GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

McKINLEY'S TRIBUTE TO VICE PRESIDENT HOBART.

Washington, Nov. 21.—The news of Mr. Hobart's death was first received at the White House ten minutes before 9 o'clock in a private message from Paterson. The flag over the Executive Mansion was immediately hauled down to half mast and the doors of the mansion closed to the public.
The President was deeply affected by the telegram announcing his colleague's death and at once dispatched a telegram, conveying the sympathy and consolation of himself and Mrs. McKinley to Mrs. Hobart. The President immediately joined Mrs. McKinley in his private apartments. His close and intimate relations with his colleague made him feel the Vice President's death as a great personal bereavement. Mrs. McKinley was greatly affected. She gave way completely to her grief and sobbed convulsively. Mrs. McKinley has but few intimates here and among her most cherished friends were the Vice President and Mrs. Hobart. President McKinley did all he could to comfort his wife and did not return to his office until the members of the Cabinet began to arrive.

After the Cabinet meeting, the President issued the following proclamation:

By the President of the United States: A proclamation to the people of the United States—Garret Augustus Hobart, Vice President of the United States, died at his home in Paterson, N. J., at 8:30 o'clock this morning. In him the nation has lost one of its most illustrious citizens and one of its most faithful servants. His participation in the business life and the lawmaking body of his native State was marked by unswerving fidelity and by a high order of talents and attainments; and his too brief career as Vice President of the United States and President of the Senate exhibited the loftiest qualities of upright and sagacious statesmanship. In the world of affairs he had few equals among his contemporaries. His private character was gentle and noble. He will long be mourned by his friends as a man of singular purity and attractiveness, whose sweetness of disposition won all hearts, while his elevated purpose, his unbounding integrity and wholehearted devotion to the public good deserved and acquired universal respect and esteem.

"In sorrowing testimony of the loss which has fallen upon the country, I direct that on the day of the funeral, the executive offices of the United States shall be closed, and all stations of the army and navy shall display the national flag at half mast, and that the representatives of the United States in foreign countries shall pay appropriate tribute to the illustrious dead for a period of thirty days.

"In witness whereof, I have set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.
(Seal) Done at the city of Washington, this twenty-first day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-fourth.

(Signed) WILLIAM McKINLEY,
By the President:
John Hay, Secretary of State."

CRIPPLE CREEK AND THE ROD OF MOSES.

Mining men from all other sections of the West complain that it is almost impossible to get the attention of investors to any other section than Cripple Creek. There is some basis for this complaint but it must be remembered that the Cripple Creek district has done more to advertise itself during the last few years than all other sections combined. Advertising has attracted attention; attention has induced investment; investment has paid the cost of development; has made mines; mines have produced mineral values which in turn have been the means of further advertising, and thus the endless chain has been kept in operation. Advertising has been a veritable "Rod of Moses" in the hands of the enterprising and public spirited promoters of the Cripple Creek district, each stroke of which has started a continuous stream of wealth from her hills. It is not to be wondered at that the eyes of the world are fixed on Cripple Creek.—Mining Record.

No matter how much merit a mining district has, if it is not properly advertised, it will be a long time attracting much attention. Advertising is almost as necessary as it is for the mines to run well in gold, silver or copper, or whatever mineral it might be. And as long as mining districts are not advertised, just so long will they abide in obscurity, and such districts as Cripple Creek be sought in preference by the capitalist and investor. And in this connection, it will not be amiss to say that advertising cost money, and no men nor papers can afford to do it for nothing. This should serve as a pointer to those mainly interested in several important districts of the Southwest.—Industrial Record.

A SURE CURE FOR CROUP.

Twenty-five Years' Constant Use without a Failure.
The first indication of croup is hoarseness, and in a child subject to that disease it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is used in many thousands of homes in this broad land and never disappoints the anxious mothers. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not proved effectual. No other preparation can show such a record—twenty-five years' constant use without a failure. For sale by M. G. Paden Druggist.

Ziegler Bros' Holiday Announcement

FROM WHITE OAKS TO ROSWELL.

Santa Fe Connection With the Pecos Valley.
Via of White Oaks and Lincoln

Still another rumor has been added to the many in constant circulation as to new railroad connections with White Oaks. President Ripley's visit to New Mexico has given further credence to the rumor that the Santa Fe intends building from White Oaks and Lincoln to Roswell and connect with the Pecos Valley.

This connection, if built, would result in restoring to the Santa Fe a trade now taken away by the building of the El Paso & Northeastern. Before that all communication between White Oaks and the outside world was by wagon and stage overland from San Antonio on the Santa Fe, and Roswell on the Pecos Valley, distances of about ninety miles. In this the business houses of Albuquerque and Las Vegas secured most of the trade of this section, which went by the Santa Fe and overland from San Antonio.

The building of the El Paso & Northeastern cut off this trade by giving El Paso a direct line into the country. If the Santa Fe should ever build the rumored line they will have a chance for competition with the White Oaks road.

The report says that the object of the Santa Fe in building is to forestall the Rock Island in its intended extension from Liberal, Kansas, to connect with the White Oaks. That the Santa Fe was likely to build has been generally believed for some time, although it is impossible to say what truth there is in the reports. President Ripley has visited all parts of the Santa Fe system on his trip, which is one of inspection over the line, and does not seem to be any real reason to believe that the visit has any real connection with any possible building of the line to the White Oaks.

The building of this line would be anything but beneficial to El Paso and would, no doubt, be used in every way to the injury of this city. Much of the trade of this section that now belongs to El Paso would then be opened to other points.—El Paso Times.

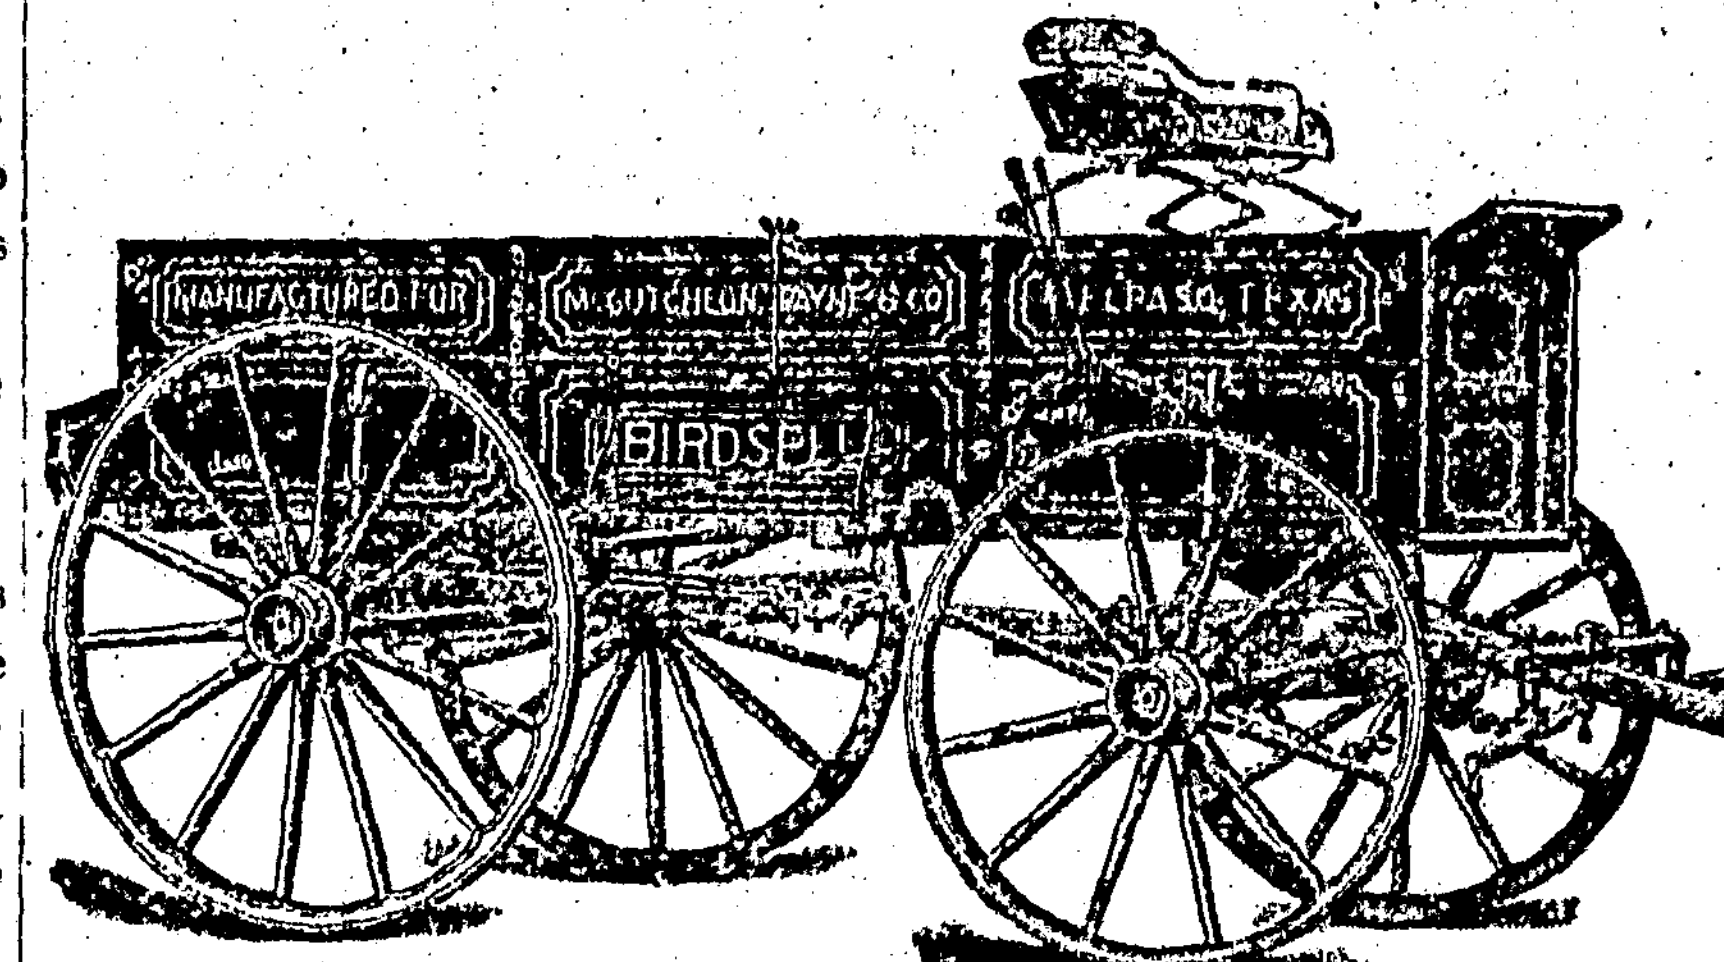

An editor prints his paper to give his patrons the news of the day and for the money there is in it. He is presumed to know of what he writes, and he generally does. When he writes as he does in the Leader Courier, Osceola Mills, Pa., without fee or reward, that "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts magically, and we have found none better in our household. If you have a cough, try it," it may be accepted as an honest expression, worthy of credence. For sale by M. G. Paden Druggist.

FOREST RESERVE TIMBER

How It May be Secured Completely Arranged.

Forest Reserve Superintendent Buntain has received the following instructions from the commissioner of the general land office as to the cutting of timber on government forest reserves: Citizen.

Referring to the provisions of the act of June 4 1897, for the free use of timber, as regulated by paragraph 21, page 12, of the rules and regulations governing forest reserves, you are advised as follows:

Any person authorized by the said act to secure forestry reserve timber for his own individual needs may procure it through a saw mill operator or other person acting as his agent direct, by whosoever procured, whether by his own hands or an agent direct, he should first confer or communicate with you directly, or through the nearest forestry officer, designating the location, amount and value of the timber proposed to be cut, the place where and the purpose for which the said timber will be used; stating what sawmill or agent, if any, will be employed in doing the cutting, removing and saving, and pledging that no more shall be cut from the reservation than he needs for use on his own land or claim, and that none shall be sold, disposed of nor used on any other but his own land or claim; and guaranteeing to remove and safely dispose of all tops, brush and refuse cutting, beyond a larger of fire therefrom.

The bona fide settler and miner, each acting in his individual capacity, is not precluded from taking his timber to the sawmill; nor is the sawmill proprietor precluded from receiving or sawing or otherwise handling the timber for that settler or miner; provided the sum charged therefor is exclusive of any charge of the timber itself, and is no more than a reasonable sum to cover time and labor expended and all legitimate expenses incurred in sawing or handling. The charge cannot be paid from any part of the timber, or with any other timber taken from any public land.

The stumpage value is the value of the timber in the standing tree, and it is determined by the locality and size of the timber, the commercial use for which the timber is sought, the demand therefor, etc.

The said provision for the free use of timber contemplates individual use only. Therefore, mining corporations, lumber companies and any organization engaged in extensive business enterprises requiring vast amounts of timber are not entitled to any of the benefits thereof.

Residents of towns or villages within or near a forest reservation having railroad facilities and other convenient access to sawmills and lumber yards where lumber and fuel can be procured by purchase are not entitled to the benefits of the provision of the law for the free use of timber. Citizen.

THE GREAT PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN OF 1900.

The policies of the great political parties are now being formed and the candidates discussed. The voice of the people as recorded by ballot at the approaching Presidential election will probably decide the policy of the nation for the next decade. Every citizen must study the great questions that are to come before the people. This can only be done through the medium of a great newspaper. Now is the time, therefore, for every voter to subscribe for the best and most reliable newspaper obtainable. The Semi Weekly Republic covers the whole field of political news. While it is Democratic, it publishes the news in regard to all political parties without prejudice. Its telegraphic and cable news service is superior to that of any other paper. Its special features are the best. In fact, it is the paper for that large class of readers who cannot afford or do not have access to the daily papers.

Attention is also called to the Republic's Sunday Magazine. Its half ton illustrations are alone worth the subscription price. It is made up of special articles by the best literary talent, embracing a variety of subjects of current interest. News features of absorbing interest are illustrated and enlarged upon for the benefit of the ladies. The latest fashions are handsomely illustrated. The Republic Sunday Magazine is always interesting to every member of the family.

The subscription price of the Semi Weekly Republic is $1.00 per year. The Republic Sunday Magazine $1.25 per year. Both papers are now being offered at the very low price of $1.50 for one year. To secure this low rate both must be ordered and paid at the same time.

The President immediately joined Mrs. McKinley in his private apartments. His close and intimate relations with his colleague made him feel the Vice President's death as a great personal bereavement. Mrs. McKinley was greatly affected. She gave way completely to her grief and sobbed convulsively. Mrs. McKinley has but few intimates here and among her most cherished friends were the Vice President and Mrs. Hobart. President McKinley did all he could to comfort his wife and did not return to his office until the members of the Cabinet began to arrive.

After the Cabinet meeting the President issued the following proclamation:

By the President of the United States: A proclamation to the people of the United States: Garret Augustus Hobart, Vice President of the United States, died at his home in Paterson, N. J., at 8:30 o'clock this morning. In him the nation has lost one of its most illustrious citizens and one of its most faithful servants. His participation in the business life and the lawmaking body of his native State was marked by unswerving fidelity and by a high order of talents and attainments; and his too brief career as Vice President of the United States and President of the Senate exhibited the loftiest qualities of upright and sagacious statesmanship. In the world of affairs he had few equals among his contemporaries. His private character was gentle and noble. He will long be mourned by his friends as a man of singular purity and attractiveness, whose sweetness of disposition won all hearts, while his elevated purpose, his unbounding integrity and wholehearted devotion to the public good deserved and acquired universal respect and esteem.

"In sorrowing testimony of the loss which has fallen upon the country, I direct that on the day of the funeral, the executive offices of the United States shall be closed, and all stations of the army and navy shall display the national flag at half-mast, and that the representatives of the United States in foreign countries shall pay appropriate tribute to the illustrious dead for a period of thirty days.

"In witness whereof, I have set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

(Seal) Done at the city of Washington, this twenty-first day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-fourth.

(Signed.) WILLIAM McKINLEY.

John Hay, Secretary of State.

CRIPPLE CREEK AND THE ROD OF MOSES.

Mining men from all other sections of the West complain that it is almost impossible to get the attention of investors to any other section than Cripple Creek. There is some basis for this complaint but it must be remembered that the Cripple Creek district has done more to advertise itself during the last few years than all other sections combined. Advertising has attracted attention; attention has induced investment; investment has made mines; mines have produced mineral values which in turn have been the means of further advertising, and thus the endless chain has been kept in operation. Advertising has been a veritable "Rod of Moses" in the hands of the enterprising and public spirited promoters of the Cripple Creek district, each stroke of which has started a continuous stream of wealth from her hills. It is not to be wondered at that the eyes of the world are fixed on Cripple Creek.—Mining Record.

No matter how much merit a mining district has, if it is not properly advertised, it will be a long time attracting much attention. Advertising is almost as necessary as it is for the mines to run well in gold, silver or copper, or whatever mineral it might be. And as long as mining districts are not advertised, just so long will they abide in obscurity, and such districts as Cripple Creek be sought in preference by the capitalist and investor. And in this connection, it will not be amiss to say that advertising cost money, and no men nor papers can afford to do it for nothing. This should serve as a pointer to those mainly interested in several important districts of the Southwest.—Industrial Record.

A SURE CURE FOR CROUP.

Twenty-five Years' Constant Use without a Failure.

The first indication of croup is hoarseness, and in a child subject to that disease it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is used in many thousands of homes in this broad land and never disappoints the anxious mothers. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not proved effectual. No other preparation can show such a record—twenty-five years' constant use without a failure. For sale by M. G. Paden Druggist.

Delegate Perca has taken his seat as New Mexico's representative in congress, and has introduced his little bill for the admission of this territory into the Union, thus settling the statehood question for the present session of congress at least.

The kindness expressed by our national neighbor, Old Mexico, in flying its flags at half mast over all public buildings on receiving intelligence of the death of Vice-President Hobart, shows a national respect and friendly spirit towards this government.

ENJOYING PROSPERITY.

Col. George W. Prichard, who attended district court at Socorro, passing up the road for Santa Fe the other morning, came in from the capital last night and continued south to his home in White Oaks. The colonel was at the capital to confer with Governor Otero on some important matters which he failed to confide to THE CITIZEN representative who met him at the depot last night. He talked about White Oaks and stated that the town, while not enjoying a boom, was nevertheless growing, and that new people are arriving to White Oaks, and in that section of Lincoln county, every day. Building operations are in progress, and there are signs of progress and prosperity on every side. He said that the White Oaks country will soon astonish every one as a coal producer. Only the other day a fine vein of coal six feet thick was discovered three miles north of White Oaks. At Capitan, twenty miles away, the coal fields are undoubtedly extensive, and the report of the veins pinching out was caused by the miners striking a fault caused by dikes running across the basin in which the coal is found. Other mining interests too are looking up. The Jicarilla Pacer company, whose fields are situated in the Jicarilla mountains twelve miles north of White Oaks, is doing good work. The company was organized and financed by Col. Prichard. Citizen.

ARCHBISHOP CHAPPEL APPOINTED PAPAL LEGATE TO THE PHILIPPINES.

The duties which await Archbishop Chappelle in the Philippines are many, the principal task confronting him being to straighten out the muddle into which the monastic holdings in the islands have fallen. He will make his headquarters in Manila, where he will be furnished with a body guard by General Otis, lest some fanatical native, incensed at the frankness with which the papal delegate has denounced the attempt to despoil the church of its property in the Philippines, should try to assassinate him. His secretary stated that the question of protecting the Archbishop had been fully discussed. He will not recklessly expose himself, and this body guard will be made as large as needed. Before returning to New Orleans the Archbishop will visit Rome. From Italy he will go to France, and then to Porto Rico. His stay in the Philippines will cover a period of about nine months. Times.

EFFECT OF A NATIONAL LEASE LAW.

Under the foregoing heading and over the signatures of Messrs. Cameron, Goetz and Fuller, of Carlsbad, an open letter is addressed to the press of New Mexico. There is no question that the stockmen of this territory will be very much concerned, in fact vitally interested, in whatever legislative action taken by congress. And to be able to intelligently represent their interests, should become acquainted with the merits and demerits of the issue. The letter referred to is in part as follows: This agitation is viewed by the people of New Mexico with an apparent difference that can result only from an utter unfamiliarity with the rigorous and wide reaching result that will follow should success result to it. It will mean, first and pre eminently, the utter destruction of the sheep and wool interests and small stock business of New Mexico; and what the effect of the destruction of this industry now the predominant one of the Territory—would be, it is not necessary to picture. That the matter may be brought to the attention of the people and they be incited to efforts to prevent the passage of the lease measure proposed, it is necessary that the press of New Mexico should give careful investigation to the subject, and after satisfying itself of the injury that would result to the whole people from its adoption, give the facts to the public that it may be thoroughly informed. To that end the following is respectfully submitted for consideration: That well organized plans have been perfected by the big cattle concerns of all the western and northwestern States to secure the passage of national lease law by Congress during the present winter, admits of no doubt. That the governor of Wyoming has called a meeting of all the governors of western states to meet in Salt Lake City, December 14th, to formulate plans of legislation to be submitted to Congress, looking to leasing grazing lands in the west to stockmen and ranchers. That a national lease law will be a calamitous thing for the western states, generally, and for New Mexico, particularly, is at once apparent to anyone who gives study to the question. It is a fact of record that the greater portion of the wealth of New Mexico is represented by livestock being bred and raised upon the public ranges, which stock is owned in small herds. Under present conditions the public range is free alike to all. The owner of only a few head of stock has the same right and derives the same benefit from the grass and water as the man numbering his stock by the thousands. But the enactment of a general law for leasing the public lands would be ruinous to the interests of all owners of small herds, particularly of sheep, for the reason that the large companies, backed by unlimited capital, would find it an easy matter to gradually, if not at once, to control all the desirable lands and water. This could be effected in many ways. Their large holdings and corresponding profits would permit them to pay a higher lease price than the man with only a few head of stock, paying him only a minimum of profit. Constant and persistent encroachment would soon give the big owners the control, and where now is seen hundreds of small flocks and herds there would appear only miles of fence and pastures owned by immense corporations. A lease law means the extinguishment of the sheep industry in New Mexico, and to day the sheep and wool interest is of all others in the territory the predominant one. Does New Mexico want to kill its chief industry—the one that supports a greater number of its people than any other. The sheep industry and a lease law are not compatible, for the reason that sheep will not thrive when confined to one range, the migratory nature of the animals making a constant change necessary, and as an illustration of this fact it is only necessary to cite the history of the sheep growing industry in the state of Texas, where a few years of the practical operation of a lease law has resulted in driving the sheep out of every part of the state where the range has been of sufficient value to justify the leasing of the land by the owners of large herds of cattle. The record of this state has been that the cattlemen has spread out, crushed out and destroyed the small neighbor and Announcement. To accommodate those who are partial to the use of mineral water in applying Ely's Cream Balm into the nasal passages for a nasal Catarrh, the proprietor has prepared Cream Balm in liquid form, which will be known as Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. This includes the spraying device in Ely's Cream Balm. Druggists or by mail. The liquid form embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation.

competitor, and veritably possesses the land. He is an embryo king and his sway none dispute.

The enactment of a lease law would place it within the power of corporations and men of large means to lease and control all desirable grazing land, to the exclusion of the owners of small herds, thus giving over the country to the use of a privileged few to the detriment of the many.

People now deriving a livelihood from small holdings of livestock, kept on the range, would under a lease law be forced to dispose of their stock at such prices as they could obtain from the parties holding the lease to the range; the stock of the large holders being confined within pastures would need but little care, so that the employment of the small holder, as well as his herd, would be gone, thereby forcing him to seek more inviting localities. Thus the population of New Mexico as a whole would be materially decreased, and the aggregate wealth of the territory would rapidly grow less, upon the going into effect of a law permitting the leasing of the public domain.

The questions for the people of New Mexico to consider and determine, are— Do they want the territory people to be happy and contented citizens, deriving support and contributing to the general prosperity from small holdings of stock, or do they want the territory dominated by a few large corporations?

Does the greatest good and success result to a town, community or country from many and small farms and industries, or from a few and large ones? Is it the wish to turn over the country for the exclusive use and benefit of the big cattlemen, to the injury and destruction of the man whose misfortune it is to have only small holdings?

THE HAGERMAN POWER DAM

Across the Pecos River, badly damaged—Loss $7,000 to $10,000. Early Tuesday evening, just after dark, the Hagerman power dam across the Pecos river, just east of town, was badly damaged by the water. About thirty feet of the masonry was washed out, and about one hundred additional feet cracked and moved from its base. The damage was all to the western portion of the dam. The break necessitated shutting down the electric light plant, which secures its power from the dam. The structure also furnished the greater portion of the water for Hagerman Heights. The break is a very serious one, meaning great loss to Mr. Hagerman, to Mr. Stegman, owner of the electric light plant, and an inconvenience to the people of the town. The estimated cost of repairment is between $5,000 and $10,000. The cause of the disaster is undoubtedly faulty construction. The dam has many times had a greater pressure of water against it than on Tuesday evening, but it has been asserted ever since it was built that the work was faulty, the masonry being set in mortar instead of cement was used being of an inferior quality.—Carlsbad Argus.

The war in the Transvaal is evidently at its bloodiest stage. The battle at Bodder, was so English officers claim, the bloodiest of the century for English arms. Reports as to numbers killed not definite. British re-inforcements are arriving and although the Boers may not be whipped they will be overpowered and finally annihilated by numbers if they refuse to pass under the British yoke.

The appointment of Esteban Bach, postmaster at Socorro, it is said by the citizens of that place, was a mistake, and an effort is being made to oust him. It is claimed that he can neither speak English nor Spanish, and that he some times gets mixed on the price of stamps.

The assays from these range from 6 per cent to 50 per cent copper with traces of gold and silver and about 30 per cent iron.

Ois Turner, a representative of the Industrial Record of El Paso, was here last week looking at the mineral resources of this vicinity. He visited the Old Abe gold and coal mines with John Y. Hewitt, and expressed himself very much surprised at the immense resources of each. He was told all along the line of the Northeastern, and at Capitán in particular, that there was nothing at White Oaks; that the coal was no good, none of it and such stuff, until he was prepared for almost anything when he came here. When he went away, however, he said that he would tell the public about what he saw in unmistakable terms. The facts in the case are these: White Oaks has more coal and better coal in sight today than any other locality in southern New Mexico, and the Old Abe gold mine is in the best ore yet found, at 1150 feet of depth and has from $250,000 to $300,000 worth of ore blocked out, which is practically in sight, with the very best equipped machinery for operating the property to be found in New Mexico. If White Oaks had a railroad, coal, and good coal, could be shipped not from two or three openings but from as many as two rail roads could haul. No diamond drill is necessary to find it, and a merchantable article can be shipped from within a few feet of the surface. These statements are not all paper and wind and there are men here ready to show up these conditions as they exist—and as to coal we have it, and are ready to prove it, when there is some body who has money to buy it.

SOME COMMON MINING TERMS.

The Santa Fe New Mexican recently published the following valuable information concerning mines and the terms used in mining localities:

Adit—Work in a mine of two kinds—development work and stopping. Development work consists in making passages through the ground for the purpose (1) of ascertaining the extent and value of known bodies of ore; (2) for exploring unknown territories in order to discover new ore bodies; (3) for the purpose of facilitating or increasing the work of taking out the ore. These passages receive various names, such as shaft, which is a perpendicular opening; an incline, which is one run on a slope; a tunnel, which is on the level. These three extend from the surface of the ground. Within the mine and opening from those mentioned or from each other there are levels, cross cuts, up-rises and winzes, the latter being a perpendicular opening cut from one level to meet another. All this development work may be done in barren rock without any compensating ore value, or the ore taken out may be of so great value as to pay all the expenses and pay a handsome profit besides. More often a considerable quantity of ore is taken out which returns something to the mine, although it does not repay the entire cost of development.

Any work toward taking out the ore more than is necessary for the purpose of development constitutes what is called stopping. The chambers from which the ore has been excavated are called the stopes, and these necessarily vary in size and character with the size and position of the vein or ore body.

Drifting—Is the act of following along with the course of the vein. Definitions of other mining terms are as follows:

Adit—Open cut or tunnel on the vein.

Alloy—Materials transported and deposited by water.

Amalgam—Gold or silver combined with mercury.

Apex—The top or highest point of a vein.

Auriferous—Any rock or sand bearing gold.

Bedrock—Rock underlying placer mines.

Blood lode—Where there appears no outcrop to a vein.

Breast—The face of a tunnel or drift.

Breccia—Angular rocks cemented together.

Cage—An elevator used in hoisting ore.

Cap rock—Rock overlying vein stone or ore.

Collar—The top of a shaft or winze.

Contact—A junction of two kinds of rock, such as lime and porphyry.

Contact vein—A vein between two dissimilar rock masses.

Country rock—The rock on each side of a vein.

Cross cut—A level driven across the course of vein.

Dip—The slope or pitch of a vein.

Face—The end of a drift or tunnel.

Fault—The displacement of a stratum or vein.

Feeder—A small vein entering into a larger vein.

Fluore vein—A crack in the earth's crust containing mineral.

Foot wall—Rock beneath a vein.

Grift vein—A vein wide at the top and closing at a short depth.

Hauling wall—The layer of rock or wall overhanging a lode.

Horae—A mass of rock between the branches of a vein.

In place—Not having been disturbed from its original position.

Lode—A horizontal passage in a mine diverging from the shaft.

Outcrop—The portion of a vein showing at the surface.

Petering—Giving out; failing.

Pocket—A rich spot in a vein or deposit.

Placing a mine—Placing foreign ore in the crevices of a vein for the purposes of deceiving.

Strike—The extension of a lode in a horizontal direction.

Stulls—A framework to support the rubbish when stopping.

Stump—A hole in the bottom of a shaft or tunnel for collecting the water.

Vein—An aggregation of mineral matter in rock fissures.

Beam and stringer—are used interchangeably for narrow branches running off from the vein or lode.

Lode—A vein, thus a lode claim, is a claim having in its boundaries a vein. This term is sometimes used to designate the claim itself.

Terrible Stories of the Sufferings of the American Troops.

Lawton's One Object, Aguinaldo.

Dispatches from Manila say that scores of men dropping out sick were left at various towns without adequate supplies or attendance. Some of them in desperation dragged their way back through mud, flood and jungle as best they could.

The horses of the advancing force were dying, and many of the soldiers, even some of the officers, were marching half-naked, their clothes having been torn to pieces in scrambling through the jungles. Some of them were reduced almost to mere skeletons, and hundreds were barefooted, their shoes being worn out.

All were living on any sort of provisions. Bread was rare, and carabao meat and bananas were the staples.

Gen. Lawton, it is said, forewarned that the campaign would involve such hard ships, but he considered it the quickest and cheapest way of ending the war.

The whereabouts of Gen. Lawton and Young is becoming such a mystery as that of Aguinaldo. The belief is beginning to grow at Manila that Gen. Lawton has struck the trail of the insurgent "Government" and is pursuing the Minotaur into the Binquet Mountains.

It has been his great ambition to capture the Filipino leaders, and he and Gen. Young have believed that a cavalry brigade, living on the country, could run them down in any part of the island.

A vague report is brought by Spanish pressmen that Aguinaldo was nearly surrounded by the Americans near after he left Tarlac, but escaped through the lines in peasant's clothes.

The last number of the Independencia, published at Tarlac the day before the Americans entered that place, contains a valdictory entitled "Adlon."

"Obliged by circumstances," says the writer, "we have found it necessary to interrupt with this number the pleasant labor of defending our ideals and interests. We take leave of the public and our readers with grief most profound and bitterness most cruel."

TALKS FOR WHITE OAKS.

Mr. Jones Taliaferro, a merchant of White Oaks was in the city this week. Mr. Taliaferro had with him a fine piece of copper ore, from a prospect discovered by him recently in the Gallinas mountains, about 40 miles from White Oaks. The ore runs 45 per cent. copper and some silver. Mr. Taliaferro will begin development work soon, and expects to realize handsomely from the mine. He reports business good and mining active in and about White Oaks. He expects the Northeastern to build to White Oaks before a great while. Mr. Taliaferro has been at White Oaks for the past ten years and has unbounded faith in the ultimate outcome of that section as the best from a mineral point of view in New Mexico.—Industrial Record.

The Union Mine in the Cochiti district has been purchased by Judge N. B. Laughlin and Hon. Chas. F. Easley for the Union Mining Company of Milwaukee, Wis. The price was $20,000 cash.

Croker is out with an opinion that the Democratic campaign will be against trusts and imperialism and that Bryan will be the candidate.

Thomas A. Edison expects to take out half million dollars with his dry washer process from the mines under his control in this territory this year.

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich. tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female disease quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by M. G. R. dea Druggist.

PROPOSED NARROW GAUGE.

Backed by Men Who Have Old Cars to Sell.

It is announced at El Paso says an exchange that Kansas City and Chicago men will build a narrow gauge railroad along the western base of Mt. Franklin and Organ mountains to the San Agustin Pass; thence through the pass and north along the east base of the San Agustin range to the Black mountain of the San Andres; thence around the west end of the Black mountain and north along the east base of the San Andres range to the southern end of the Oscura mountains, where exist large forest of timber.

A New York road which has at its disposal a large amount of equipment of a narrow gauge railroad which has recently been fitted with electricity and is anxious to dispose of the narrow gauge equipment, agrees to take bonds of the El Paso & Oscura Range Railway Company in exchange for rolling stock, provided their engineers and experts approve the line to be built.

The road is designed to tap the copper, gold, silver, lead and iron mines in the several ranges between El Paso and the Oscura range, about 138 miles north of El Paso. It will also tap the white sands and soda beds just east of the base of the San Andres.

Prevented a Tragedy.

Timely information given Mrs. George Long, of New Straitsville, Ohio, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctor- but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of Pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of the matchless merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c. and $1 00. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at M. G. Puden's Drug Store.

To secure for you the best and most interesting of the great illustrated magazines at the lowest possible price has been the aim of the editor of this journal. That we have succeeded we leave our readers to judge. A special contract recently entered into with The Cosmopolitan, which seeks to become better known in this neighborhood, has enabled us to offer you a year's subscription to the greatest of the illustrated magazines together with a year's subscription to this journal.

Both Together One Year for Only $ 2.10

In this way you secure your own home paper and an illustrated magazine at a price that is only about a fourth of what some of the illustrated magazines sell for. For three years The Cosmopolitan has undisputedly claimed that it reached the largest clientele possessed by any periodical, daily, weekly or monthly, in the world. It was The Cosmopolitan which sent Julian Hawthorne to India to let the world know the real horrors of famine and plague. It was The Cosmopolitan which established at its own cost a great Free Correspondence University which now has over 20,000 students on its rolls. It was The Cosmopolitan which offered a prize of $3,000 for the best horseless carriage and prizes for best plans for public baths, and best arrangement of sewer and pipe systems for cities. It was The Cosmopolitan which called the presidents of great schools and universities seriously discussing the defects of existing educational systems. It is The Cosmopolitan whose enterprise is always in the lead in advancing the world's civilization.
