COUNTY NEWS.

All the rage—politics.

Jack Thornton, of the Ruidoso, is in Lincoln.

Col. Cronin took a ride up to the Fort Monday.

Laughing Joe is smiling with us now-a-days.

News scarcer than meat on a chicken's head.

Charley Bartlett was cutting alfalfa for Isaac Ellis last Friday.

Father Garnier returned home

Friday after a long jaunt over the country.

Don Egnycio, our blacksmith

started to Las Vegas, this (Thursday) morning.

Johnny, the fiddler, is back again.

Fedrick's place is chuck full of music every night now.

To my patrons in White Oaks:

After Oct. 1st, milk will be 10 cents per quart. JOHN FORSTHIE.

Read the article on the inside of this issue, under the head of "Blaine's Corruption." It's a stunner.

Jim Brent returned from the lower part of the county Sunday night, and is brimful of funny stories. As a story teller, Jim is a success.

The new billiard table at Fed-rick's saloon is a real beauty, and with the rest of the fixtures to match,

the room has a cozy appearance.

A traveling man representing A.

N. Schuster & Co., St. Louis, arrived in Lincoln Thursday evening, to sell our merchants a bill of clothing.

Our town was again supplied with grapes and peaches, last Saturday. The grapes were sold for a shilling a pound, and were worth it.

What a smile there will be on the candidate's face next Saturday, and when he goes to shake hands with you, he will nearly jerk your arm

off.

James C. Elder was in the county seat the first of the week, proving up on his land. Billy Robson and John Allen came with him, as witnesses.

Joshua Hale was in Lincoln Monday with a lot of potatoes. He drives one of the finest teams we have seen in the county and is one of the solid farmers of the Ruidoso.

Chas. E. Littlefield, of Bonito, was in Lincoln Friday with a wagon load

POSTPONED.

Hon. Anthony Joseph Will Not Be

Here on the 27th.

Last Friday word was received here from the Democratic Central Committee, of Santa Fe, that Hon.

Anthony Joseph, our next Delegate to Congress, would be in Lincoln

Saturday, September 27th. Bills were struck off from this office, and sent to every post office in the county, and, as that was the day set for the Democratic county convention, a large crowd was expected.

J. S. Lea received a letter yesterday (Wednesday) morning stating that Mr. Joseph could not possibly be here on the day set, as he had appointments elsewhere. We do not know who is to blame, but suppose it was the Central Committee at Santa Fe, who, in all probability made out the list of towns without consulting Mr. Joseph.

The mistake is regretted, for the reason that the announcement of the postponement cannot reach all of the people in time to rectify the mistake, but we can assure our readers that the trouble is no fault of parties here. Mr. Joseph said in his letter that he would probably be in Lincoln the 13th or 14th of October. We will inform our readers in due time.

ESTRAY NOTICE.

To whom it may concern:

James P. Rainbolt, the public herder, has in his custody the following estray, reported by Fernando

Herrera, viz: Color, bay; trimmed

main and tail; about six or seven years old; white hind feet and left fore foot white. Some white in forehead and branded thus: C B on left shoulder, which will be sold by public auction by said public herder to pay charges, on Monday, Oct. 20,

1884, at 12 o'clock noon, unless redeemed according to law. 41-5t

By order of Court. SAM R. CORBET, Probate Clerk.

WHITE OAKS ITEMS.

Democratic meeting in precinct

No. 8 to elect delegates to the County convention, at Lincoln,

Sept. 27th.

Meeting called to order by committee-man Bull and object of meeting made known. Messrs. Branham and Coupl nominated for chairman;

RUIDOSA--Sept. 21.

We are having lots of rain the last few days.

Frost has made its appearance but

done no damage.

Dr. Blazer, of the Agency, has been visiting Ruidoso.

Mrs. I. N. Bailey and daughter

have gone east on a visit to remain until May.

I. N. Bailey will take charge of the blacksmith shop at the Indian

Agency next month.

Chris Herring, brother-in-law of

S. J. Slane, is here on a visit from California, and in search of a location for a cattle ranch.

Capt. W. W. Brazel and daughters, Miss Ettie and Clara, have been visiting Tularosa and brought back lots of grapes and peaches.

We have found one man in Lincoln county in favor of Ben Butler.

He says the cock-eyed man of destiny ought to win, and thinks a man who will voluntarily live in Massachusetts deserves something.

Frank Lesnet, Esq., has bought the Dowling interest out entire and the firm is now Frank Lesnet. He has a stock of goods on the road from Santa Fe and will open up the old store in a few days.

A very remarkable Hale storm started on Ruidoso on Sunday, and passed over to Rio Bonito. It resulted in the marriage of Mr. John Hale and Miss Clark. It was a very enjoyable affair and a large circle of acquaintances were present. The happy couple will go to house-keeping on Ruidoso with the best wishes of all.

The Prohibition movement here has had a serious drawback. At the last meeting it was reported that

Frank Lesnet had two barrels of whiskey on the road. Thirteen members immediately resigned and came back to the Democratic ranks. A resolution was sent to St. John asking him to withdraw from the canvass. Capt. Brazel, J. C. Swartz,

Jim Conners, I. N. Bailey, and other avowed temperance leaders, are in despair.

It sadly pains us truly "loil"

Democrats to see the strife going on in the Republican Congressional camp. Why don't people let the 100 head of thoroughbred Spanish

Merino Bucks just arrived. For sale

on reasonable terms. Address,

The Golden Era.

NEWSY NOTES.

Arkansas City, Ark., had a $60,000 fire on the 8th.

"Yankee" Robinson, the well-known show man, died at Jefferson Iowa, a few days ago.

The will of the late Senator Anthony gives $200,000 to his sisters and 25,000 to public purposes.

A murderous Hungarian was lynched by his countrymen Thursday morning near Wilkesbarre, Pa.

Lottie Meyers, of Adrian, Michigan, died very suddenly from over-exertion in roller-skating on the sidewalk.

Mrs. Mary Walker lighted a fire with kerosene at Adrian, Mich., Monday morning, and was burned to death.

Oklahoma Payne was Monday released on $1,000 bail at Fort Smith, and seven of his followers were set free.

In Conway County, Arkansas, Mrs. Richard Freeman recently gave birth to two boys and two girls, all hale and perfect.

The remains of Private Henry, who was shot by the Greely party in the Arctic, have been stolen from Cypress Hill Cemetery, New York, presumably by persons who desire to investigate whether the body had been mutilated.

"Crazy" Ward, at one time a barn storming actor, attempted suicide in a police station cell at St. Louis Monday, by cutting his throat with a piece of a glass bottle. He was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition.

The receipts from saloon licenses in Chicago under the Harper law have already exceeded $500,000, and it is evident that the city treasury will have a surplus of $50,000 at the end of the year from this source of revenue.

Frank Jones, the desperado who killed Gaines and fired into several houses at Wellington, Kansas, last Saturday, was quietly lynched between 1 and 2 o'clock Monday morning by fifteen or twenty men who took him from the jail.

Thomas J. Libby, a hotel proprietor at Scarborough, Me., fatally shot Lydia Snow in a Portland hotel Friday morning, and attempted to kill himself. Both came to the hostelry Thursday night, occupied the same room, and at the time of the shooting were fully dressed.

Miss Victoria Morosini, daughter of Jay Gould's financial adviser and broker, fled from Yonkers Tuesday afternoon with Ernest Schelling, a young coachman, whom her father had discharged a few days ago. Detectives are after the fugitives, and their speedy capture is anticipated.

A man and woman, both unknown each with a bullet hole in the head, were found dead Monday, near San Bruno, California. In the man's pocket was found a card with the name of J. L. Reynolds, and over it in pencil the words, "My mother's address: Mrs. B. R. Gould, 176 State street, Brooklyn, N. Y."

Jacobson, the Finnish sailor who murdered Mr. Bodell in Chicago, was Tuesday examined by two physicians and found mentally and sound, although he trembled from excitement. Downie, who recently killed his brother, has been transferred to a cell in the boy's department of the jail, where he still indulges in wild ravings.

The daughter of John Bartlett, residing at Fitzgore, Ill., ate sardines two weeks ago, put the box away, and a few days since consumed the remainder. She became ill, was partially restored by a doctor's aid, but has since become a raving maniac. From attendance upon the girl her mother has also lost her reason, and both will be sent to an asylum.

John Langster a negro, escaped from the chain gang at Washington Tuesday morning, but the Police Officer Fowler found him secreted in an out house. Another negro came to the aid of the fugitive, and both of them wrenched his pistol from the officer, whom Langster shot dead in the presence of a crowd who refused to help the murdered man. Langster when arrested, said god told him to kill Fowler.

Mahlon Runyon, President of the wrecked bank at New Brunswick, New Jersey, fearing arrest for complicity in the thefts of the late Cashier Hill, killed himself in the bank office with a razor. Examiner Shelly is said to have discovered a deficit of $1,000,000 in the surplus, cash, and securities. Walter Corroll, a depositor committed suicide on account of his losses. The crowds in the streets were only prevented by the police from raiding the bank. Runyon is said to have overdrawn his account $20,000, and to have been the cause of the failure.

STOCK NEWS.

An exchange estimates that 3,000 well-bred bulls were imported into the territory of New Mexico during the past spring.

Jas. Arbuckle sold thirty head of fine cattle at Dallas for $9,000. One Holstein bull, bought by Godbolt, brought $600.—[Panhandle.]

When a cow or calf is seen choking grasp it and feel along the outside of its throat for the hard substance—when found, exert vigorous pressure and slide the article up into the mouth.—[Ex.]

Mr. W. B. Newton shipped to Chicago to-day a car load of yearling steers which he thinks will average 500 pounds. This is the first shipment of this class of beef from Colorado.—[Clipper.]

Killing commenced at the slaughter house to-day and the first carload of meat will leave for Chicago on Monday morning. The lessees expect to kill one hundred cattle daily.—[Victoria Advocate.]

The statement that Texas fever originates from a fly in the heel of the animal creates a great deal of amusement among old-time stock-raisers. The originator of the story is a dandy in his business.—[Ex.]

A ranchman in Fremont county, near Canon City, will cut 300 tons of alfalfa from 207 acres sowed this spring. Here is a practical answer to the oft-repeated query whether alfalfa yields at all the first year sown.—[Colorado Live Stock Journal.]

Stock sales at Caldwell last week—2,000 two and three-year-old steers at $21 and $26; 300 heaves at $30; 140 yearling steers at $17; 400 two, three and four-year-old steers at $21 and $27; 325 heaves at $21.25; 605 two and three-year-olds at $22 and $27; 400 yearlings at $17; 150 one and two-year-old steers and heifers at $16 to $18; 1,200 yearling steers at $16.25.—[N. M. Stock Grower.]

The Pecos River country, while not regarded as well adapted to maturing and developing cattle, is unquestionably one of the best breeding sections in the whole world. It is estimated that in this region, when there is a good supply of bulls, fully fifty per cent of the two-year-old heifers will each year bring calves, while the older females show an increase every year of fully ninety per cent.—[T. L. S. Journal.]

Several head of cattle died in the vicinity of Camp Supply of fever last week. The 7K outfit lost about twenty-five head and the Y. L. six or eight. The cattle had gotten out of their accustomed ranges and fed across the through trail before they were discovered and driven back, and died from the effects of the infection. We have also learned of two or three oxen, belonging to one of the freighting trains, dying in the vicinity of Dodge City from the disease. Although several through Southern Texas cattle have passed here, no cattle have died in the adjoining ranges.—[Texas Panhandle.]

Helm & Bro. have been branding some 2,000 head of young steers at the stock yards this week. They will be driven to their range in the Territory. Smith & Forsythe have brought in 1,000 head of heaves from the North Canadian for shipment. C. A. Clark & C. H. Clark, of Texas, have arrived with 2,000 head of sheep, and are holding them below for shipment. W. R. Curtis has sold out the remainder of his herd, 800 head twos and threes, for $23 and $30 to L. B. Collins. Mr. Curtis leaves for Texas to-day. Charlie Rumrill reached Caldwell with 2,000 head of twos, and is holding them for sale. Up to the present time some 30,000 head of cattle have been shipped from this point, and it is reasonable to suppose that some 20,000 more will be shipped before the season closes.—[Cor. Kansas City Live Stock Indicator.]

There is a good deal of complaint in cattlemen's circles about the disposition to crowd the ranges already stocked. New men who turn cattle on the range that is occupied are the greatest sufferers, because the cattle not located are most apt to die. The located herd will live where the strangers will all pass in their checks. But this is no excuse for taking another's range. We have the reputation of sending good beef to market, but if the range crowding business goes on much longer, we can only turn off steers. The farmers of Nebraska and other Mississippi Valley States will have to make the beef with their corn crop. It may prove profitable to sell steers, but beef is likely to be in greater demand, and yield to the seller a handsome profit. Don't crowd the range.—[Northwestern Live Stock Journal, Cheyenne, Wyo.]

Dr. Moore, Chancellor of the Denver University, thinks there should be some improvement on the branding system now in use. He has just returned from his cattle ranch in Wyoming—brown and rugged as a typical cowboy—and has assisted in branding 8,000 head of cattle. He knows it is hard work for the men and cruelty to the cattle. He says: "I am going to turn the chemistry department of this institution loose to find out what can take the place of branding." It will be strange if the result will not be the discovery of something that will remove the hair from the hide of an animal in some desired shape and spot, which will answer every purpose fully as well as the branding iron now does, and perhaps be an improvement, as a mark by which to recognize stock. Some such thing would be not only a convenience to cattlemen, but a profit as well. It is estimated—at least an item is passing around through the papers to that effect—that the damage to hides from brands amounts to not less than $1,000,000 per year. The use of some chemical in the place of the branding iron, which is altogether practicable, may be a saving of importance in the way of improved hides and consequent profits.—[Tribune Republican.]

Time Brings Its Changes.

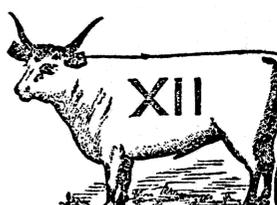

"Cowboys don't have as soft a time as they did eight or ten years ago," remarked one of the fraternity. "I remember when we sat around the fire the winter through and didn't do a lick of work five or six months of the year except chop a little wood to build a fire to keep warm by. Now we go on the general round-up, then the calf round-up, then comes haying—something that the old time cowboy never dreamed of—then the beef round-up and fall calf round-up and gathering bulls and weak cows, and after all this a winter of feeding hay. I tell you times have changed. You didn't hear the sound of a mowing-machine in this country ten years ago. We didn't have any hay, and the man who thinks he is going to strike a soft job now in a cow camp is woefully left."—[Sydney Independent.]

A Good Delivery.

The cattle contracted by the Red River Cattle Company to H. K. Tharper of New York City, and M. E. Richardson of New Mexico, were delivered by said party on last Saturday, in all 3,957 head. Andrews Bros. of this city, and A. M. Richardson of New Mexico, acted for Messrs. Tharper & Richardson in classifying and receiving the cattle. They were forwarded by rail from Bellevue, on the Fort Worth & Denver road, to Toyah, on the line of the Texas & Pacific, and from there will be driven to the ranch of the company in New Mexico.

These cattle were all female stock, with the exception of forty half-bred bulls and a portion of six hundred calves being highly bred from a good class of Durham bulls and raised in one of the best grazing districts of this State. We are prepared to say that it is the best herd for the number that has left this state for years. Taken through, we call them an extra lot of cattle and we congratulate Messrs. Tharper & Richardson on the selection of the stock and at the prices which they secured them. With the magnificent ranges they own in New Mexico and proper care in the management, this firm will soon grow from this start one of the very finest cattle properties in the Southwest. They certainly took the right step in selecting the very best class of cattle that our market could furnish.—[T. L. S. Journal.]

THE LATE CHARLES J. FOLGER.

Secretary of the Treasury.

Charles J. Folger, Secretary of the Treasury, died at his residence, Geneva, New York, on the 4th inst. He was born on the island of Nantucket, April 16, 1818. When he was twelve years old his parents removed to Geneva, Ontario county New York. He was educated in Nantucket, the Plainfield (Conn.) Academy and Hobart College, Geneva, where he was graduated in 1836. Having read law about three years he was admitted to the bar. He then opened an office at Geneva, and succeeded in establishing a good practice. In 1841 he was appointed by Governor Bouck, Judge of the Ontario County Court of Common Pleas. Soon after he was made a Master and Examiner in Chancery. In 1851 he was elected County Judge of Ontario. At the end of the four years' term he became an active politician in the interest of the Republican party. He was elected to the New York Senate in 1861, and served continuously eight years as a member of that body. For seven years of the period he led the Republicans in the Senate, for four was its President pro tempore, and was Chairman of the Judiciary Committee during the whole eight years of his Senatorial life. He was Chairman of the Judiciary committee of the State Constitutional Convention in the year 1867. After leaving the New York Senate Mr. Folger was appointed United States Sub-Treasurer, of New York City. He was next elected Judge of the Court of Appeals, and succeeded the deceased Judge Church, as Chief Judge of that court, in 1880. In the fall of the same year he was elected to continue in the same position. His appointment as Secretary of the Treasury was given him by his friend President Arthur, October 27, 1881. He was a candidate for the Governorship of New York State, in 1882, when he was overwhelmingly defeated by Grover Cleveland now the Democratic candidate for the Presidency. Mr. Folger was a widower during the last years of his life, in which one of his daughters presides as hostess at his home in Geneva. His health was bad for several months previous to his death, and his eyes were weak for years prior to the event which deprived the United States of a useful public servant. Mr. Folger leaves three children, two daughters and one son. The latter is a farmer in Minnesota.

How His Education Was Begun.

"Ah, my little boy, so you want a paper, do you? Well, you should have gone into the counting room down stairs to get it. However, never mind; I think I can find one here for you. Ah, there it is, my little man. Do you want it for yourself?" "Yeth, thur." "Well, then, you needn't pay me anything. I'm always glad to encourage little boys who want to read good, substantial literature. I'll warrant your papa has begun your education right." "I don't want it to red, thir." "What for, then?" "To make a kite, thir. It'll make a bully kite. Pa says it's the lightest paper he ever thaw."—[Chicago News.

He Didn't Carve.

A nice fresh young dude was invited into the country to spend a few days at a plain farmer's to secure a needed relaxation without excitement. He was aesthetic and accomplished, but his friends watched him the first morning of his arrival, and the cows didn't eat him. He was safe at dinner time (12 o'clock), and, taking his place at the table, he watched the lady of the house carving a chicken. She noticed him, and to relieve the embarrassment inquired: "Um, Mr. Fitzelarence, do you carve?" "Aw, I beg yoah pahdon," he replied, started from his reverie. "I didn't do anything. I only asked if you carved." "Beg pahdon, no. I nevah acquiahed the accomplishment, you know, but I paint rather well, you know, on chinaw, faw an amatah, and I wvopose taking calving lessons at the Academy this wintaw, you know." The poor lady let her knife slip, and Mr. Fitzelarence had to be taken out to the horse trough to get the gravy off his clothes.—[Detroit Free Press.

A STARTLING SCHEME.

Blaine to be Repudiated by the Stalwarts Who will Support Cleveland. New York, Sept. 11.—I have become possessed of information that is of a startling character and which I have ascertained to be true. A conference of the leading stalwart republicans will be held in this city at an early day to discuss the expedience of rallying in a body to the support of Cleveland, or rather to arrange the preliminaries for such a move. Blaine's intimate friends have been threatening ever since the nomination that he would, when elected, finish the work he so well began in 1882 by causing the defeat of Folger in this state. The stalwarts have concluded to take Blaine at the words of his friends, and it is war to the knife now. I can positively affirm that Mr. Geo. C. Gorman's recent visit to Gov. Cleveland was a part of a carefully matured plan of the stalwart leaders of this state, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania. I am sure that in less than two weeks such men as Pierce, Endicott and Forves, of Massachusetts; Conkling of New York; Cameron and Quay, of Pennsylvania; Foster, of Ohio, and New, of Indiana, will unite in supporting Cleveland. President Arthur is cognizant of the plan and fully endorses it, although for obvious reasons he will not openly come out against Blaine. The personal hostility of Blaine and his friends, and their want of wisdom in expressing that hostility have caused this movement. The matter has been kept unusually quiet, but this soon will be known all over the country. I am personally aware of the truth of this matter, and you may therefore prepare for a general rally of the stalwarts to Cleveland.

BLAINE'S CORRUPTION.

Charles H. Bergner, Esq., surprised every one by indicating that he is not inclined to vote for Blaine. Mr. Bergner is a lawyer. His father was postmaster for many years, the public printer and editor and publisher of the Harrisburg Evening Telegraph, the central party organ of the state. Dying a few years ago, his son succeeded to the ownership of the paper, and in 1876 was its editor in chief.

Everybody wanted an explanation. "It is commonly believed," said Mr. Bergner, "that Blaine was defeated for the nomination in 1876 because he was obnoxious to the Cameron ring. There is nothing further from the truth, and the only color for the statement lies in the fact that Senator Cameron was opposed to him. His defeat was accomplished by a disclosure made by Wm. H. Kemble, who was a delegate from the fourth district, Philadelphia, and had no reference direct or indirect to the relations between Senator Cameron and Mr. Blaine.

"After the sixth ballot had been completed," continued Mr. Bergner, "it became evident that the issue would be decided on the next. The Pennsylvania delegates had been voting for John F. Hartranft in obedience to the resolution of the state convention. In order that the state might make itself felt in the succeeding ballot the delegation withdrew for consultation. While they were engaged thus the late Morton McMichael and Gen. Bingham addressed themselves earnestly to the delegates in advocacy of voting for Blaine. At the conclusion of Mr. McMichael's remarks it was evident a deep impression had been made. Just as the votes were about to be taken Mr. Kemble arose. He asked the delegates to pause in the matter, and gave his opinion that the nomination of Blaine would bring defeat to the party. He referred to the damaging stories that would be told and to the damaging record Mr. Blaine had made during his public life. He drew from his pocket two canceled checks, and continued: "I never had any legitimate business transactions with Mr. Blaine. They were signed by me, made payable to his order and indorsed and returned to me through the ordinary channels of such things. When Mr. Blaine was speaker of the house of congress, I was interested in some pending legislation. I asked his assistance in a way of I favorable ruling. He agreed to rule as I asked for $5,000. I paid him the money with this check (exhibiting the $5,000 check.) Subsequently Blaine came to me and demanded $2,500 more, and I was obliged to yield and make the second payment with this check (exhibiting the $2,500 check.) "Now," said Mr. Kemble, "I defy any man to say that I ever had any other business transactions with Blaine, and I defy any man to dispute the genuineness of this endorsement in Blaine's handwriting. If he is nominated by this convention I will give these facts to the public and his defeat is certain to follow. I have no objection to a man being bought if he will stay bought, but I protest against him demanding the pay twice."

"The effect of this speech was electrical," continued Mr. Berghner. "When Kemble sat down he handed the canceled checks around among the delegates, and they were examined carefully, critically. I had them in my hand, and am satisfied that they were genuine. Immediately after the vote was taken, and the delegation decided to cast its vote for Hayes. That vote decided the issue against Blaine."

While the balloting in the Chicago convention of 1880 was in progress, General Simon Cameron, alluding the same matter, said to a neighbor that it was evident that the people were for Blaine, but owing to the evidence against him it would be fatal to nominate him.—[Harrisburg Letter to Warren (Pa.)
