THE EAGLE'S CLUBBING RATES.

To subscribers paying one year in advance for the EAGLE the following clubbing rates are offered:
Eagle and Three-Week World.....$2.00
" " St. Louis Republic.....$2.00
" " Industrial Record.....$2.25
" " Mine and Minerals.....$2.50
" " Daily Mining Record.....$4.00
" " Cosmopolitan.....$2.10

This offer applies to old subscribers renewing their subscription to the EAGLE and paying one year in advance; also to new subscribers paying one year in advance.

The regular subscription to these papers is largely in excess of the clubbing rate given above, and any one desiring to secure two papers (the EAGLE and any one of the others named) for a little more than the price of one should take advantage of this liberal offer.

TWICE-A-WEEK REPUBLIC.

Every Monday and Thursday a newspaper as good as a magazine—and better, for it contains the latest by telegraph as well as interesting stories—is sent to the subscriber of the Twice-a-Week Republic which is only $1 a year.

The man who reads this paper knows all about affairs political, domestic and foreign events; is posted about the markets and commercial matters generally.

The woman who reads the Republic gathers a bit of information about household affairs and late fashions and recreation in the stories that come under both the headings of fact and fiction. There is gossip about new books and a dozen other topics of especial interest to the wide-awake man or woman.

HOW TO SELL ORE.

Rich ore when shipped to a smelter should always be sampled at the mine and sacked, and its true value declared to the railroad that transports it. This may result in a higher shipping rate, but then the carrying company insures it, and will pay its value in case of a wreck, or in case of stealing. But in reality there is no danger of loss by stealing if the railroad is properly advised of the high value of the mineral. There is much unnecessary worry among miners about their ore. Reputable transportation companies like the railroads cannot afford to lose goods committed to them, and in addition, when they know goods are of high value they always take extra precautions for their protection. It is the same with smelters. There was a time, twenty years or more ago, when there were just causes for suspicion of a few concerns, whose managers were unscrupulous. But there is absolutely no foundation for such ideas now. The standing of the well known smelters is today as high as that of any banking concern that ever existed. They could not afford to have any other kind of reputation. Sample your ore before shipping, ship it in proper condition and with due regard to all the business formalities, get duplicate bills of lading from the railroad, keep one of these and mail the other to the smelter, and then await the returns in peace.

If the weights and assays do not come up to your own, write at once courteously and ask for a resample. It will always be made, and without extra charge. Of course mistakes may occur, but the chances are a thousand to one that it will be in your sample and not in that of the smelter. It is their business to sample correctly. An error in that part of their work is felt as a disgrace, just as would be a mistake in addition in a bank clerk, and the man who makes it is instantly discharged. It is always advisable in shipping a small lot of rich ore, to request the smelter not to use it until you have had the opportunity to examine the returns and accept them. This is often done. Above all things, make complaint courteously, and never fail to acknowledge it when the returns (as they often will) exceed your own expectations.

As to prices, remember that no smelter can afford to pay as high a price proportionately for a small lot of ore as for a large one, and do not expect it. Remember again that the reduction company depends for his business and profits on the consignments of yourself and other miners, that the small producer of today is often the large producer of tomorrow, and that he wants your mineral and is always ready to pay as high a price for it as his business necessities will permit.—Mining Reporter.

NATIONAL MINING LEGISLATION.

The following are the important clauses of a bill that has been introduced in the House of Representatives at Washington:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress, assembled, that there shall be, and hereby is, annually appropriated, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, arising from sales of public lands, to be paid as hereinafter provided to each state and territory for the establishment and maintenance of schools or departments of mines and mining in connection with the colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts, now established or which may be hereafter established in accordance with the provisions of an Act of Congress approved July 2, 1862, the sum of $10,000 for the year ending June 30, 1901, and an annual increase of the amount of such appropriation thereafter for five years by an additional sum of $1,000 over the preceding year, and the annual amount to be paid thereafter to each state and territory shall be $15,000.

"Sec. 2. That said appropriations shall be expended only for geological instruction, mining engineering, metallurgy, research in road building material and its proper application, and the branches of learning pertaining thereto, including the various branches of physical, natural, and economic science and for the facilities of such instruction, research and experiment, in order to promote a liberal and practical education and secure the most intelligent use, conservation and development of the mineral resources of the country.

"Sec. 3. That the benefits of this Act shall apply to the several organized territories within the United States, and the appropriations hereby made shall be paid, in the manner and on the conditions herein specified, to the colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts now established or hereafter to be established by the legislatures of said territories, respectively. In any state or territory where a school of mines has been established by the legislature thereof, separate from the colleges or universities hereinbefore named, the appropriation hereby made shall be paid in the manner hereinafter specified to the duly authorized treasurer of such school of mines.

"Sec. 6. No portion of said moneys shall be applied directly or indirectly, under any pretense whatever, to the purchase, erection, preservation, or repair of any building or buildings; provided, however, that a sum not exceeding twenty per centum of any annual appropriation received by any institution may be used in the construction, erection, equipment or building of special apparatus and machines or plants necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act.

Sec. 7. That a detailed report of all operations conducted by the respective schools or departments of mines, during each year ending the thirtieth day of June, shall be transmitted on or before the first day of the following November to the governor of the state or territory in which said college or school is established, and a printed copy of said report shall be sent to each school or department of mines herein provided for, and to the Secretary of the Interior. Said report shall contain a statement of all experiments and work of practical and scientific nature conducted during the preceding year, which may be considered of special value to the mining and metallurgical industries, together with the condition and progress of such school or department, including a general information as to the number of its professors and students, its courses and methods of construction, its library and general equipment. Bulletins or supplementary reports shall be published by said schools or departments from time to time on subjects of importance to the mining community or to the interest of any particular branch of mining industry or mining districts. Such bulletins or reports and the annual reports of the several schools or departments of mines, whether printed separately or as parts of the reports of the institutions with which said schools or departments are severally connected, shall be transmitted in the mails of the United States free of charge for postage under such regulations as the Postmaster General may from time to time prescribe.—Mining Reporter.

"MEASLY PORK" IN NEW MEXICO.

Press Bulletin No. 43, sent out by Prof. B. O. Wooten, from the Agricultural College and Experiment Station at Las Cruces, contains valuable information concerning needed sanitation in the pork production of this territory. Much infected pork has been noticed during the past year at different places in New Mexico, and those who are in the habit of eating it should use at least necessary caution in its preparation for eating. The EAGLE publishes Prof. Wooten's article in full which is as follows:

"Not infrequently fresh pork sold at the meat markets of this territory (as well as elsewhere) is affected by the larval stage of the common tape worm, and when so infected it is known as 'measly pork'. The larval stage was originally described as a worm parasitic on pork and called by the Latin name of Cysticercus cellulosae. A better understanding of the subject may be obtained by a story of the life history of the common tape worm, which is parasitic in the intestines of man as this will show the relation of the worm to 'measly pork'.

The common tape worm (Taenia solium) is a worm which varies in length, when mature, from ten to thirty feet. The end by which it is attached, known as the head or 'scolex', is about as large as the head of an ordinary pin and is furnished with a number of suckers and hooks by means of which it attaches itself to the walls of the small intestine. It is egg-shaped and tapers into a neck portion. The whole of the body behind the head is segmented, the first segments being so small as to be hardly visible to the naked eye. These segments which are continually being budded off from the scolex, gradually increase in size until they reach maturity. The mature segment, called a proglottis (generally from the 450th to the 600th), is from one-fourth to three-eighths of an inch long by a little over an eighth of an inch wide and about one sixteenth of an inch thick. ### THURSDAY MARCH 14, 1901.

England wants to revive the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, and to immediately harmonize all differences existing between England and this country.

Legislation is now in process of incubation at Santa Fe, providing for a salary of $5,000.00 to be divided among game wardens of the territory, and their assistants. The governor is supporting this measure vigorously. There is little likelihood, however, that it will become a law.

THE COAL OIL INSPECTION LAW.

The Council did repeal the coal oil inspection law, but with the understanding that another would be enacted in its stead. Thus we see an evident purpose to retain it in effect, even though it be slightly changed to fool the people. The republican territorial convention demanded its repeal, and so they will doubtless repeal the law as it now stands, and then enact a new law on the subject. Thus they, the republicans, would claim that they had complied with the demands of the people. See if this does not come true.

OUR LAW MAKERS.

So far no legislation of special benefit to the people of New Mexico, has been enacted by our law making body now in session at Santa Fe. Some fifteen or twenty bills have passed and been signed by the Governor, but they are all insignificant matters. The Springer school law is good and may protect the young to some extent from the injurious effects of cigarettes and tobacco. However, it is doubtful if many will be thus benefited, as even children get tobacco when they want it. If their parents do not object, all the laws in the statutes if directed at this evil, can not prevent the use of tobacco.

THE DEMOCRATS GOT LEFT.

The New York Journal says the democrats in congress traded votes for the administration bills relating to Cuba Porto Rico and the Philippines, for votes for appropriations for rivers and harbors in the sections represented by the democrats, and that the bill failed to pass thus leaving the trading democrats with nothing to show for their votes cast for the McKinley policy. This serves them right, and the constituents of those same vote traders would serve them right if they left them at home hereafter and sent others in their places who would honestly and faithfully represent the people and not the interest of a few fellows only, who want fat contracts for improving rivers and harbors.

THE NEW TOWN.

The impression prevails that the Rock Island people will build a big town at Santa Rosa, or in that vicinity, and already many are figuring on going there. We hear such talk almost daily. It is said that at least thirteen newspaper men in the Territory, are aiming to be first on the ground. If the Chactaw road crosses there and the North Beatern and Rock Island people put shops, foundry and hospitals there, we may expect a lively town. It is surrounded by a fine stock country, and considerable farming country, and with the railroad shops, foundry and the junction with the Chactaw road which is now coming this way, it would soon make one of the best towns in New Mexico.

CHANGE OF COUNTY SEAT.

J. H. Lightfoot, editor and one of the proprietors of the Capitan Progress, published at Capitan, is a visitor in the capital, and with the assistance of ex-Sheriff P. F. Garrett of Las Cruces, is working to have the legislature pass a bill to permit the citizens of Lincoln county to vote for a change of county seat, at present at Lincoln. The candidates for county seat honors are Lincoln, White Oaks and Capitan. The latter is a new town but has the advantage of having the largest population and of being the terminal of the El Paso and Northeastern railroad. Lincoln is only a few miles from the railroad and almost in the center of the county. White Oaks is over twenty miles from the nearest railroad and proposed railroad and considerable distance away from the center of the county.—New Mexican.

The foregoing from the Santa Fe New Mexican is misleading as regards White Oaks. In the first place if White Oaks is a candidate for county seat the EAGLE has never heard anything of it, and secondly: as to the distance from railroad, the New Mexican's statement is not correct. White Oaks is five miles from the main line of the Rock Island extension, and twelve miles from the junction of the Capitan coal road branch to the Rock Island main line. As to locations suitable for county seat the reader need only look at the map to determine for himself.

Great excitement reigns of Gallup over the discovery of oil. Several thousand acres of land have been located and the people of the town are rejoicing. This probably accounts for the repeal of the coal law.

A revolution is brewing in Brazil which is likely to overthrow that government.

The deadlock in the Montana legislature was finally broken just before adjournment by the election of Gibson, democrat.

Ex-President Harrison is said to be dangerously sick as a result of exposure at President McKinley's inauguration.

Warehouse receipts—repealed.
The provisions of the bill take effect July 1st.

The Annual Statements of Insurance companies represented by S. M. Parker, of this place, are published in this issue of the EAGLE. The patrons of these companies will probably be interested in these statements, hence the reference.

Emperor William is rapidly recovering from the effects of injuries received from the hand of an anarchist. The hide of royalty seems to be in constant danger of being punctured.

OSCURA COPPER CAMP.

Considerable activity is being maintained in the Oscura copper district. Capital is beginning to take hold with a meaning. A number of claims have changed hands; and New York capital is putting in a leaching plant for treatment of the ores.

A Chicago company is also figuring on a plant, preliminaries have already been concluded, such as options on grounds, water and claims in near proximity to building sites selected.

Capt. Doherty is in this week from the camp, and is convinced so he informs the EAGLE that one or more leaching plants will be in operation out there this summer. The plants will besides handling its own ore, treat that of all who desire it, charging a percentage, after the plan of the ordinary custom mill in our quartz mining camps.

The nearest railroad point to this new camp is Malagra, 15 miles east of the district. A supply store has been recently located there, and a postoffice has been applied for. Malagra is the first station on the Northeastern south of Three Rivers.

THE PRESIDENTIAL INAUGURATION.

The best account of the inauguration of McKinley and Roosevelt we have seen was by Jas. Creelman and appeared in the New York Journal. It is as follows:

Washington, March 4.—With rain and hail swirling down from the inky sky upon the multitude stretched out for acres before him, President McKinley again kissed the Bible held in the hands of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and swore "to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States," and then surrounded by the black-robed court, which in a few days will decide whether the Constitution goes everywhere with the government, he declared with uplifted hand and solemn voice that "Our institutions will not deteriorate by extension and our sense of justice will not abate under tropic suns in distant seas."

It was the President's answer to the national outcry against imperialism. His face was white and drawn. His head was thrown back. His eye alone with courage.

The rain dashed slantingly against him in spite of the protection overhead.

The drenched Ambassadors and Ministers drooped like wet butterflies—scarlet, gold, green and blue.

CATARRH COLD IN HEAD

HAZING AT WEST POINT. Since another case of hazing has recently taken place at West Point, resulting in the loss of eyes to the hazed cadet, it may be of interest to the EAGLE's readers to know what action was taken by Congress in regard to hazing at this famous American Military Academy.

"The matter was dealt with in an amendment to the military academy bill, and hereafter cadets who are found guilty of hazing will be summarily expelled from the academy, and will not be eligible for reappointment to the corps of cadets or for appointment as commissioned officers in the army, navy or marine corps until two years after the graduation of the class of which they were members. The amendment adopted by the senate provided that cadets convicted of hazing should not be eligible at any time thereafter to hold a commission in the army or navy. The two houses could not agree on the point of permanently excluding cadet offenders from the army and navy, and they accordingly compromised their differences as stated in the foregoing."

However severe this seems, it has not even checked the young devils from the brutal practice of hazing, and the last offense is probably one of the most terrible ever inflicted on a West Point cadet. The hemp method should be applied to these offenders, and if that doesn't stop hazing then the academy should be discontinued.

ANGUS ITEMS.

An Iowa itinerant has made his advent into these parts, supplying our people with stylish carriages, which were shipped in to Capitan. Back in the grain states, after a decade or so of settlement the spring outfits follow in the wake of the prairie schooner.

J. M. Rice dropped down upon us Monday noon, and after dinner he drove up to Parsons. He left his daughter at La Luz, she will come on later.

O. P. Humphry has returned from Roswell, where he went with cabbage.

Notice a find of lithographic stone in Otero County. Through Missouri and Kansas there have been hundreds of finds of lithographic stone, and it has become a synonym for "dry process."

In Illinois it is unlawful to capture or kill our free and emblematic bird, the Eagle. All our birds, hawks, jays and sap suckers included are useful to man, except about cherry time.

The White Oaks EAGLE was tardy, reached Angus Monday. The Crees are expected back from California this week. Mr. James E. Croe and wife, propose spending the summer here.

Are You Taking

Advantage of our Cut Prices? If Not, Why Not?

Taliaferro Merc. & T. Co.

The Justices of the Supreme Court drew their drenched robes about them in misery. The gorgeous masses of gold-frogged and plumed horsemen stretched through the center of the multitude were soaked to the skin. The sound of distant cannon firing and the dull boom of church bells smote the air.

For miles and miles the greatest pageant ever seen in Washington in times of peace awaited the signal for motion.

But the haggard President, in the presence of a haggard Congress, that had sat up all night—a President more powerful than any of his predecessors, a Congress more supple and cowardly than any that has preceded, talked of hope and faith and national constancy.

And the roar that came from the throat of the people was like the sound of the ocean in a storm, a roar that shied away as the rain fell more fiercely and the cold increased.

As the President talked of peace and justice he could see his soldiers, steel crested, billowing in blue and gold under the trees laden with eager men and boys.

Before him there rose out of the black mass strange structures crowded with photographers, who worked and worked as he pictured the world-wide future of the nation. To the right and left was gathered an army of newspaper correspondents. Behind him sat his pale wife, watching his easy gestures with plain emotion.

"As therefore," he cried, "so hereafter, will the nation demonstrate its fitness to administer any new estate which events devolve upon it, and in the fear of God will take occasion by the hand and make the bounds of freedom wider yet."

Again there came from the multitude a sound like the sea in agony.

The President's countenance was radiant with the promise of his utterance. He paused and looked to the right and left. His cheeks were wet with the rain blown sideways against him.

It was a scene beyond description. Between the mighty Capitol, with human beings swarming in rings around its white dome and clinging dizzily to the edges of its roofs, and the olden-capped Congressional Library, there was a host gathered from every State in the Union.

Here were bare patches on the vast stands erected by Congress for its guests, and wherever an umbrella spread its sheltering ribs, there Senators, Cabinet officers, Representatives, diplomats, Republicans and Democrats huddled together for protection. And as the torrents fell more heavily, open space grew in every direction. The crowd melted down, but troops took up the vacant spaces.

Elsewhere throughout the city the inaugural ceremony was a military spectacle pure and simple, a more flowing of bayonets through the streets. The civil element was insignificant. Armed force dominated and gave color to the scene.

It is hard to characterize this important day in American history. A pen picture of the moving bayonets that glorified the installation of an American President into office in a time of peace could serve no useful purpose.

The Governors of fifteen States paraded down Pennsylvania avenue, with their plumed and tinselled aides, as they always do. Banners were drooped, sword points lowered and heads bared before the President. All that is an old story.

But the scale of magnificence, the elaboration of ceremony, the tremendous extravagance, the assembling of an army as great as the whole national force when Mr. McKinley first took office—these things are new.

I have seen sights like to-day's in honor of royal coronations in Europe. The obvious thing, too, would be to point out the resemblance of Mr. McKinley's inauguration to the enthroning of a new monarch.

But the President's words to-day give the lie to this brilliant emblazonment of imperialism. The President has given his promise. The nation must wait to see what to-day's august ceremony means.

The swarthy Porto Rican soldiers who marched past the President and saluted him to-day are sworn, like the President himself to defend the Constitution of the United States. It is yet to be seen whether that Constitution means anything to them. The court which administered the oath of office to Mr. McKinley this afternoon will determine that fact before a month passes.

And that will be more important than anything that occurred in Washington to-day.

The President stood under the shelter of the almost royal pavilion, while the Justices of the Supreme Court stood helpless in the rain, but, after all, the Supreme Court will say whether all this imperial splendor is an empty boast or not.

OF LOCAL INTEREST.
BOUGHT 1,000 GOATS.
E. T. Collier has purchased 1,100 head of graded Mohair goats from Oscar Hyde, and will locate them on his ranch east of White Oaks.

RANCH FOR SALE.
Frank Crumb advertises his ranch for sale in this issue of the EAGLE. This is an excellent ranch, garden and dairy location, and has valuable improvements.

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
If you are interested in blooded Jerseys read the ad of Isaac Ellis, on the first page of the EAGLE. Here is an opportunity to buy Jerseys that is not to be found every day. Read the ad.

THE RITA FORCE.
B. H. Dye, is now working a day and night shift on the Rita. Most of the miners in camp are at work again now, and should the compromise start up the camp will be lively, and full of life once more.

BASE BALL.
Is it not about time to organize a team for the coming summer's games? The White Oaks boys were in it last year among the local teams, and we should have the crack nine of New Mexico this summer. The juveniles should also organize, and begin practicing, they may get a challenge this season.

ALL WANT IT.
The compromise has been again jumped this week. More litigation, J. A. Gumm located the claim under the name of "Lady Ellen". Messrs. Bean and Prichard are thought to be interested with Mr. Gumm, although neither of their names appear as principal. This comedy of errors, as it has been termed by the diffident spectator, may yet drift into heavier drama.

RICHARD HAMILTON ENTERTAINS.
The just now budding society of White Oaks, was entertained Monday night by Richard Hamilton. The young gentleman was honored in addition to his friends and associates in the city, by the presence of two charming young ladies from Buffalo, New York, Miss Flint and Miss L. Van Finn. The guests enjoyed a delightful evening. Richard's debut as host was pronounced perfect.

OUR MAIL SERVICE.
What is the matter with our mail service is the question now asked by almost every citizen. For two weeks there has been no regularity in the service for White Oaks and other points in Lincoln county. Our mail this week is three days late when received, and we receive none at all about half the time. Postmaster Brown should report these difficulties to the department, and if possible ascertain and remedy the evil.

HORSE STOLEN.
S. S. Mendenhall, the contractor, was in the city from his camp near Carrizozo Monday to get officers after a horse thief, who had taken one of his horses from his camp Sunday night. Mr. Mendenhall's description of the stolen horse is as follows: Dark brown pony, black when shed off, 14 1/2 hands high, small brand on left jaw, foretop and fetlocks freshly trimmed, shod all around. He offers $25.00 reward for thief and horse, $10.00 for the horse and $15.00 for the thief.

The North Homestake, or the Apex Gold Mining Company, is certainly composed of a clever set, diplomats. A kind of now you see it and now you don't see it. However, that part of the "Choir Invisible" relation toward the citizens of White Oaks, is undergoing an X-ray exposition, and something akin to genuine revelation is crowding the tapis, and will be forced to a conclusion of its own weight if there isn't an about face in the company's modus operandi poco pronto.

PERSONAL MENTION.
A. Ziegler returned from eastern markets Monday.
Geo. L. Ulrich is still in the Nogal district looking after his mining interests.

Take your laundry to Schofield, the Barber, agent at White Oaks, for Troy Steam Laundry, El Paso. Phil Prager, of St. Louis, and Wm. Prager, of Roswell, were here on a business mission Tuesday.

H. Biggs, of the firm of McPherson & Biggs, was in the city Tuesday after supplies for his saw mill crew.

The O. K. Lumber company is kept busy lately supplying the demand for lumber at the mines here, and at the new town of Carrizozo.

L. W. Stewart has gone into the goat business. He bought two hundred head of Nannies from Oscar Hyde's flock. Price $4.00 per head.

Karl Keith and family and Coke Keith will leave in a few days en route to Oklahoma to make the run into the Kiowa and Comanche reservations when they are opened for settlement, which will be about August first.

A. Ziegler, of the firm of Ziegler Brothers, who has been east the past month, returned yesterday. Look out for the biggest stock of Spring Goods ever shown in White Oaks. Prices that will surprise you. It will cost you nothing to look, come and see for yourself.

Harry Comrey is in from his ranch. Harry got caught in the gear of the engine of his well machine this week, and narrowly avoided a necessarily serious accident. The machine after eating a portion of his jumper let him free himself, sustaining a hard knock on the arm which caused him a trip to town.

March wind and its consequent dirt, and mill tailings are here. There will be rapid changes in real estate here during the next sixty days.

The water company is pushing development of their springs in Water Canyon. This company means business, and this time the water will come.

SUNDAY SERMONS: P. Con. church—H. G. MILLER, pastor: Morning, 11 a. m., "Spiritual Fullness." Evening, 7:30 p. m., "Human Expansion."

Thirteen lumber teams arrived today from the McPherson Biggs saw mill with lumber for the O. K. Building & Lumber Co. The company now has on the yards on Livingston street 85,000 feet of lumber, embracing all kinds and all grades of lumber from water trough planks to the very best building material.

WILL TRY THE SHEEP BUSINESS.
Harry and John Gallacher are prospecting for water in the vicinity of Spence Bros' ranches in the Gallo country. As soon as water can be obtained, the boys intend to locate a ranch and stock it with sheep. There is wisdom in this action, as the sheep business in New Mexico is a paying industry. The location they have selected is among the very best in the country if water can be obtained, and it is reasonably certain that it may be had in quantity. Harry and John Gallacher are among our most worthy young men and the EAGLE hopes their efforts may fittingly rewarded.

AN HONEST MEDICINE FOR LA GRIPPE.
George W. Waitt, of South Gardner, Me., says: "I have had the worst cough, cold, chills and grip and have taken lots of trash of no account but profit to the vendor. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the only thing that has done any good whatever. I have used one bottle of it and the chills, cold and grip have all left me. I congratulate the manufacturers of an honest medicine." For Sale by Dr. Paden.

A GOOD COUGH MEDICINE FOR CHILDREN.
"I have no hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says F. P. Moran, a well known and popular baker, of Petersburg, Va. "We have given it to our children when troubled with bad coughs, also whooping cough, and it has always given perfect satisfaction. It was recommended to me by a druggist as the best cough medicine for children as it contained no opium or other harmful drug." Sold by M. G. Paden.

* Nasal Catarrh quickly yields to treatment by Ely's Cream Balm, which is agreeably aromatic. It is received through the nostrils, cleanses and heals the whole surface over which it diffuses itself. Druggists sell the 50c. size; Trial size by mail, 10 cents. Test it and you are sure to continue the treatment.
Announcement.
To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrh of the nose, the proprietors prepare Cream Balm in liquid form, which will be known as Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid form embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation.

The recent publication in several daily papers that Nellie Prettyhair, a quarter-breed Indian girl, had been left $1,000,000 by John Dillon, a rich ranchman, for having saved his life from drowning in the Grand river, near Claremore, I. T., four years ago, develops a remarkable coincidence, says the St. Louis Republic. In this city lives Mrs. John Marquette, aged 30, a half-breed Indian woman. Her husband is a half-breed Canadian, and they are very poor. Mrs. Marquette's maiden name was Annie Nadeau, and she is descended from the Pottawatomie "Leannow" tribe of Pokagon. She was born at Bertrand, Mich., in May, 1870. She was called "Nellie Prettyhair," on account of the beauty of her hair. She was in the Indian territory about 1900. Standing one day on the bank of the South Canadian river, between Lexington and Purcell, she saw a man attempting to cross with a wagon and team. Team and wagon were sinking in a quicksand when she came to the man's assistance, and helped him out. He thanked her and went away. She did not know his name, and never saw or heard of him since. The Nellie Prettyhair enjoying Dillon's fortune under the name of Annie Truethath Dillon, as required by Dillon's will, tented with her Cherokee parents on the Grande river, near Claremore. Four years ago, when aged 16, she saw a man struggling helplessly in the swollen waters. Ridding in on her pony she saved his life. He did not thank her, but died three months later and left $1,000,000 in gratitude. It is reported that she is engaged to Dillon's bitterest enemy in life—John Liger, a cowboy, who tried several times to kill Dillon. If Annie weds him, relatives threaten to break the will. Mrs. Marquette has employed attorneys to investigate the case and to learn if the man whose life she saved was Dillon.

A Chicago school has lately furnished a very pretty instance of a child's resourcefulness. Some people having complained of a dog which had no home and no visible means of support, a policeman was detailed to shoot the animal. When he appeared near the schoolhouse with his revolver, one of the little girls asked him what he was going to do. He told her, and she begged him not to shoot the animal. "But I must," he said, "for he hasn't any license." "We'll get him a license if you won't shoot him," said the little girl, and so the policeman granted a few days' respite. The little girl interested eight or ten of her friends, arranged for a "show," consisting of speeches, recitations and music, to be given by themselves, and persuaded their teacher to announce it, with its charitable object. They cleared enough money to raise the dog from a condition of vagrancy to a position of affluence and independence. They paid his license fee, bought him a new collar, and were even able to deposit a small sum with the butcher to provide their canine friend with juicy marrow-bones and choice cuts of chunk steak in days to come.

Illinois has an apparent right to claim to be the woman's paradise, so far as public recognition of her business capacity is concerned. On the board of trustees of the State university are two women, Mrs. Alice A. Abbott and Mrs. Lucy L. Fowler, both of Chicago, and members of that city's Woman's club. Mrs. Abbott began her work for the public in the civil war, and has continued it in many directions ever since. Mrs. Fowler is known for her interest in and efforts in behalf of youthful offenders against the law.

A Missouri woman recently was the victim of a most peculiar accident, and, as it did not result in any permanent injury, we can afford to laugh at it. She was a very stout woman and was standing on a barrel training some vines when the top of the barrel caved in. The husband tried in vain to extricate her, and was finally compelled to roll her to a blacksmith shop a quarter of a mile away. There the iron hoops were removed and the woman regained her freedom.

The dandy of a recent Wichita (Kan.) fair was a better county farmer, who wore a Knox hat, a $68 suit of clothes, an eight dollar pair of shoes, kid gloves and a bat-and-craw, that made him look as if he was going to fly away. The Eldora Republican says that the girls all wanted to eat him up.

"The old superstition against opals is slowly but surely passing away, and the beautiful gems with their ever-changing colors and opalescent effects are now in the front rank among fashionable women," says a wholesale dealer in precious stones.

An Indian may not vote so long as he remains a member of a tribe; but if he gives up his tribal relationship and becomes a citizen, he may vote under the same conditions as any other citizen.

Although within eight years the sum of $12,000,000 has been expended in reducing the number of Chicago's grand juries, that city lost 25 citizens last month in grand juries "accidents."

There is a case in Atchison of a man falling in love with his wife. Shortly after their marriage, the wife discovered that "Home, Sweet Home" did not appeal to her husband and that he preferred the companionship of his men friends downtown, so set to work to win him. She did not try any of the recipes for winning a husband's love found in the women's papers, says the Globe of that city, which are mixtures of pretty dresses, a smile and a kiss at the door upon the arrival of the victim; a kiss as he is about to leave after having eaten his supper (which is to be dainty, with a bunch of his favorite flowers in the middle of the table); she is also to go to the piano and win him back by singing the songs he admired during their courtship. The sensible Atchison woman discarded all such recipes. She said nothing about her husband's lack of appreciation, but simply put her shoulder to the wheel and helped him along. He was in debt. She was thrifty; he got out. She excelled in housekeeping. His meals are substantial and on time. She made his home so comfortable in an unobtrusive way that he now hates to leave it, and hurries back after business hours. The woman has one of the most devoted husbands in town. She does not brag of it, but just jogs along doing the things he likes.

In Milwaukee recently during a rain-storm several trees were set on fire by diverted electric currents. Alabama has quietly increased her territory by 200,000 acres of valuable timber land. The strip is on the state's southern boundary, and by right belonged to Alabama for nearly 70 years. In 1826 a survey was made to fix the boundary, but ten years later it was discovered that the eastern boundary line was a mile too short on the Chattahoochee river. For some unknown reason no attention was paid to the second survey, and the whole thing was forgotten. Recently some allusion to it was found in old records, the question was looked up, and after the government land office had passed upon it the strip became a recognized part of the state of Alabama.

A Louisville grocer, who sleeps over his store, was startled late the other night by a mysterious rapping in the cellar. He knew there were some spirits there, but was incredulous as to others, and he suspected burglary. He telephoned for the police. Their investigation showed a plumber calmly at work. It seems he had been ordered there two days before by the water company, on application of the grocer. He was unable to come in the daytime, and finding all the doors locked had quietly let himself into the cellar through the grating in the sidewalk.

The total cost of the Pan-American exposition to be held in Buffalo next year is estimated at $10,000,000, and John N. Scatcherd, who is chairman of the executive committee, says that the resources now in sight amount to about $6,000,000. Progress on the work of construction is proceeding rapidly, nearly 5,000 workmen now being employed. The "midway" at the exposition will cost $3,000,000. The exposition grounds will be half a mile wide and a mile and a quarter long, and will comprise 280 acres. It will open May 1, 1901.

In the course of a cross-country drag hunt on Long Island Mrs. James L. Kernochan, of New York, was thrown from her saddle after taking a double jump. Her foot caught in the stirrup and she was dragged a short distance, but she stopped the horse, remounted and regained two miles on the leaders, having to take ten jumps over rail fences on the way.

The cotton crop of the country amounted to only 5,000,000 pounds in 1793. Last year it was about 1,500,000,000 pounds, representing three-fourths of the entire crop of the world and valued at $350,000,000. It filled 9,400,000 bales, and the loss by waste incidental to the process of taking samples was not less than $7,000,000.

Inquiries have been received from the British government concerning the method of taking the American census, because it has never been able to secure such comprehensive data, or even as complete a count of population, in ten years of continuous work as the American system has secured in 12 months.

Probably at no time since the civil war have there been so few regular soldiers stationed in the United States as there are to-day. Of the 100,000 officers and men constituting our present army 11 but about 17,000 are serving abroad, mostly in the Philippines.

A Baltimore lady is lamenting the loss by theft of her wedding ring, on the inside of which is engraved: "A. W. & S. F. M. E. E. May God bless us and two agree."

The Buffalo Bird Protective society defends the English sparrow, ascribing to the birds the disappearance, in that vicinity, of the snail-worm.

"MEASLY PORK" IN NEW MEXICO. [Continued from First Page.] animal has no digestive canal, but absorbs its food through the outer walls of its body from the digested food in which it lives. There is a central nervous ganglion, or very primitive sort of brain, in the head segment, and two nerves running the full length of the body. A very primitive excretory system is also present, but the major portion of the space in the mature proglottids is occupied by the reproductive organs. Both male and female organs are present in each segment so that such mature segments are capable of reproducing themselves without the help of another individual (hermaphrodite). Mature proglottids break away from the tape worm continually and are carried out of the body in the faeces, and in this condition may exist for some time without dying.

The domestic hog, which is proverbially filthy in his habits, takes the mature proglottids into his body with his food, and in his digestive canal the eggs (which are quite numerous for each segment—in one species as many as 4,000) hatch into the larval or Cysticercous stage. These minute organisms bore their way through the walls of the alimentary canal and enter sometimes the liver, sometimes the muscles, and at other times the fat of the animal. Here they cause a little sack to form around them, which becomes filled with a fluid in which the animal lives. When pork is so infested it is said to be "measly" and if eaten either raw or partly cooked is apt to give rise to tape worms in the human body, since each Cysticercous develops into a new scolex, which gives rise to the worm.

By this may be seen how careless sanitation may cause one to become the unwilling host of a very unpleasant parasite, to say the least, and in reality to assume no little risk of life itself; for something like a hundred cases of death from tape worm are on record.

The remedies are patent. If you will eat fresh pork and your stomach is not thoroughly unaffected by your imagination, then be sure that your pork has been raised in very clean quarters. Thoroughly cooked pork may be eaten without danger, as the temperature of boiling water is fatal to Cysticerci.

The more important lesson, however, and it is strongly emphasized by the frequency with which "measly pork" is met, is the necessity of better sanitation. Under the present methods, it is entirely possible for the nature proglottids to be blown with dust into the watering troughs for animals, and into open wells or uncovered ollas.
