drop in the price of the mark and the drop in the janitor's interest in the trash which spring cleaning clears out of the average apartment would seem to be a far-fetched assertion. But this is the case, declares the New York Sun. Three years ago the prices brought by all classes of discarded materials were so high that the sale value was an item of importance to many janitors. Now they are mainly so much trash—worth nothing and less than nothing, since it costs the city millions to get rid of the rubbish.

Though other factors enter into the situation the unprecedentedly high price of the dollar in exchange is one reason that there is no market for materials that were formerly salvaged and sold in Europe, particularly to Germany.

Oil, glycerin and fertilizer were salvage products of the garbage reduction plant. All rubbish was sorted into classes. Rags, bottles, felt hats, rubber, hair and metals of all sorts were the chief classes, and brought good prices. Now the whole problem is to get rid of them.

His System

It is related that some years ago a man, who was a stranger to the usual throng, stepped up to the mahogany, ordered a New Orleans fix, and, reaching in his pocket, pulled forth a live toad and placed it on the bar.

"For the love of Mike!" yelled the man next to him. "Why the toad?"

"That toad plays a star part in a system that I have used for many years with great success," replied the man.

"Spring it," shouted the mob.

"Well, you see, I take my little friend toad and place him on the mahogany in front of me and order my drink. I take my drink and then I order another, and sometimes another, and perhaps then another. I look at my toad, and if there is only one toad there I stay and enjoy a few more rounds. As soon as there are two toads there instead of one, I go home. I have never yet stayed until there were three. That's my system. Well, I don't mind if I do. A little more of the same, please."—Philadelphia Record.

Quiver of the Head

He had just proposed. Secretly, she was very much flattered and intended to say "Yes" eventually. But she thought she would have a little amusement by keeping him in suspense for a few minutes.

So she said, in a sad voice, "I'm afraid I can be nothing but a sister to you."

"Well, that's all right," he said gayly. "I thought that since I have been going with you for a year now, it was only fair that I would give you an opportunity to marry me, if you cared to. But since you don't, I might as well confess that I'd rather be a brother than a husband myself."

And Cupid closed off another account to profit and loss—Gargoyle.

Suspicious Observer

"Men are now enthusiastic about electing women to office."
"I have observed the fact," replied Miss Cayenne. "Several husbands have been heard to say they would be delighted if their wives in addition to spending the summer at a hotel would spend the winter in the legislature."

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

OWLS

"Tell us a story about owls," asked Nick and Nancy of Daddy.

"A Small Little Owl"

"What shall I tell you about them?" asked Daddy. "Have you any particular ones that you'd like to hear about?"

"Of course Billy Barred Owl is an old favorite of ours," said Nick, "but I think it would be nice to hear of some of the ways of the owls. Nancy and I were saying this only today."

"Yes, Daddy, will you tell us about a few this evening?"

"Indeed I will," said Daddy, and began to tell of the different owls at once.

"Of course we know a good deal about Billy Barred Owl, who began nesting early this spring. He has a fine deep voice and is a well-known friend of ours. But there are many others we don't know so much about, it is true.

There is the Great Horned Owl who makes the hoot-hoot sounds. Sometimes this owl is known as the big hoot owl.

"Great Horned Owl's nest is made in the late winter. Nobody can get ahead of Great Horned. And what damage they can do!"

"They're ferocious and fierce and terrible hunters, it is true.

"There is the Short-Eared Owl who has its nest on the ground in a marsh. Of course the name of this owl describes the owl's looks.

"The first egg is very apt to hatch out before the last one is laid, and so the different birdlings are of many different sizes and look differently from other young birds.

"There is Screech Owl, a small little owl we know quite well.

"He whistles songs at night-time and is gray in color. He nests early in the spring, too.

"Then there is old Barn Owl, a queer looking creature with a face often called a 'monkey face'.

"They are very useful and do a fine work, hunting just after the sun goes down and early in the morning.

"Then there is the Long-Eared Owl who tries to look stiff and like the branch of a tree when any one is around the nest who might be an enemy.

"The Long-Eared Owl has long ear tufts. He likes to sit high up in evergreen trees and keep very quiet.

"There is the Great Gray Owl with the long tail and the small yellow eyes. He stays in the northern part of the United States during the winter and goes far north when the mild weather comes along.

"Mr. Richardson Owl is something like the Acadian Owl, but with grayer plumage.

"And the Acadian Owl is very, very small and has no ear tufts.

"But there!" Daddy said, "those are enough owls to be introduced to in one evening.

"Besides, I must tell you what Billy Barred Owl had happen to him today.

"He was having his usual daytime sleep when old Mr. Charlie Crow came along and woke him up. Wasn't Billy mad!"

"I should just say he was!"

"It's too bad," he said, "that considering I am about the least harmful of any of the owls I should receive such bad treatment."

"But, of course, the crows don't like the owls. There is no love lost between the two families.

"But now we have had enough of owls for tonight, for if we could sleep when they do we, too, could sit up way into the night.

We must get up in the morning, though, when the owls are sleeping and getting their rest.

"It is the way it has always been, and the old ways are usually the best."

Not Big Enough

Billy had a serious misunderstanding with his elder cousin Conrad, that he had scrupulously concealed from his mother. When he came home from school she said: "Billy, what would you like to give Cousin Conrad for his birthday tomorrow?"

"I know what I'd like to give him," said Billy eagerly. "See I'm not big enough!"—Youth's Companion.

When He Was Little Girl

Little Robert had but recently been put into his first short trousers, and felt very proud to be out of dresses. One day he was trying to remind his mother of something that had occurred some time before.

"Why, don't you remember it, mamma?" he said. "It was when I was a little girl."

WAYS WITH SUET

With a pound of nice sweet suet one may prepare several good dishes.

Among them are:
Old-Fashioned Mash.—Brown one large onion well chopped in one-half cupful of suet, then add boiling water to cover and six or eight medium-sized potatoes which have been sliced. Stew the mixture for an hour, seasoning with salt and pepper.

Potatoes With Dressing.—Try out one cupful of suet in a baking pan and place peeled potatoes in one end to bake. After a half-hour add the following dressing: Place a quart of bread crumbs in a crock and pour over this a small quantity of soup stock; if water is used add butter, then add one egg, a small onion chopped, salt and pepper to season. Bake the dressing with potatoes. When done remove the remaining fat and serve the potatoes and dressing with a green salad.

Noodles.—Place three-quarters of a cupful of ground suet in a kettle, try out and when the bits are brown remove them. Add three pints of water, salt and pepper and cook noodles in the kettle tightly covered for fifteen minutes.

Vegetable Soup.—To one cupful of suet add one large onion sliced and browned, and two quarts of soup broth prepared from beef bones, two large tomatoes or the equivalent in canned tomato, two carrots sliced, a large tablespoonful of rice, a sprig of parsley and a small turnip with a little cabbage if desired. Season well and simmer an hour. This is a delicious and nourishing soup which will take the place of a main dish.

Stuffed Onions.—Cook large, uniform sized onions until nearly done. Scoop out the center and fill with the onion chopped and mixed with chopped suet, sage, bread crumbs and pepper and salt to season. Bake, basting with a little tried out suet until a good rich brown.

Rice With Suet.—Boil a cupful of rice until tender in salted water; barley may be used in place of the rice if preferred; when cooked reserve one quart of the water with the rice and add one cupful of chopped suet. Season with onion, salt and pepper and cook one-half hour.

Every atom in the universe can act on every other atom, but only through the atom next to it. If a man would act upon every other man, he can do best by acting only at a time, upon those beside him.—Henry Drummond.

GOOD DESSERTS FOR FOUR

Often the recipe prepared will be sufficient for five to six; the following will be helpful for no frugal housewife wishes to overfeed or waste good food.

Date Pudding.—Stone and chop one-half pound of dates, put them on the back part of the stove with three cupfuls of water. When cooked down to the thickness of cornstarch pudding, set away to become cold. Serve with whipped cream and sweetened with powdered sugar.

Cracker Pudding.—Take four soda crackers rolled fine, add two cupfuls of milk, a quarter of a cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt, two eggs beaten lightly. Mix well and add a handful of raisins or two or three prunes. Bake until the custard is firm. Cover the top with the white of egg mixed with sugar—one egg white may be reserved for this. Flavor with grated lemon-rind. Brown the meringue.

Lemon Rice Pudding.—Wash and cook one-third of a cupful of rice in the following sirup: Put the grated rind and juice of a lemon with one-third of a cupful each of sugar and water in a saucepan; when boiling add the rice. Cook until soft. Put the cooked rice with three cupfuls of milk and more sugar if needed into a baking dish, adding a little salt. Bake two hours, allowing it to brown slightly at the last. Serve hot or cold.

Cornflake Macaroons.—Take one cupful each of sugar, cornflakes, ground nuts and two tablespoonfuls of flour; a little salt and flavoring of vanilla. Beat until stiff two egg whites; add the sugar gradually, then the cornflakes, nuts and flour. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven until a delicate brown.

Cream Salad Dressing.—Take one cupful each of sweet cream, sugar and vinegar, two eggs, a teaspoonful of salt and the same of cornstarch, a quarter of a teaspoonful of mustard. Mix the dry ingredients, add the well-beaten eggs, then the vinegar and lastly the cream, stirring well after each addition. Cook in a double boiler until thick, stirring constantly. This will keep indefinitely in a cool place.

PROMISING NEW TREATMENT FOR ERADICATION OF SAN JOSE SCALE

San Jose Scale With Larvae and Adult Beetles Feeding on Them—A, Adult Beetle; B, Larvae; C, Pupae; All Enlarged.

By A. L. QUAINANCE, Entomologist in Charge Fruit Insect Investigations, United States Department of Agriculture.

The San Jose scale is just now exceedingly abundant and destructive in many orchards in the Bentonville, (Ark.) section, and growers state they are unable to adequately control the pest with the usual dormant tree treatments with lime-sulphur spray. While the bureau of entomology believes that thorough spraying with dormant tree strength of lime sulphur will control the San Jose scale, yet to meet the desire of orchardists for other than lime-sulphur treatments, a number of experiments with sprays were undertaken. The purpose of the present article is to call attention to results secured in the treatment of the scale by the use of a spray containing 2 per cent of lubricating or engine oil emulsified with potash fish-oil soap.

Remarkably Effective Spray

The careful experiments in Florida by W. W. Yothers with various sprays for the control of citrus scale insects and the orange white fly, as published in Farmers' Bulletin 633, resulted in a formula of engine-oil spray which has been found remarkably effective in view of the small amount of oil used, namely, 1 per cent, emulsified with potash fish-oil soap. Mr. Yothers found that any one of several oils of the lubricating type, when thoroughly emulsified and used at the dilution indicated, was quite effective against these scale insects and the white fly, and these sprays have now come into large commercial use in Florida.

The surprising efficiency of a spray containing such a low per cent of oil suggested the desirability of testing sprays of this character against the San Jose scale. The abundance and destructiveness of the scale in the Bentonville section of Arkansas and the desire of growers for other than lime sulphur sprays, has offered excellent opportunity for testing various dilutions of engine oil sprays against this pest. The experiments were carried out by A. J. Ackerman, of the office of deciduous fruit insect investigations, and have included tests of lubricating oils of a strength of from one-half per cent to 4 per cent or 5 per cent, thoroughly emulsified with potash fish-oil soap. The results showed practically complete killing of the scale by one thorough application of the spray of a strength as low as 2 per cent of oil. Orchardists have been so pleased with the results that the 2 per cent oil spray will be extensively used in their present necessity of bringing the pest under subjection.

Injury by Oil Spray

A point yet to be established in connection with the present experiments is the possibility of injury from oil spray which may result to the trees, twigs, or fruit buds, and several seasons' experience will be necessary before a final decision on this question can be reached. In view of the experience in Florida in spraying citrus trees in foliage with 1 per cent of oil, it is felt that dormant deciduous trees will probably stand without injury one annual treatment containing 2 per cent of oil. In order to render the treatment available to orchardists who may wish to test it on a small scale, the following directions for making the stock emulsion are given:

Formula for Stock Emulsion

Red Engine Oil, or oil of similar gradegallons 1
Waterdo. 1
Potash Fish-Oil Soappound 1

The oil, water and soap are placed in a kettle or other receptacle and heated until the contents come to a boil. A brown scum appears on the surface of the mixture as it first begins to boil. After boiling for a few minutes the brown scum begins to disappear and at this stage the kettle is removed from the fire and the entire mixture is pumped twice under pressure of about 60 pounds while still very hot. A proper emulsion cannot be made by stirring nor should the mixture be allowed to cool before it is pumped. Too much pumping will often break up the emulsion. During pumping, ordinary pump packing is burnt up rather quickly by the hot oil mixture. For making the stock emulsion on a large scale an all-metal pump would be necessary.

The stock emulsion contains 62.5 per cent of oil. To make a 2 per cent emulsion for use in a 200-gallon spray tank it is necessary to use 9 gallons of the stock emulsion.

Precaution should be taken to prevent the stock emulsion from freezing, which occurs at a temperature of about 15 degrees F. above zero.

Use Soft Water

In case difficulty is experienced in making a proper emulsion, due to hardness of the water, the water used should be softened by the addition of 1 pound of caustic soda or lye per 100 gallons of diluted spray. The caustic soda should be dissolved in 2 or 3 gallons of water and then added to the spray tank and thoroughly stirred, after which the proper quantity of stock emulsion can be added.

Any one of the following, or similar oils, may be used, some one or more of which can doubtless be obtained in most parts of the country:

Diamond Paraffin Oil
189 Red Neutral
Jr. Red Engine Oil
Nabob Oil.

An oil which has given excellent results in the experiments herewith reported has approximately the following characteristics:

Sp. Gravity (20° C.) 814
Flash Point 170° C
Fire point 170° C
Viscosity (20° C.) (Engler) 17.21
H₂O (100) 4.2 per cent
Volatility (loss at 100° C.) None
Acid or corroding substance None
Distillation 200-270° C 4.8 per cent by volume
Above 270° C 1.25 per cent by volume.

PLANTING PEAS FOR ALL-SEASON SUPPLY

Soil Should Be Prepared the Same as for Other Crops.

Some Fertilizer Should Be Scattered Where Row is to Be Planted and Then Raked In—Scatter Seed Along in Furrow.

In planting garden peas first prepare the soil the same as for other crops, then scatter a little fertilizer where the row is to be planted and rake this into the soil. Next stretch a line and make a deep mark with the corner of the hoe. The bottom of this mark should be at least three inches across so that the seed can be spread somewhat and not crowded too closely together. Scatter the seed in this furrow 15 to 20 seeds to the foot, then cover about three inches deep and slightly firm the soil over the seed with the back of the hoe. About two weeks will generally elapse before the sprout appears above the ground.

At least three, and preferably four, plantings should be made at intervals of two weeks in order to keep up a continuous supply, advises the United States Department of Agriculture. If the first planting is of Alaska the second should be of Gradus or Thomas Laxton, while the third should be of Excelstor and the fourth of Telephone or some similar variety. This will guarantee a continuous supply.

There is nothing particularly dis-

PLACE FOR TOMATO PLANTS

Some Protection from Southwest Winds Should Be Provided—Fertilize the Soil.

Select a semi-protected location from the southwest winds for your tomato plants for home use. Buildings, trees, a hill or corn afford good protection. Do not set the plants too close to the protecting object or they will be injured by shade. Fertilize the soil. Set the plants deep in rows five feet apart and plants two to three feet in the rows.

ALFALFA WITH NURSE CROPS

Good Stand Made at Massachusetts Station Planted With Red and a Little White Clover.

Alfalfa sowed with peas and oats, as early as the ground can be worked, along with red clover, and a little white clover, made a good stand at Massachusetts station. The nurse crop was cut rather early for cows, and the legumes grew so rankly during the moist summer as to make a heavy cutting in September, with two crops the next season.

More Truth Than Poetry

A dreamer says if he had a million or two he would spend it helping humanity by starting a paper and telling the truth. Not on your life, brother, you would NOT help humanity. If you told nothing but the whole truth in your uplifting newspaper, for just one day, you would spend the rest of your millions in court defense and the rest of your days in jail. I KNOW. I tried it once. They got my coin. Also my goat. And doggone near got my hide, for telling the truth. And all I said was "John Jones has quit licking his wife."
