So general is the feeling in this country that Roosevelt will be elected that there is none of that business depression usually felt during a presidential campaign.

The late spectacular army maneuvers at Manassas has proven to be such a grand opportunity for the officers to display their brilliant new uniforms that Gen. Corbin has decided to give a return performance next year.

One of our modern authors says that after a man has learned the "mere craft" of writing the secret of his success lies entirely in systematic and hard work. Sure! We have noticed the same thing when a man has learned the mere craft of swinging a pick.

There is no doubt that Judge Parker thinks it expedient to declare that the gold standard is "irrevocably established" but we would like to know before the campaign is over whether Judge Parker believes in the gold standard against which he voted in 1896 and 1900.

The government revenue sharps have discovered that a system of reciprocity has been going on between this country and Canada for some time past. Our neighbors across the border have been smuggling cigars into the United States concealed in bales of hay while our fellows have been sending hay over there wrapped up in cigars.

Dead republicans are very frequently the subject of oratorical eulogy by democratic speakers, but live ones, never. It is passing strange how much hatred can be expressed for the living, and how beautiful the sayings for those who have passed beyond. Lincoln and McKinley are now patron saints, but when alive no language of censure was too strong.—San Marcial Bee.

Our democrtic friends have been beating about since the nomination of their candidate for delegate to congress, for some kind of special issue, seeing their platform is a little weak on real issues and have finally settled down on the kinfolks proposition. They say he has influential relatives in congress as well as in Washington city, who will help him fix up and introduce his little bills prior to their being laid away on the shelf, along with those of the minority. Thus the campaign issues are very much simplified and so far as the democrats are concerned, settle down to this—Money and "My relatives."

In his speech of acceptance Tom Watson thus describes the attitude of the democratic party:

"How is it with the Democratic party? Our political history has never seen a situation so ludicrous as that which the national Democracy now holds. Lean understan how the citizens can work for the Republican party and vote its ticket with enthusiastic zeal. If the Republican party represents his ideals of government, then he is justly proud of it, can justly confide in it, for it has stood by its principles through storm as well as sunshine: and no matter how bad you and I may think its creed is, we are bound to admit that the Republican party has a creed, is willing to fight for it, is willing to cling to it in defeat, and continue to struggle for it until victory comes again. But why any human being should in the year 1904, vote the national Democratic ticket is something that passes my untutored comprehension."

Senator W. H. Andrews in his letter accepting the nomination for Delegate to Congress pledges himself to stand by the platform of the party, and if elected to work for the admission of New Mexico as a state under its present name and within its present boundaries, and the donation of a liberal amount of the public land for the benefit of her schools and other public institutions, the utilization of all the waters belonging to the territory, by the erection of the necessary reservoirs for the reclamation of her arid lands, the creation of another judicial district and every other measure for the furtherance of the industries and interests of our people. What more can be asked of any man? Those that know Mr. Andrews know that his promise is as good as his bond and judging from his past record in this territory it is easy to predict that, outside of his official duties, he will aid very materially in developing the wonderful resources of New Mexico at large.

IRRIGATION CONGRESS.

The annual session of the New Mexico Irrigation Congress which meets at Albuquerque on the 11th and 12th of this month has formulated a program of exercises which is published for the information of those interested.

The exercises will be an interesting series of addresses and discussions bearing on all subjects connected with reclamation of our arid lands, interspersed with both vocal and instrumental music.

Addresses will be delivered by Mayor Frank McKee, of Albuquerque; Hon. T. B. Catron, Frank H. Pierce, Prof. Luther Foster, of the Agricultural College; Hon. Frank Springer, Dr. Elwood Mead, of the Department of Agriculture; Hon. George H. Maxwell, of Chicago; John B. Harper, W. C. Barnes and others, the whole to wind up with a reception at the Commercial Club rooms Wednesday evening, Oct. 12, at which time the members will be expected to give some practical demonstrations in the various methods of irrigation.

Lincoln county delegates will be excused from active participation in the concluding exercises on the ground of having no dam projects on hand at present.

THE MATTER OF PENSIONS.

A short time ago one of the democratic papers of the territory, in touching upon Theodore Roosevelt's letter of acceptance, took occasion to remark that the author of that letter, among other things, was decidedly in favor of the "pension graft."

This makes us wonder if it is merely a coincidence that this kind of rot about pensions should always come from democratic sources. To the credit of the majority however, it only crops out in those papers run by the younger and more callow generation, and is seldom, if ever, seen in those managed and controlled by men who saw fighting from the fore front of the Confederate line of battle.

Pension graft, forsooth! Let us see how that kind of a statement will size up with the records.

When Cleveland went into office for the second term, he started out in his inaugural address with the statement that "every community in the land has its well known cases of pension frauds," and the congress of that year having a majority of his own kind took it for granted that he spoke the truth, because it was in accord with their own way of thinking, so they made an appropriation of $400,000 two years in succession, to hunt out those gray haired criminals, who were perpetrating such wholesale robbery and outrage upon a paternal and over indulgent government. Spies, sleuth hounds and inquisitors, under the guise of Special Agents of the Pension Office, were sent forth into every nook and corner of this broad land where a Union soldier had penetrated in quest of an honerable livelihood. The search was as thorough and relentless as prejudice and partisan rancor could make it. Hundreds of thousands of pensions were held up when veterans were dying in want and penury every day while the hunt went merrily on.

What was the result?

Just 145 convictions were secured, and of these twenty-seven were ex-soldiers of the Union army!

Twenty-seven out of a little over 750,000 at that time on the pension roll!

And still the cry of pension fraud cuts the serene atmosphere.

Yet no one has ever heard of any part of that $800,000 being turned back into the United States treasury.

Today every one of the states which went into the Confederacy Combine in 1861, are paying pensions to their disabled soldiers, and every Union soldier who settled in the south or invested his money there, is taxed to help pay these pensions, and they do it cheerfully and without any thought of evasion or innuendo after the manner of those latter day reconstructionists. Besides the government has pensioned the soldiers of every war it has ever had, in their old age, even to those soldiers of the Mexican war who went into the rebellion, and no American citizen deserving the name has questioned the justice of it. Hence why these slurs and allusions to pension graft, when it comes to veterans of the Union army, who fought to a finish the most relentless war of modern times, and gave to the United States the proudest position on the map of the world.

There is no civilized country on the face of the green earth, but honors its aged and veteran soldiers.

But this flotsam—this uncatalogued element born, after the time of a great political and social upheaval—instead of this frothing contumely and abuse they should do honor to the name of every soldier of the Republic for giving them what little manhood there is hid away in their anatomy.

For if the south had gained its fight, it would today, if it had held together so long, be the only civilized entity on the face of the globe to recognize human slavery, and these individuals not being of the blue blood—the aristocracy and perforce not owners of "niggers," their position in the [illegible] would have been most

THE CANDIDATES.

It seems to be generally conceded that the ticket nominated by the republicans of the county in their recent convention, is the strongest, cleanest and most satisfactory of any put forth by either party for many years, and ought to carry by a good, safe majority throughout.

THE SHERIFF.

Mr. Lutz, who heads the ticket as sheriff, is no new man to the people of the county, he having been its treasurer once by appointment and once by the votes of the people.

While in that office the taxes of the county were collected closer and more uniformly than at any time in many years, and all the public monies were rigidly accounted for at the expiration of his stewardship. Mr. Lutz is active, energetic and care-taking in his methods, and will bring all these qualities into his new office if elected, concerning which there is not the shadow of a doubt.

TREASURER AND COLLECTOR.

This office cannot help falling into good hands, as the gentlemen on either ticket are honorable and upright citizens of the county and have been well known for years.

Mr. Canning is one of the very best business men of Lincoln county, capable of handling millions and keeping every minute of his transactions well in hand without ever losing his head. As to his integrity and honesty there can be no shadow of doubt. He is the ideal man to have the handling of the county funds. There is nothing small or narrow in his make-up and his friends should show their appreciation of his robustness by giving him a good round majority in next November's election.

PROBATE JUDGE.

The nominee for Probate Judge, Francisco Gomez, has now held that office for the past two years, to the entire satisfaction of those having business in probate court. There seems to be no good and valid reason for turning a capable and experienced officer down at the end of his first term, and there seems to be no indication of doing it in Mr. Gomez's case. He will most assuredly be elected.

PROBATE CLERK.

The candidate for Probate Clerk is a product of Lincoln county. He was born and raised in the town of Lincoln, where he now runs one of the principal hotels. His father Jose Montano was a merchant doing an extensive business in that town. He was one of the organizers of the republican party in the county and frequently held positions of honor and trust. His son Romaldo is a chip off the old block and will make a good officer, and is bound to get there.

ASSESSOR.

Robert Hurt will be around next year listing your property for taxes as usual, for he is sure to Hurt somebody if he isn't elected, as he deserves to and will be. You can't help but support him for he is one of the most genial and popular officers the county has ever had. Come to think about it, seeing your real estate and chattels have to be assessed, you would'n little rather have him come snooping around next spring than any one else you know.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

For these offices the party has put a full team in the field. Estolano Sanchez, of the first district needs no introduction. He has already held that office and knows just what is required for the betterment of the county and its financial affairs. He practically exemplifies that noblest work of God—an honest man—and he carries the mark with him through all the affairs of life and is bound to make his calling and election sure as the preachers say.

P. L. Krouse, of the third district, was elected two years ago by the largest majority of any one on the ticket, and there is no valid reason why he should not go in with another good round majority at the coming election. The records of the office, we are told, will show that he has voted right on all matters that have come up of vital interest to the taxpayers of the county, and the records ought to to show despite the unwarranted assertions of the opposition. He has made a good commissioner and ought to be continued in office.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

On account of the extreme youth and intense modesty of the candidate for School Superintendent, THE OUTLOOK refrains from making any personal allusions, holding it unwise to do so under protest. And after all maybe when you come to vote you had better drop one for the other fellow.

WHITE OAKS, NEW MEXICO.

For Slickers, Rubber Coats and Rubbers, go to Zeigler Bros.

Amid all the wreck and ruin of storm and flood throughout New Mexico, White Oaks still stands high and dry, without the loss of even a hen coop.

Jones Taliaferro, democratic candidate for county treasurer, has been out about a week fixing up his fences and gathering lambs for the November slaughter.

Word comes of a serious flood along the Bonito valley and serious loss to crops. The Hulbert boys had eleven acres of alfalfa and 10,000 pounds of corn washed away.

There will be a regular monthly meeting of the school board, precinct No. 8, at the school house on Friday evening, Oct. 7, to transact such business as may come before it.

Charles Spence and wife had intended to start for the World's Fair last Monday, and to visit relatives and friends in Iowa, but they still remain bottled up at home on account of the wash-out on the Rock Island.

Joe Spencer, James Lee and Gus Wingfield have taken a lease on the Old Abe mine and will go to work Monday next. This looks like business and all join in wishing these men great success and a speedy fortune.

Our stock of paper being held up on the other side of the wash-out on the Rock Island, THE OUTLOOK this week is compelled to come out a little short in body as well as raiment, like unto an Igorrote. We hope its readers will have due regard for its modesty.

Mrs. J. E. Wharton, who has been stopping for about two weeks with her daughter Mrs. Will Glenn, left for her home at the city of sand and cottonwoods last Monday morning. Mrs. Glenn has been quite sick but her many friends will be glad to learn that she is now on the mend.

George S. Treat, becoming tired of the ordinary wooden tooth-pick, and the modern steel pen, has imported a fine pair of Toulouse geese direct from Kansas City, Missouri, and hereafter will use only the quill kind. The birds are fine specimens of the feathered songster species and about the size of pumpkins. They are getting a good deal of attention from the boys on account of their cake-walk strut and handsome carriage. However, if one were to express his opinion it would be that a man who would try to raise geese in New Mexico without having a pond of water bigger than an ordinary wash-tub, would join a Baptist church four miles from water, plant his water-melon seeds in a hay mow and dig for fish worms in a pile of ashes. How doth the gentle showers,

At this present writing it looks as if the democratic papers of the territory were letting Money and the mare go it all by themselves and are turning their energies toward launching a Rodey boom. The boom, however, is liable to prove only a boomerang to them.

White Oaks was treated to a Greco-Roman wrestling match the other day with two of our stalwart citizens as star performers. It seemed to have been a case of muscle with the other ingredients left out, and the devil take he who hollers enough, and hollers fast.

This paper desires to correct the errors and omissions that crept into the write-up of the proceedings of the county convention last week on account of insufficient data furnished by one who was taking notes. In the vote on Probate Judge the ballot stood 42 for Gomez and 32 for Richardson. For Commissioner in the first district Duran got 10 votes and Sanchez 62, and the vote on Treasurer and Collector was omitted altogether, the vote standing 42 for John H. Canning and 36 for Mr. Hulbert. The editor of this paper regrets this oversight more than any of the gentlemen who were candidates before the convention can. However the candidates on the ticket can console themselves with the fact that they will not be left out in the November election.

Official Call of New Mexico Irrigation Congress.

LAS VEGAS, New Mexico, Sept. 17, 1904.

The Second Annual Session of the New Mexico Irrigation Congress will be held in the Opera House at Albuquerque, New Mexico, October 11th and 12th, 1904.

The citizens of the Territory are most cordially invited to attend the Congress, thereby materially aiding in the purposes for which the Congress is held.

The organization of the Congress will be as follows:

The officers of the Congress.
The New Mexico Delegate in the Congress of the United States.
The Governor of New Mexico.
The Governor of New Mexico.
The members of the Territorial Irrigation Commission.

Such other duties to be appointed by the Governor of New Mexico.

The Congress is to be organized by the chairman of the Territorial Irrigation Commission, at [illegible] by the mayor of the city of Albuquerque, at [illegible] by the Governor of New Mexico.

The Congress is to be addressed by [illegible] upon the general subject of Irrigation, and upon Horticultural matters in the Territory.

The Congress is to be addressed by the President of the United States, who have paid their annual dues may [illegible] vote in the Congress.

The Committee upon [illegible] the appointment of the Committee upon [illegible] who are members of the Congress, who have paid their annual dues may [illegible] vote in the Congress.

Advertised Letter List.

The following is a list of unclaimed letters lying in the post office at White Oaks, New Mexico, for the month ending Sept. 30, which if not called for in thirty days will be sent to the dead letter office at Washington, D. C.:

John R. Hurst, Manuel Aragon and Sr. Don Nieves Rodriguez.

Persons calling for any of the above letters will please say advertised.

JOHN A. BROWN, Postmaster.

Charlie Stevens, an old time White Oaks miner was in from the Bonito for several days visiting his friends and buying supplies. Charlie is now superintendent of the Iowa and New Mexico Mining and Milling company, at the head of Turkey Creek. He says the Company have all the water and timber they want right on the surface of their claims, and no end of ore, which is rich enough to pay a handsome profit. From the amount of grub and things he took out with him he intends to crowd things upon the divide.

Estrayed or Stolen.

One blue mule branded thus: A circle with "A. V. A." in center.

I will pay a liberal reward to any one giving information into the described property or $50.00 for the arrest and conviction of parties found with this stock.

NOGAL ITEMS.

George E. Sligh, who is drilling a well at Estey, for the Dividend Gold Mining Co., came to town last week to visit the folks for a few days.

Joe Haas, a young business man from Evansville, Ind., and a friend of W. J. Doering, is visiting Nogal and enjoying our incomparable climate.

Chas. Stevens and family came over from Turkey Creek Friday and took in the ball that evening, going on to White Oaks the next day.

L. R. Hunt and George L. Dillard, two first-class miners, have just completed a contract for A. R. Byrd, on his Nogal canyon properties.

J. A. Norman and wife visited our town Friday, from Parsons, and took in the ball.

A very enjoyable dance was given by Mr. J. H. Canning, republican candidate for treasurer, to his Nogal friends last Friday evening. Quite a number came in from Capitan, Carrizozo, Parsons and surrounding country, and every one expressed themselves as enjoying a first class time. Dancing was kept up until 2:30 a. m.

Nogal, with the balance of the country, has enjoyed her share of moisture the past week and as a consequence the roads are in bad condition in many places. Supervisor Pfingsten is at work however, and things will be in good shape before long. LOOKOUT.
