NOT IN POLITICS FOR PECUNIARY PROFITS.

There is no impropriety in saying that in his own original chosen profession Mr. Bryan could now command an income exceeded or equaled by that of but few lawyers west of the Mississippi. There are thousands of clients who would be glad and proud to have him as their counsel. If he preferred to devote his attention exclusively to the lecture platform he would be quite sure of earning a fortune in a comparatively short time. His power of interesting and holding audiences by the magnetic charm of his oratory, on any subject he may select, has been sufficiently demonstrated; and the eagerness to hear him speak is not confined to any particular section of the country. The same thing may be said of his very respectable gifts as an actor. The stage offers to Mr. Bryan a mine of wealth whenever he chooses to work it; although we have no idea that he will ever take advantage of the opportunity. If he were to write books to be sold by subscription the returns would certainly be large, and publishers would compete for the privilege and profit of putting Mr. Bryan's printed thoughts into the hands of his millions of admirers. If he were to return to journalism there are doubtless dozens of prosperous newspapers of his own way of thinking which would tumble over each other in their anxiety to secure his services as editor or editorial writer.

Mr. Bryan could easily earn not only his living, but probably riches beyond the dreams of Nebraska avarice as a lawyer, a doctor, an actor, an author or journalist. There are not many men in the country today with a greater potential earning capacity covering a greater variety of alternative occupations. We make these remarks not at all in the offensive sense in which Mr. Mabbett's question seems to be put to us, but merely to emphasize the absurdity and injustice of the notion that the leader of the Chicago democracy remains in politics for the sake of the money that is in politics for him.

On the contrary, to the best of our knowledge and belief, Mr. Bryan is standing by his party and principles at a very considerable sacrifice of pecuniary profit.—New York Sun.

MINING ACTIVITY.

The Santa Rita Copper Properties in Grant County sold for $1,200,000.

Speaking of the sale of this and other valuable mines the Journal Democrat says:

"Much interest has been taken abroad in the recent sale of the Santa Rita copper mines to the copper combine for a sum of $1,200,000. The deal is the largest ever consummated in the territory. The property embraces the whole Santa Rita camp, consisting of 46 patented and 33 unpatented claims. Among the members of the purchasing syndicate are John D. Rockefeller, Senator W. A. Clark and the Rothschilds. The instrument of conveyance was made to H. D. Willard of Boston. It contained revenue stamps to the value of $1,400.

The present management will not do any extensive work until the terms of the leases have expired. Development work will be begun upon several shafts in order to more fully determine the possibilities of the property. Immense smelting, leaching and concentrating plants are to be erected, resulting, it is estimated, in the employment of 2,000 men, and the expenditure of a million of dollars. The Hearst estate received $200,000 for its option on the group of mines.

Another mining deal of much importance has just been consummated in this county. C. F. Grayson, the Silver City banker, has purchased from T. B. Catron a 77-100 interest in the famous Hanover mine, situated about two miles from the town of Hanover. The remaining interest is owned by J. B. Gilchrist of Santa Rita. The property has long been considered one of the most valuable in the southwest and has yielded several fortunes. The new owners have already begun work, and the mine will undoubtedly ere long be numbered again among the top-notch producers.

Peter Spray has sold his silver lead claims in the Cook's Peak district for $5,000 and has gone to Minnesota. C. H. Tuckwood, the new owner, will at once begin the work of developing his property.

The Rock Island Railway Coming.

Some of the papers in the Indian Territory announced some weeks ago that surveyors were running a line from a Rock Island railway terminus to Amarillo, Tex., the end of the Pecos Valley line from Roswell. The Ry. Ago now confirms the report and states that if the Rock Island is extended it will be from Mangum to Amarillo, 130 miles. Doubtless a traffic arrangement could be made from Amarillo to Roswell and then the Rock Island would fill the gap over to the Salado and White Oaks country reached by the new line from El Paso. An independent line from Amarillo to Roswell may be contemplated, or the purchase of the Pecos Valley railway may be in view, although the Santa Fe is supposed to have some strings upon that road. The Rock Island company made a desperate effort three years ago to gobble the Texas & Pacific line west from Fort Worth to El Paso, but failed to buy the controlling stock. The company, long ago, made surveys across New Mexico to El Paso and built to Liberal, Kas., intending to extend across the Texas plains and the Pecos valley to the Mexican border. Work on that line was stopped to build down into the Indian Territory and Ft. Worth. But the plan to reach Mexico and perhaps California, has never been given up, and New Mexico is almost certain to have a Rock Island extension within a year or two at most.—New Mexican.

Would Not Suffer as Again for Fifty Times Its Price.

I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I got down to work this morning I felt so weak I could hardly work. I went to Miller & McCurdy's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me all right. It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my home here after, for I should not care to endure the sufferings of last night again for fifty times its price.—G. H. Wilson, Livestockman, Burgettstown, Washington Co., Pa. This remedy is for sale by M. G. Paden.

If you need a 14 inch paper cutter we can fix you; in good condition; we don't need it, and will sell it cheap for cash. Write the EAGLE for prices.

Last fall I sprained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said at first it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse and I could hardly get around to work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I tried it and one half of a 60-cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to all my friends.—F. A. Dancock, Editor, It is for sale by M. G. Paden.

Gen. Otis thinks 80,000 troops are necessary for the control of the Philippines.

A. J. Hopkins of Illinois has withdrawn from the national speakership contest, leaving Henderson of Iowa practically without opposition.

France seems to have come to a sense of justice and is giving the already severely persecuted Dreyfus a new hearing, which surely means that he will be acquitted.

Little has come of the peace conference at the Hague. The American plan of arbitration seems likely to be adopted; while the Czar's disarmament scheme has been abandoned.

John Wannamaker, who understands the science of advertising as well as any man in the world says: "The business man who cuts down his newspaper advertising because times are dull, is just like the man who refuses to eat strengthening food because he is weak."

The original protective policy of the republican party was the protection of infant industries, which it successfully surmised were not powerful enough to compete with foreign competitors. Under the present administration, as has been the case in several of the preceding republican presidential terms, the original policy has been so extended, as to embrace almost every conceivable article of manufacture; until at present it has taken in trusts and every other illegal form of combination for the purpose of destroying competition in trade.

GOLD IN THE PHILIPPINES.

BY THE PHILIPPINE CORRESPONDENT OF THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN.

Whether or not a tropical El Dorado will be discovered in our newly-acquired Philippines the future alone can decide; but certain it is that much time and labor will be expended in seeking the gold which the islands are said to contain. Before the outbreak of hostilities, American prospectors had made many trips inland; but the attitude of the natives prevented any systematic exploration of the country.

It was the quest for gold and silver which, four hundred years ago, urged Spanish adventurers to begin a great course of discovery and exploration. It seems, therefore, incredible that after having acquired possession of those islands and established here their civilization, these gold-seeking Spaniards should have left undeveloped the natural resources of the territory.

But they never really subdued the natives; and, although they built up their great city of Manila and established trading-stations, their conquest was not extensive. They never subdued even the tribes which inhabit the country bordering the coast. During all the long years of Spanish dominion, from the founding of the first colony to the loss of the islands, the natives constantly rose up in rebellion against their rulers.

The natives themselves have never extensively engaged in mining; but the little digging which they have done has not been without its good results. In Manila, much gold in the form of jewelry and ornaments skillfully worked by the natives is sold in the shops. Among many of the tribes of the interior, it is considered sacrilegious to disturb the earth; for which reason they have themselves not dug for gold and have prevented others from so doing.

Still another reason may be advanced to explain the undeveloped condition of Philippine mineral resources. The tribes, who wield so enormous an influence, have always combated every plan which would tend to the enlightenment of the people and the growth of large industries; and especially have they been opposed to the digging of mines, despite the evidence that precious ores exist.

The mining of the natives has been confined to the alluvial deposits of the rivers: for there is not a stream rising in the mountains of Luzon and the other islands which has not its gold-bearing sands and deposits, from which for centuries the larger portion of the precious metals has been obtained.

Hostile though the natives may have been to the advance of explorers, the possibilities of the islands under any other rule than Spain's would, ere this, have been known. Only with much difficulty was it possible to obtain a mining grant from the Spanish officials; and, for a foreigner, the obstacles encountered in obtaining a concession were well nigh insurmountable. Since the capture of Manila a number of American prospecting parties have been exploring various parts of the islands. Although their work has been greatly retarded by the insurgents, they have, nevertheless, succeeded in locating some very rich veins of gold, which will be worked when peace is established. Even before the outbreak of our war with Spain, a company composed largely of Spanish residents of Manila had undertaken the alluvial mining of gold; but nothing more than the preliminary prospecting was ever accomplished.

Our prospectors have confined their explorations to Luzon; but even on this island, perhaps the most civilized of the entire Philippine group, are regions which have never been trodden by a white man. Some of the other islands, it is said, also contain gold, and on Mindanao it is certain there are valuable deposits. Old miners, who have been in Cripple Creek and in the Klondike, have already arrived in Manila, and form but the advance of an army of gold seekers, which will invade the country when peace has been established.

NEWS ITEMS.

The continued drought in south eastern Colorado is causing a heavy loss of cattle, and should it continue much longer the losses will be tremendous.

J. H. Lightfoot has sold the Sacramento Chief to the Alamogordo News company, and it is announced that the name of the paper will be changed to Alamogordo News.

The Roswell Record has had 75 per cent increase of subscription since Jan. 1st, which not only shows it to be an enterprising paper but that it is backed by a prosperous community.

Roswell business men called a meeting last week to organize a board of trade. Roswell is progressing in strides; and is one of the most enterprising towns in New Mexico.

At Las Cruces on the afternoon of the 2nd inst., Jacinto Armijo, member of the board of regents of the Agricultural College, attempted suicide by trying to cut his throat with a razor. He so far succeeded that it is thought he will not survive his injury.

The purchasers of the Frisco group of copper mines in Tago county, have according to an estimate made by a mining engineer, 2,880,000 tons of ore in sight worth $18 per ton. The mines have 1,000 feet development work, and propose to put in a plant costing $250,000.

STEAM POWER.

It is the momentum of advertising that carries a business along. It is like the steam power which carries along the railroad train. Out of the steam and the train will move on for some distance without any perceptible diminution of speed. But gradually it comes to a full stop. It is the same way with advertising. It is the only way to keep the business engine going, whether the engineer be an individual or a combination, is to keep up steam.—Union.

THE AWAKENING.

The town in the west Was a hard one at best, For its people knew nothing but sin. Why, Sodom and Gomorrah Would have wept tears of sorrow, Had they sunk to the depths these were in.

In vain; all in vain, O, I state it with pain! The good preacher, like Lot, gave them warning, He told of the sentence, For those out of repentance, And the flames that for them were now burning.

But they yawned in their seats, Heeding not his entreats; Few indeed came to hear of their sins; And the Devil, he pranced 'Round the parson, and danced, Making most diabolical grins.

Discouraged at last With the present and past— And no sign of a future devotion, He determined like Lot To abandon the spot.

But was seized with a happier notion. He had tried every art And could not move the heart; His last ruse he determined to try; So the parson arose And he tickled the nose Of Cupid, who was slumbering near by.

Then the Devil was beat, And made hasty retreat In a cloud of dark sulphurous smoke. For the Devil can't thrive Where Cupid's alive, Nor remain after Cupid has spoke.

A two fold revival Thus made its arrival. A manifold blessing to prove Neither parson nor Cupid Have shown themselves stupid, Each preaching the gospel of love. Now, has sinfulness ceased, And the church rolls increased; And the church house is filled to the standing.

As the eloquent calls To salvation now falls On the people, obedience commanding, And Cupid's keen darts Are now piercing the hearts Of the young, well as old and inured. The baptismal hymns sing, And the wedding bells ring— For the sinners have heard and have trusted.

But the question, quite vexed, Now, is what to do next— Being freed from the Devil's vile doings— To temper the zeal That so many now feel For his Cupid's incessant wooings, For he keeps full in view, Both in choir and in pew, Leading souls up to grace in his rapture, And if let run at large He will yet make a charge On the pulpit, completing his capture. JAY EM. KAY.

From every section of Arizona comes complaint of suffering from drought, water is short for irrigation, cattle ranges are barren of grass because of a lack of spring rains, and in northern Arizona it is said if rain does not come soon many small mills will have to close down for want of water to run.—Herald.
