COUNTY NEWS.

She fed the old hen.

The hen was fat.—[Spelling Book. She wanted her for a Christmas dinner.

This was taking a fowl advantage of the hen.

A bare Christmas indicates that there isn't any snow to speak of.

Buck Powell came in again from the Penasco on a buck-board or some other kind of rig. A cyclone or a water famine would not keep Buck away from Lincoln more than a week at a time.

John Chisum is now reported in a fair way to recover at an early day, and although still at Eureka Springs, he expects soon to be shaking hands and setting 'em up to the boys in Lincoln county.

Messrs Thornton and Vandaver, of Santa Fe, are now in Lincoln county on a hunt. They stopped over at this place Tuesday night on their way to Roswell. It is time for game down that way to hide out.

A. K. Dale and Jacob Harris, from near Roswell, each brought up a load of sweet potatoes last Friday, and the hungry Lincolnites, assisted by the editor, proprietor, the devil and all the rest of us, have been feasting on yams and sowlbelly from that day until now, and still our cry yam for more.

On account of the school directors of precinct No 1, Lincoln, not having qualified, Geo. L. Ulrich, the county superintendent, has called a special election to be held Thursday, January, 8th 1885, at the office of the justice of the peace in the town of Lincoln, for the purpose of choosing new directors.

J. J. Dolan and Chas. Fritz made the round to Las Cruces and back through the most disagreeable weather we have had this winter, but returned without meeting any serious mishap except a long, heavy pull through the snow which extended even to the valley of grapes and perennial green things.

Rabe and Jake Copeland winked down with the stars Monday night, and left with the fog the next morning. They did not give any pointer as to their errand here but Rube was seen trying to rattle a lawyer up about three hours before his usual time for breakfast so it is inferred that he was after a little advice.

Don Jose Montano and his son returned from Santa Fe last Thursday evening. They had to drive through snow nearly the entire trip across the country, to find bare ground and dry roads as they neared Lincoln. Mr. Montano reports business extremely dull in that ancient business centre, and the outlook not very encouraging for the future.

J. W. Bryan met with quite a serious accident out on his range the other day. While riding at full speed, his horse stumbled and fell, about the full force of the shock coming on Mr. Bryans leg which came underneath the horse. Fortunately no bones were broken but the gentleman will be unable to get around with comfort for some time.

Crops of all kinds were very fine on the Ruidoso the past year and prove beyond a doubt that farming will pay in the valleys of Lincoln county when conducted in a systematic manner, and with the market prices of all kinds of farm products much higher than that usually obtained for similar products in the states, there is no reason why our farmers should not grow rich in a very few years. L. Hale this year raised over 1500 bushels of oats, Joshua Hale 2,500, and Frank Lesnet 1,400. Others were equally successful according to the acreage sown. Wheat, and corn also gave an abundant yield as did potatoes, cabbage and all kinds of vegetables. John Newcomb and the Coes we learn were very successful in all their farming ventures as were about every one along the Ruidoso this year.

W. W. Paul and Robert Dickson were at the county seat on business this week.

Johnny Bolton came up smiling from the Rio Felix to load up at Jimmy Dolan's dinner this Christmas. He doesn't expect to get another square meal for a year as he has to cook for himself out at the ranch.

The last heard of Santa Claus he had packed his five-cent traps on a burro, at Las Vegas and started for the lower country, but after getting as far as the Pecos river switched off and pulled his freight for Santa Fe, where there was a lot of snide rings for sale, at a terrible crash in prices. The old fraud imagines he has struck a fat lay-out in that town, where about everybody seems to be anxious to unload their surplus stock, but just let him try to work them off on the people of this county about Christmas and there will be something in the atmosphere besides snow-flakes and gravel. We have always held a grudge against the old sneak since years ago he left us a cooked goose egg and a mitten, about an inch long, one Christmas Eve.

The Optic wants some one to furnish that office with the present address of Taylor & Killen whose former post office was Galena in Nogal Canon, this county. D. C. Taylor, now of Bonito, can probably tell more about that matter than any one else. Better write to the Optic, Colonel, they may be in possession of the fact that a fortune has been left you in the old country, or a goat ranch somewhere up in Utah. Stranger things than that have happened to men who are not nearly as handsome and a good deal more lonesome than yourself.

WHITE OAKS ITEMS.

Our stores present a holiday appearance. The stamp mill is still working on Homestake ore.

E. E. Albright is suffering with a sprained ankle.

Mr. Wauchope has a six-horse team hauling ore.

The assessment work for '84, in this vicinity, is about finished.

Joseph Biggs has returned from the Bonito, where he has been doing assessments.

S. W. Lloyd has discovered a spring near the Oscuras which he thinks is a bonanza.

Mr. and Mrs. Slane, Eagle Creek, are visiting here and will not return until after the holidays.

The old settlers say that the recent snow fall is the heaviest ever known in this portion of New Mexico.

Manager Rhode, Jicarilla, was in town Saturday, and is confident that his concentrator will be a success.

The young people of this place have been using the late fall of snow about as melodiously as young people do elsewhere, considering it was sent for their enjoyment.

John Woodland, Geo. L. Ulrich, Oscar Dyer and Emil Ozanne will leave here some time in January for Mora county to assist Col. Jewett, who has a government surveying contract.

It is reported here that arrangements have been made to put in a large stamp mill at an early day. The parties are well known, but do not want their names given to the public at present.

Dr. Reid and his partner, H. Hanning, have dissolved, and Dr. Paden, as mutual friend, will be associated with Dr. Reid in the business until the affairs of the old firm can be satisfactorily adjusted.

Cris. Ebner says: "Ven I puy's peef I puy's mit te schtamps unt nit gub and chaw-ponc. So mien frient ven you puy's meat of me you shust schlaps down to cash unt you gits your schteak unt schin-ponc. You forschtay him, ugh?"

The Hor estake is still pushing work steadily ahead. Col. Heman says that neither snow nor a broken arm can stop it now. The Colonel has discarded the lumber he has been carrying around on his arm for some time past, and will soon be ready to take a tumble to himself or anyone else again.

PENASCO--December 18.

We are having considerable snow and very cold weather at present.

Mr. Wm. Keeney, one of Agua Chiquita's politest gentlemen, is going to El Paso to spend the holidays.

Preston Collier's school is pronounced by all the patrons to be a success, which speaks well for our pedagogue.

At the public sale on the 10th, property went very cheap, owing to the scarcity of money which prevails here at present.

It has been reported here that J. P. Eaker's walk is somewhat dignified. The cause can be ascertained by referring to J. P.

Among the late arrivals in the Twelve Mile Canon are a number of young ladies whose presence have already played smash with the hearts of several of our young bloods, on account of which a great many cases of "loco" may be reported before spring. Among those showing the strongest symptoms of being thus rattled are the school teacher and Bob the fiddler.

There was a pleasant party given by Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Jerrell, at their ranch in Twelve Mile Canon, on the evening of the 5th inst. Dancing was the order of the evening, Mr. Wm. Derrick holding first base with the violin, while all present tripped the light fantastic, until a late hour. A fine supper was served, and a good time had generally. The kind hospitalities of the host and hostess on this occasion will long be remembered by all present.

During the recent round-up here one of Mr. A. C. McDonald's hands found Buck Tison's saddle on the south side of the Agua Chiquita, where it had been hid in the bushes. It will be remembered that Sutton and Nick Booth were accused of stealing two horses, bridles and saddles from the L. L. L. ranch during the summer. The horses were recovered in a few days, but nothing was heard of the saddles or bridles, until the saddle above mentioned was found. Sutton was going in the direction of this saddle the morning he received his death wound.

The latest rumor here is that S. D. Goodman, a partner of G. W. Holland, has left for parts unknown. It appears that Goodman, who went to El Paso to purchase goods, got the best of his partner by several hundred dollars. J. P. Eaker sent his gold watch with Goodman for repairs, with a view of presenting it to his best girl during the holidays. Of course he has heard nothing from the watch. Eaker says he cannot think Goodman's intentions are other than honest and honorable, and seems to think that his watch will come in all O. K. yet. The only cause that he can assign for Goodman's strange disappearance, is that Goodman was elected constable of precinct No. 9 at the last election and it may be that he heard of a band of rustlers, and having a desire to gain notoriety, left at once for the scene, forgetting that he had never been sworn into office.

OBSERVER.

RED CLOUD--December 18.

It is about a year since I wrote to the ERA. In that time there has been considerable work done in the way of developing some of the mining prospects in this district. Work was commenced last February on the Buckhorn under the direction of C. T. Clark, and prosecuted with energy and judgment until the 12th of November, during which time a shaft 5x7 was sunk 151 feet deep, the mineral from the top pitching east at an angle of about 60 degrees to the depth of about 45 feet, and was again struck at eighty feet, consequently the mineral is now east of the bottom of the shaft and will quire a drift or tunnel to cut it again. A ton of the best ore ever produced by the camp was sent from this claim to New Orleans.

The next item of interest here was the striking of a rich pocket of mineral, in a drift, at the bottom of the Red Cloud shaft, by Messrs. Spence and Hendershot. Work would have been prosecuted further, but foul air prevented during the summer months.

Some time during the month of August Messrs. Mann and Klepinger struck a large body of copper carbonates and galena at the depth of 60 feet on the Sunbeam. If facilities were at hand to treat this ore, I have no doubt it would pay handsomely.

Another large cropping of fine mineral was discovered on the Tenderfoot a week or two ago. This makes six different places on this claim where pay mineral can be extracted, at or near the surface.

M. Whiteman, of White Oaks, came up with a load of provisions and two miners to further develop the Wild Goose claim, but on looking over the ground he concluded it would take more money to show up the ore body than he had intended to spend, consequently he returned to White Oaks to unload.

The weather up to the present time has been very favorable for outdoor work, and the boys have taken advantage of it and assessment work for '84 is about finished. ZENO.

NOTICE OF MEETING.

Notice is hereby given that there will be a meeting of the members of the Penasco District Protective Association held at G. W. Holland's store, on the Upper Penasco, January 15th, 1885, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. A full attendance is desired.

Secretary. President.

Meeting of Lincoln County Stockmen.

A meeting of the Lincoln County Stock association will be held at Lincoln on the first Monday in January (Jan. 5th). The object of this meeting is that all members may hear a report of the delegates sent to the convention of cattlemen at St. Louis, and that other important business may be transacted and an opportunity may be extended to persons wishing to join the association as several applications for membership have been made.

W. E. ANDERSON, President.

JAS. J. DOLAN, Secretary.

Ballou's Monthly Magazine for January is issued, and promises for the coming year to be better than ever. It opens with illustrated views of the Kennebec River, followed by a new story from the pen of Mr. Wm. H. Thomas the author of "The Belle of Australia," "On Land and Sea," etc., called "Lewey and I; or, Sailor Boy's Wanderings." It relates the adventures of two young men, French and American lads, in California, in the years 1846 and 47, during the Mexican War; and will be full of stirring adventures, and brave exploits with Indians, Mexicans and Yankee raiders. It is one of the most vivid pictures of California life, at the time Fremont was in the country, that has been written. Those who have read "On Land and Sea" will be equally pleased with this new story by Mr. Thomas, for it is a true one, as seen from the Mexican standpoint, the two adventurers being compelled to serve in the Mexican cavalry for a few weeks, or suffer some of the pains of military discipline as dispensed by the Mexican authorities. There is much humor in the story, a lot of quiet fun, some remarkable love-making, and everything to interest the reader. This story will be a great success, we predict from reading its commencement. Ballou's Magazine is the cheapest and best publication of its kind in the country. It is only $1.50 per year, or 15 cents per number. Ask your newsdealer to order for you. Ballou's Magazine is published with other publications at $2.50 per year. Address: Ballou's Magazine, Boston, Mass.

STOCK NEWS.

There will be paid $42,000 in premiums for live stock at the New Orleans Exposition.

The Penasco country has more stock ranches to the square mile than any other portion of the county.

By improving the natural advantages there has been some very fine ranches formed around the Capitan mountains within the past two years.

John W. Poe left about fifty fine beef cattle on his range that he failed to run out of the woods before starting on the drive. These are old fellows who hid out during the round-up.

The meat war in New York City, carried on by a butchers' protective society against Chicago dressed beef, still continues, and many dealers give notice on placards that they do not deal in western beef.

It is said that one-half pint of castor oil, three ounces sweet spirits of nitre and five drops of aconite, shaken well together and administered from eight to twelve hours apart, will cure the Texas fever.

Max Goldenberg, of Tularosa, and M. L. Pierce, through Lee, their foreman, lately bought 500 graded yearling heifers of Seabaugh & Maher, near San Antonio, Texas, to be placed on their ranch in this county.

Jim Moreland, in the course of a week or so, will have seventy-eight head of half-blood Durham cattle to stock his ranch on Poverty creek adjacent to the one he recently disposed of. Besides these he will have three Polled Angus, two females and one male, which he proposes to try in this country.—[Black Range.

It is reported that the refrigerator works at Ft. Worth, Texas, are about to shut down for want of patronage. The proprietors claim that the cattle offered are not in condition to slaughter, and that owners prefer to ship their best beeves and take lower prices than they are offering them at home. There must be something wrong in the management of this concern.

The National Association of Tanners does not like the present style of branding cattle on account of the damage done to hides. But some men never are satisfied. Soon they will want the cattle to wear their brands on tags attached to their horns. This might do ordinarily, but when it comes to polled, "mooly" or Angus cattle, what then?

Seven companies own one-third of all the cattle in Wyoming, or about 270,000 head. In Texas over 1,000,000 of her cattle are owned by people living outside her state. It will be a cold day for New Mexico when her grazing lands are gobbled up by some half dozen foreign capitalists to the exclusion of actual settlers. We hope to see the day when every hoof and every ranch in Lincoln county will be owned by her own citizens residing within the county lines.

It is said that a company has recently put a herd of cattle, 600 and over, on a ranch at the north end of the Animas valley. At this point there is no running water at all, but the ranch upon which these cattle have been put has three wells, each about twenty feet in depth, and having about three feet of water in each well. As an instance of what can be done with wells it may be stated that two men watered the entire herd of 600 head in two hours, with no apparent decrease in the water supply. The wells are furnished with ordinary pumps, and cost, all told, not exceeding $20. This work might be greatly facilitated if wind-mills were erected, and goes to show how many vast reaches of the territory now unused may yet be turned into magnificent ranches.

The sale of a big cattle ranch was consummated in this city yesterday. The property is located on the Trampers, in the eastern part of Mora county, near the Texas Panhandle. The ranch is seven miles long and is claimed to be one of the finest grazing properties in the territory. The soil of the property is good, a patent having been obtained from the government for it by Mr. Macdonald, the recent owner. Wm. Robert, of Lincoln county, son-in-law of James Chisum, conjointly with Gros, Blackwell & Co., are the parties making the purchase, paying $30,000 for it. This new company will stock the range with 10,000 head of cattle either this winter or early in the spring. Mr. Macdonald retains his home ranch, valued at $35,000, but parties are now negotiating for it, and should the sale be made he will take an extended trip to foreign parts.—[Gazette.

If a heavy fall of snow during the winter is always followed by an abundant crop of grass during the summer, the next season will be an unusually fine one for stock, should the present winter end up as it has begun. The late snow storm seems to have extended very generally over this entire region. So far as we can learn there was a pretty heavy coating of it from the Rio Grande to the Staked Plains. At Roswell and along the Pecos it was the heaviest known for years, while in the White and Nogal mountains it was reported two feet deep. At White Oaks it snowed more and laid longer than at any time since it was a town, and there has been good sleighing there for a week past. Even so far down as Las Cruces it was five inches deep on the streets. Fortunately it was attended in most places with very little wind and cattle, as a general thing, stuck closely to their ranges and gave little trouble to those in charge.

The January Meeting.

Now since the round-ups are over, the surplus beef cattle either sold or on the way to market, and work on the range laid out for the winter, would it not be well for the stockmen of Lincoln county to turn a little attention to the questions of vital interest which must necessarily come up at an early day. These questions can be met in no better way than by a full and free discussion of all the points at issue in a general meeting of all the parties most interested who will bring cool heads and calm, deliberate judgment to aid their councils and shape their subsequent actions. By a mutual exchange of views and a harmonious and united action on the part of stock growers, much good has already been done, but this is simply insignificant in comparison with what yet lies before. The question of an outlet to the markets, the most economical mode of shipping, the securing of new and better markets and the right to hold sufficient lands for grazing purposes in sections where it requires many acres of land to support a few animals, are some of the problems that are already crowding themselves to the front and claiming attention from those who are looking ahead for the purpose of devising ways and means.

The meeting of January 5th, at this place, although not of much seeming importance, yet if the men of Lincoln county will take sufficient interest in their own welfare, as to ensure a full attendance, it can be made one of very great and permanent benefit to every man who is owner of a herd. Several very important questions will come up at this meeting which should have a full hearing and a thorough understanding arrived at. Besides, the delegates who were at St. Louis will be there, fresh from the national council, with new ideas and enlarged views of this great and growing industry, and much valuable information to impart, which will undoubtedly make it the most interesting meeting of stockmen ever held in the county.

Let there be a full turn out.

ESTRAYS.

The Cowboy's Vacation.

The year's work is about over on the range. The last meek-eyed Maveric will ere long be duly stamped with an appropriate monogram, the time when the gentle puncher of bovines plays "mumblepeg" and begs plug tobacco, will have been relegated to history, and will be no more until spring, the last day's work of the season will have been announced, the boys will "cut" their baggage, exchange each other's quirts and spurs, strap their greasy blankets and veteran slickers to their saddles, steal some more ropes from each other, head their thin, sore-backed ponies ranchward, give vent to their "ki-yi-yi" and gludomely gallop over the ravines and hills to their respective ranches, where the boss puts into their hands the shekels for which they have toiled during the summer, hopes they will have a good time during the winter vacation, and the boys with light hearts and well-tanned skins make their way to the haunts of men.

"So long pardner," the cowboy shouts to the companion he leaves behind to ride the lines—"ride to e'm like grown folks this winter. I'm goin to God's country where they have white dishes to eat outen, and knives; and forks 'o go into the sow-belly with. You bet; so long."

And he is off for the settlements or towns where his family or friends reside.

Hold on right here, young man. Now is the time I want to talk to you some. I want to pour some words of wisdom into your ears. You are just now as light-hearted as a bird, and you have got some money in your pocket, and you mean to go home or somewhere else and have a good time. That's all right, but now just listen to me a little. You just go on home and see the old man and your mother. They will be glad to see you no matter how dirty and sun-burnt you are, and your sister, she'll kiss you just as she used to when you was a pale-faced boy going to school, and another—not a sister—come now don't try to fit a blush on your bronzed face. Its no harm to have a sweetheart; you ought to have one, and love her like a hired man if she's a good, square girl. She will a's be glad to see you. Now when you get home, instead of going to the nearest town, filling up your carcass with mean whisky, go into the shed room at home, soak the dirt off you for an hour, go to the barber shop, get a shave and hair cut, put on your new white shirt with a stiff collar and neat cravat throw your overalls into the smoke house, get into a good suit of clothes, go out and look at your father's hogs, romp a little with the old dog you use to hunt rabbits with, ask your mother if she don't think you have got to be the best looking man in the West; she is sure to think so, tease your sister a little about her beau, then after you've had your supper walk over across the fields where she lives, you know whom I mean. Go on over then shake hands all around, sit down and talk to the old man a little, tell him about the range and how stock are doing out West. I know you will be impatient during this conversation, but courtesy demands it and the old gent will have too much sense to think you came over to spend the evening talking to him, and will soon get up and go off to feed his hogs, and the old lady will busy herself in the kitchen and you will be left alone with the sweetest girl in all the state. Then you may walk up to where she is standing, take hold of her hands and ask if she is glad to see you and she will say, in a low quivering voice:

"Why John you know I am."

Then you may put your arm about her waist, pull her up against your chest, and squeeze her.

her good, grunt once and then kiss her. Do this just once and then when you feel that your back teeth are loose you may know that it's because she is loving you so hard. Then you must sit down and talk to her about the future and get her to help you calculate how long it will be before your little herd will increase so as to enable you to settle down. She will not make it any longer than she can possibly figure on it. After your first day or two at home you will gradually get used to things and find that all your time is not occupied. Then is when you are in danger. Then is the time for you not to hang around saloons and blow in the little wad you have been riding through sunshine and rain for. Find some other amusement. Go to the Opera house, take your sister along or if your sister has some one else to take her, you take some other fellow's sister. Do this, and when spring of the year comes and you are ready to go back to the ranch, you will have some seads in your pocket and you will not have to strike your boss for the loan of forty dollars to fit you up for the summer's work. All the boys who leave the range for the winter will not act up to this solid advice.—[Slide in Live Stock Journal.

The Theory of Vaccination.
 Prof. Tyndall suggests that just as the soil may be so effectually robbed of some essential ingredient by one abundant crop as to be incapable of producing another, so in the human system a parasitic disease may so completely exhaust the blood of some ingredient necessary to the growth and propagation of the parasite that the production of a second crop in fatal or considerable quantity may be impossible. It would thus appear that protective vaccination or inoculation is simply the introduction into the blood of weakened and comparatively harmless disease germs to consume the material which might become food for similar germs in a more vigorous and dangerous condition.

A club of thirty-one bachelors of Trenton county, Arizona, have set an agent to Boston on a novel mission. He goes to procure thirty-one female emigrants who are willing to go to Arizona and accept situations as wives to the aforesaid bachelors who are well-to-do farmers, ranchmen and, etc. Boston has long suffered on account of its female surplus which has overstocked the matrimonial market, and it is hoped that this new and unexpected demand will have a tendency to settle values and give a better one to business, if it does not cause a permanent advance in price.—[Serra County Advocate.

King County, Washington Territory, has one woman justice of the peace and one woman constable.—[Exchange.

Little boy (at the front door)—"Is the doctor in?" "Cause if he is I want to see him right away." Servant—"He's not in. Little boy—"Well, just as soon's he gets home you tell him to come over to our house and take the baby off he left there last week. It's in the way."

A new and novel feature of the Arizona exhibit is the shipment to New Orleans of a car load of agatized wood from a petrified forest near the line of the Atlantic & Pacific railroad, which is to be cut and polished on the exposition grounds, and sold to visitors in the shape of decorations for costly structure, natural curios, inlaid work and the like; the stones showing all the colors known, either blended or single bearing one or more colors. They take a fine polish and in beauty compare favorably with most of the precious stones of old.—[Alb. Journal.

"Yes, this is a very old dog," said a spinster to a man who took an active part in the canine harvest, "and we should hate very much to have him caught on the street and locked up. I am very much attached to him for I used to carry him in my arms when he was a little puppy." "Do you say, Miss, that he was a very old dog and that you carried him?" "Oh!" she broke in, recollecting that she had compromised herself, "I mean that he used to be old when I was little—I mean that mother used—go away from here or I'll set the dog on you!"—[Arkansas Traveler.

PROSPECTUS FOR 1885
 Among the chief periodicals of the country, LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE has acquired the distinctive reputation of being "eminently readable." Arrangements have been made for the publication of special interest during the coming year. Among these, particular attention is invited to a serial story entitled by E. C. Bayler, author of "The Perfect Treasure," in which the experiences of an English baronet and his friends during a tour through the United States are related with much novel humor, a knowledge and appreciation of national characteristics, and a perfect fairness of tone and freedom from caricature, that cannot fail to secure critical approval and wide popularity. Miss Tinker's beautiful novel "Aurora," will be completed in the summer, and will be followed by several stories in two or more parts, including "The Lady Lawyer's First Client," by the author of "A Latter Day Saint."
 "ON THIS SIDE,"
 A description of brace-bone hunting in England and Canada, by Mrs. Lucy G. Lillie, sketches of Italian life, by Mrs. Laura Thompson, an account of the Plowmen of Tennessee, by "Edmund Kyles," an article on the Premier of Canada (Sir John Macdonald), a narrative of the experiences of a Sturgeon Passenger to and from Liverpool, by Thomas Wharton, an article on Queen Anne, or Free Classic Architecture, by George O. Mason, Jr., and a comedy for private recitation, by James Payne, will be published in the numbers, together with the usual variety of articles, stories and articles of general interest to our readers.

Las Vegas editors grow hilarious over the fact that six inch ice is being harvested at that place. Allowing for the natural sluffing off, a chunk of it will just go inside of their hats next summer.

THE Las Vegas Optic still keeps up its caricatures of "Men of the Minute" although it has got down to men whose reputations or notoriety are so minute that nothing but a glass optic can distinguish them.

A BILL has been introduced in Congress by Mr. Ryan, of Topeka, Kansas to open the Oklahoma lands for settlement. It is high time the government should decide the ownership of these lands and "let the rascals in."

COLFAX COUNTY has had three jailers within the last six months, and still the prisoners escape. The last batch left one cold night about a week ago—gently folded their blankets about them and quietly stole away.

SECRETARY TELLER claims that a large percent of pre-emption claims are filed when no intention of perfecting entries exists, but the alleged claim is held for speculation, or as a cover for denuding land of its timber. The average proportion of entries to filings is less than one half. It is time this kind of thing should stop.

Who has been hinting to Ira M. Bond, of the Mesilla News, that his paper did not present as neat, readable and dressy appearance as it should? This week it comes to our table printed so that one can very readily tell that one half of it is actually printed in English, instead Kalmuck, as heretofore. Glad to know that your business is looking up, and that you can put on a clean suit of clothes once in while old 'y.

A COLONY of people have settled on the Rio Grande, below Mesilla, who make it one of the conditions of membership and settlement among them that no one shall eat meat, drink anything that will intoxicate, use tobacco or swear. What a terrible punishment it would be to most criminals in this county to sentence them to serve a term of years in that colony. Life in a penitentiary would be a paradise compared to it.

THE wild and woolly cow boy still raids one of the principal towns of the territory, making the air hot with oaths, and the usual artillery accompaniment, and the officers of the place look on and smile or go and hunt a cellar. And yet this town is working to have the stock yards removed there from Bernal as a business venture, when in fact they do not seem able to control the business these fellows are already making for them.

VANDEBILT is estimated to be worth about $300,000,000. If this was invested either in fiddle strings, taffy or bologna sausage, there would be enough of either to reach about sixteen times around the earth. Just think of the music and sweetness and satisfied hunger it would bring to the world at Christmas time if so invested. But then some people never care to make the world happy by such acts of benevolence. They would go and buy a dozen tin whistles at a nickle a piece and give them to some wicked boys to blow around their neighbor's door.

THE disease which has been committing such ravages along the border of Kentucky and Virginia, and which was reported to have all the symptoms of Asiatic cholera proves to be the bloody flux brought on by drinking the water of that region which after the long and severe drought, is said to be strongly impregnated with copper or other minerals of a poisonous nature. It took a good many lives and untold suffering for the doctors to arrive at the conclusion, however, and now the people are said to be

A RIDE ON THE RANGE.
Say, pard! Let me ride a spell with you to-night, as you are all alone, for two is better than one even if I can't tell you anything about your business, and there is a good three hours before the moon goes down.
You "have got used to riding sign alone on nights more squally than this?"

Of course you have. But that is no reason why you should bounce a fellow to-night. Here, I received two pairs of gloves from the old home to-day; take these fur-lined ones, as they'll be best for your business. There, don't refuse; I will make you a present of them, seeing this is Christmas Eve—no thanks. Do you know how they are keeping Christmas to-night back in the states? "Keeping it all to themselves" you say?—with an oath.

Well, that may be. When we were boys, years ago, we generally sized up our enjoyments according to the plunder we struck, and paid but little attention to the fellows who got left, or didn't happen to be there. Both Christians and sinners up in God's country are striking about the same kind of a lay out that we had then, only a little softer perhaps—is that a coyote or a catamount skinning up that slope in the shadow—why should they waste any simperings over us.

What! "Don't believe there ever was any Christ or any God either for that matter?" Jerusalem, man, where were you brought up? Ride slow and let me give you this pointer. You used God when you swore a wild, wicked oath just now. All people use Him for some purpose I believe. Did it never strike you that about the only difference between church people and sacrilegious, rawhide sinners like you and I, is, that they call on God to bless some one, while we always call Him to curse either ourselves or some one else, and in that case they have the advantage of us by a large majority. Did it never occur to you that man is a devotional cuss, and is bound to worship something? and if he does not worship somebody or something he considers higher and better than himself, he will just about be his own Deity, and the most contemptible, pusillanimous man on earth is the one who worships himself?

"That is what your mother used to say?"
Well, pard, you always go according to your mother's advice and you will not wander very far off the range—ride up a little closer and give me a light for my cigar—and whether she belongs to the New Jerusalem Church or not, whether she accepts Bob. Ingersoll as her apostle, believes in cold water baths, or is a shouting Methodist, her prayers will always follow you. Wherever you stray into forbidden pastures or mix up with scrubs, her faith and her love is pretty sure to follow you. You cannot get beyond her tender sympathy and solicitude. You may not feel the chords about your heart, so gently and with infinite tenderness are they drawn, yet they are always there, and sometime they will draw you back to her waiting arms as fondly as when a child she folded you to her breast and soothed your boyish troubles. To-night, while everyone else is filled with laughter and song, and rejoicing over the comforts and good gifts of life, which a Christmas Eve is sure to bring, she is sitting in her chair at the old home, apart from the rest, with a crown of care on her troubled brow and a patient, longing look in her sweet, tender eyes, as she thinks of her boy who, to-night, is riding out in the storm.

"Time to make a run on the camp" did you say? Well, here's with you, pard. The bronco with the best bottom takes the lead.
THERE will undoubtedly be a great revival of religion this winter especially among Republicans for already they begin to snuff h—hades in the air.
HERBERT H. BANCROFT, the historian has lately been at Santa Fe and other ancient villages in New Mexico hunting for data from which to complete his forthcoming volume devoted to the Spanish conquests and the settlement of the Pacific slope.

A Santa Fe Leader man who has been trying it says: "Roller skating is the best medicine in the world—contains no arsenic or other poisonous ingredients, can be taken in large doses or small with perfect safety and is 'on tap' at all hours."
Yes, but then it is apt to create contortions, and cause sprains, and contusions on unexpected places and put a fellow hors de combat with his own or some other fellow's anatomy, and any body except an expert, with more agility in his heels than weight under his hat, would find himself continually "on tap"—with the floor.

THE New Orleans Exposition was opened the 16th according to programme. President Arthur, surrounded by his cabinet, the chief justices of the supreme court, the president of the senate, speaker of the house of representatives, leading foreign ministers and other distinguished personages, assembled around a table in the White House and received the address of the commissioner by telegraph, after which president Arthur sent the response in the same manner and concluded by declaring the Exposition formally opened, and it was done.

THE Albuquerque Journal, in order to divert public attention from Post Office Inspector Adams, and make it appear that he was attending strictly to official duties, when in fact he was helping along with the campaign in Ohio, gets up a highly sensational story about that gentleman's fine detective work among crooked post offices down here in Lincoln county. The hired man of the Journal, who runs the startling and fictitious department of that paper gives it out cold that there was an organized scheme here to rob the mails and that no less than six postmasters were now under arrest and that the excitement among the wild and woolly citizens of Lincoln county runneth high even as in the days of the "famous war." Now for fear that some of the useful and adventurous citizens of Albuquerque might act on the misrepresentations of the paper referred to, and come hitherward hunting for a land where gore floweth like water through an irrigating ditch, it may be necessary to inform them that Gen. Adams did pay the county a visit a short time ago on a tour of inspection conducted himself in a quiet, gentlemanly way while here and took his departure without creating any particular convulsion or even an embryo excitement except one little ripple, which was the culmination of a matter brought to the surface during the late political campaign. Instead of the six postmasters now languishing in some government bastille, just one poor little deputy was arrested for naughtiness and plead guilty to the charge. In the meantime the world moves quietly on, our mail still rattles down the valley to us on a buckboard about three times a week and we hope Gen. Adams and Lincoln county are now alike vindicated.
