HAPPENINGS IN WHITE OAKS

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

From The GOLDEN ERA.

Jan. 13, 1881. Santa Fe, like White Oaks, has had a coal oil famine.

Justice of the peace Lea presides with dignity. He gives justice and advice worth one hundred cents on the dollar.

White Oaks now has a tri-daily mail. That is the carrier tries to get in every once-in-awhile and in this frequently fails.

The County Commissioners purchased of Will Dowlin & Co., a few days since, their large business house and will turn it into a county court house. We understand the price paid was $15,000. A county jail will soon be erected.

G. W. Mitchell purchased of J. A. Tomlinson a half lot on the corner of White Oaks Avenue and Pine street a few days since. Consideration $300.

A K. Lee claims an infringement upon the name of his fine gold lead in the Jicarilla mountains. He calls it the "Golden Era." His assay from the "Golden Era" is $7.50 per ton, while the assay this far on the White Oaks Golden Era have run as well in proportion we hope Mr. Lee will reap a richer harvest with less strife and turmoil, upon the busy sea of life, than we can hope to wish our little weekly messenger.

J. Y. Hewitt was elected recorder of city lots, on last Saturday evening, by the citizens. Col. G. W. Prichard, president of the White Oaks Printing Company, is up from Las Vegas.

Jerry Hockradle, of the Jicarilla station, was in town Monday last. Jerry will never die with consumption.

The flour supply in White Oaks is becoming rather limited. If the famine in flour becomes as great as was that in coal oil, the people will have to go begging or depend on the supply stores of either Lincoln or Fort Stanton.

John Walter the gentlemanly foreman of the Homestake mine, has some rather novel ideas of his own, in reference to the original of this country. He says that in some places in Arizona, out upon the plain, forty or fifty miles from water, may be found as much as ten acres literally covered with small pieces of colored pottery. Jack thinks this whole country was once inhabited by the Chinese and they fought the Indians with stink pots.

Jan. 20, 1881.

Samuel Beard and J. M. Allen started for Vegas on last Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Barber, of Lincoln, were in the city a few days ago. Mr. Barber is county surveyor of Lincoln county.

Brinkman & Sweet are doing a thriving business.

Fifteen new houses, business and dwelling, are now being erected.

The machinery for boring of the artesian well in the Jicarilla placer diggings will soon be in operation.

Sam Corbatt, at Lincoln, is said to have more "vegetable matter" in his stomach than any man in Lincoln County. A copy of this paper will be forwarded to St. Clair, east.

We are glad to hear that Lincoln County is soon to have a proper place for violators of the law. Give Garrett a good place to put them and we will venture the assertion he'll do his part well. Jan. 27, 1881.

Measles. Jim Lamson is the most expeditious man in town. Hey?

It is cold, colder, coldest. P.O. box six degrees below Cairo.

We are now having a sugar famine, thanks to the beautiful snow.

Frank Lea is the boss Justice. He had justice soon fine a fellow for yelling Chi-hua-hua on the street as not.

Fred Mayer is as happy as a clam at high tide. He is having all he can do, but Fred is an old stager, and knows how to do it.

Jim Brent claims he is the only "high private" in White Oaks. The colonels, majors and captains ought to turn out and give him a serenade. He is worthy of distinction.

Messrs. W. J. Spence, W. F. Blanchard and Wesley Case returned Saturday evening from a prospecting trip in the Black Range, Socorro county. They report too much snow to make a thorough prospect.

The annual election of officers of the "Jicarilla Placer Mining Company" was held at White Oaks on the third Tuesday of this month, at which the following gentlemen were elected: A. H. Whitmore, President; G. W. Prichard, Vice President and Treasurer; H. C. Campbell, Secretary; J. H. Wise, Superintendent. The probability is that these placers will be very valuable, as the prospects are quite good for obtaining water at an early date.

Flour $6 per hundred, sugar 20 cents per pound, coffee 35 cents per package, tea $1 and $1.25 per pound, bacon 16 1/2 cents per pound, beef 10 to 15 cents per pound, all can goods, such as corn, tomatoes, green peas, beans, Boston baked beans, peaches, pears etc., range from 20 to 60 cents per can. Potatoes from 5 to 8 cents per pound, butter 50 cents per pound, coal oil 75 cents per gallon, lard 20 cents per pound, clothing from 15 to $45 per suit, blankets from $4 to $6 per pair. Board can be had at any of the restaurants at three tickets for $1. House rent all the way from $10 to $30 per month. Lumber $35 per thousand feet at the mill. Water delivered by the water wagon at your house at 40 cents per barrel. Tobacco 80 cents per pound. These articles comprise, we believe, the principal articles of expense in living at White Oaks.

Feb. 3, 1881.

Mud!

Warm weather!

J. W. Bell has received his appointment as deputy sheriff of Lincoln county.

Lee H. Rudisill was over last Sunday from the White mountains. We are under obligations to Mr. R. for favors.

We have been informed that our old townsman, Jas. S. Redman, is teaching the natives of Lincoln how to "trip the light fantastic."

We are informed that our esteemed young friend, H. J. Baca, of Lincoln, was married on the 20th of last month to one of the belles of Socorro. May their pathway in life be strewn with roses. Next.

Last Thursday evening about fifty members of the literary society, or social club, met at the residence of Mr. A. M. James, and a very pleasant and enjoyable time was had, the exercises consisting of the following programme: Russian National March, (organ) Col. J. H. Watt; Reading, An Autumn Holiday, Mrs. Wm. Watson; Song, Just Twenty Years Ago, Judge S. D. Lecompete; Declamation, Robert Lacey; Music, Webster's Funeral March, Mrs. A. M. James; Reading, When I Am Old, Mrs. M. Burk; Music, violin and organ, Col. Watts and J. R. Brent; Essay, Agricultural Resources of Lincoln County, Dr. A. G. Lane; Pathetic Ballad, Col. J. H. Watts; Ghost Scene from Hamlet, A. A. Barnes; Negro Melody, J. R. Brent; Recitation, Tam O'Shanter, Judge S. D. Lecompete.

The ship subsidy bill is lost without hope of being passed this session of Congress.

The British iron trade is at present in a state of collapse. Pig iron that has been selling at $16.48 has dropped since Dec. 1st to $14.46.

New and rich coal discoveries are again being made in the Yukon country. The coal is a typical lignite and is said to contain about 67 per cent of carbon.

The great annual gathering of live stock men which will take place at Salt Lake, Utah, the 15th, inst., is attracting wide spread attention, and promises to be a convention of by far the greatest interest to stock men ever held in the United States.

IGNORED BY THE GOVERNOR.

The Educational Association of New Mexico, which held a three days' session at the Capitol building in this city this week, within a minute's walk of the office of Governor Otero, yet as if by a studied indifference and disregard for the interests of education in New Mexico, Governor Otero neither visited its sessions nor sent a regret of his inability to do so. This slight was shared in by the Territorial superintendent of schools in like manner, for during the entire session, which lasted three days, he did not visit the association nor give it any recognition whatever. The Capital asks in the name of education and educational interests in New Mexico, if such man as Miguel A. Otero is competent or worthy of a reappointment as governor of the territory, or his superintendent of public instruction a reappointment as such by the council. The Capital will have more to say on this subject in our next issue.

A public official, especially the governor of the territory, who ignores an interest in the fundamental principles of good citizenship as embodied in the workings of our educational institutions, ought to be forever barred by law from holding any position of trust under any government as he will be in the public opinion of our people.

If Governor Otero's subsidized press of New Mexico can swallow this sort of official action and countenance it we at once declare them to be out of the pale of civilization and fast tending to barbarism and degeneration. Let us hear from them.—Santa Fe Capital (Republican.)

OF LOCAL INTEREST.

THE COUNTY BOARD.
The new board of County Commissioners have been duly installed and are getting down to business. S. C. Wiener, of this place, was elected chairman of the board. Those who have had business before the new commissioners inform the EAGLE that chairman Wiener is one of the most ready and thoroughly business presidents of the county board we have ever had. The new board are all thoroughly competent and responsible business men, and Lincoln county will experience an economical administration of public affairs during the life of the present democratic board.

PREPARING TO MILL.
The South Homestake Co. is getting ready to begin milling its ores. On the arrival of J. H. Robertson, of Scranton, Pa., here last Monday morning, the entire force was taken from the South Homestake mine and put to work repairing the mill and pipe line, which will be hastily prepared to begin milling the company's ores, of which they have a great quantity now broken and in sight ready to be taken out.
The South Homestake, when the mill is in operation, will probably work as many men as the Old Abe. Thus good things for White Oaks at the beginning of the new year continue.

SCHLELVILLE ACCIDENT.
Editor EAGLE:
I thought I would write and tell of the terrible accident that befell our little camp on Saturday, about 10:30, (Dec. 29.). Our shaft-house on the Homestake was blown up by dynamite which was thoughtlessly placed under the stove in the change room by the day hoist man instead of being placed in the powder rock. Nick Williams, of White Oaks, was almost instantly killed, and Chas. White, also of White Oaks, and H. F. Eller who were asleep in the room were injured slightly. It was simply a miracle that they were not instantly killed, as they were not over 4 feet away from the dynamite when it exploded. As near as can be learned about 6 pounds of dynamite exploded when the building caved-in.
The building caught fire in several places from coals thrown from the stove, and assistance was soon at hand and the fire was extinguished. Forest Smith and E. L. Chase were down on the 80 foot level, working in a drift, and were gotten out safely through their own coolness and help at hand. The shaft way and man way were covered up with debris, and the hoist would not work.
Nick Williams only lived a few moments and was never conscious. He was known as a very careful hoist man; but had been cautioned about the powder by the foreman, F. H. Smith, and by Alfred Corn only a short time before. The sad accident is greatly deplored.
At the time of the explosion I was sick in bed with the pneumonia, but was able to get up and render some little assistance. Mrs. McIvers rendered much valuable assistance during the trouble.
Work will begin at once of clearing up the wreck, and, no doubt, we will go on with the mining work. We had struck a 54 inch lead and begun to take out ore.
Mr. Williams was buried at the White Oaks cemetery on Sunday, at 3 p. m.

Dr. J. F. Mains, of Jicarilla, attended the injured. H. F. Eller and Chas. White went to their respective homes and will be on sick again in few days.
I desire to thank the good people of Nagel and White Oaks in that part of our company and the employees for their kind and valuable assistance rendered in the time of our dire distress.

Law & N. M. M'g. & M. Co.

WHAT IS "ORE"?

structure of the grant, although it might be proved to have contained much material not zinc ore. In one of these cases, moreover, the court held that the zinc or zinc ore conveyed by the lease must consist of veins, strata or masses "in quantity and richness worth mining for zinc."

Though the courts have not declared themselves on this question, there are several definitions in current technical literature which throw some light on the logic, the history and the usage of the term "ore."

The word itself is derived from the Anglo-Saxon "ora," related to "ar" (brass or bronze)—a form which can be traced through many other languages, including Latin. In like manner, the German "Erz" originally meant brass or bronze. Unquestionably, the earliest notion of "ore" was that of a mineral compound, in which a valuable metal was contained, not in its metallic state, but in combination with other substances.

Prof. Tarr, of Cornell University, in his "Economic Geology of the United States" (1894), says: "An ore may be defined as a mineral with a metallic base," but qualifies this definition by adding that it may be a native metal or a metal with a "mineralizer," and that, properly speaking, the metallic constituent should be predominant. He doubtless means predominant in value, since, in many ores, the proportion of metal by weight or volume is relatively small.

It may be said with some force, perhaps, that there is, in fact, no really "scientific standpoint" in the case, because the term "ore" is itself not scientific, and science has other terms more discriminating and more precise.

The International Dictionary gives two definitions of "ore" namely: 1. The native form of a metal, whether free and uncombined, as gold, copper, etc., or combined, as iron, lead, etc.

2. (Mining) A native metal or its compound, with the rock in which it occurs, after it has been picked over, to throw out what is worthless.

The Standard Dictionary defines "ore" as follows: "A natural substance, sometimes forming part of a rock, containing one or more metals. The term is applied usually to a mineral from which the metal can be profitably extracted, but is sometimes extended also to non-metallic minerals, as sulphur-ore."

After studying these and other definitions, I feel warranted in the modest claim that my own definition, given twenty years ago in my "Glossary of Mining and Metallurgical Terms," is as good as any of its successors. It describes an ore as "a natural mineral compound, of the elements of which one, at least, is a metal," while it recognizes also the occasional application of the term to the compound of non-metallic substances, such as sulphur. It does not, however, declare that, to be an "ore," a mineral compound must be workable with profit; because, being a mining engineer, I was then (as I am, in greater measure, now) sorrowfully familiar with material that, while unquestionably "ore," had been found to be unquestionably not "pay-ore!" Even among miners "ore" is something that may or might pay for working, not necessarily that will do so. And herein, to the eye of the philosophical observer, lies the vacuum which occupies the place of a "scientific standpoint" for this problem of nomenclature!

Cut this out and take it to Dr. Paden's drug store and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, the best physic. They also cure disorders of the stomach, biliousness and headache.

The car is a first-class sleeper equipped with eight sections and eight reclining chairs. A conductor and porter will attend the car, and a full line of newspapers and periodicals will be provided. The car will be open at Salt Lake City, so that passengers can sleep there during the convention.

The rate from Roswell, N. M., to Salt Lake City and return will be $59.30 for a lower berth and $54.30 for an upper berth. If berth is occupied by two persons, the rate for each will be $49.30 for lower and $46.80 for upper berth.

No free transportation will be honored in this car. This contemplates a nine days trip, and is a rare opportunity to witness the beautiful scenery of Colorado and Utah. The rate is very low for the service performed, and no pleasanter way to attend the convention will be available. Space is limited, and tickets should be purchased and space reserved at once. Address E. W. MARTINDALE, G. P. A., Roswell, N. M.
