

LOCAL ROUNDUPS.

Mrs. H. B. Tompkins returned Monday evening from a two week stay at Alamogordo.

PUPPED RICE AT TALIAFERRO'S.

John Williamson was married at Lincoln June 16, to Miss Boush Gray, the belle of Capitan.

M. E. Dyer returned the latter part of the week from the Tucumcari country where he has located a homestead.

Miss Merle Koch came down from Tucumcari last Saturday for a visit among her young friends here. She will stop while here with the Taliaferro's.

This office can supply you with Location Notices, both Lead and Placer claim blanks, cheaper than you can write them out.

Doc Lacey, postmaster and all round man at Carrizozo, came up to enjoy Sunday with his family, who are now living in White Oaks.

NEW POTATOES AT TALIAFERRO'S.

Mrs. A. H. Harvey was a shopping pilgrim from Carrizozo to this summer paradise on last Friday's stage.

FOR SALE.

At a bargain, one Durham milk cow, will have calf in a few days. Gentle and a fine milker.

Write, or apply in person to C. D. Mayer, White Oaks, N. M.

Mr. Chapman reports that he has lately received word from the Pennsylvania party who is interested with him in the development of the oil field here and who is a large contractor, that a press of business has delayed him, but that he has now everything about closed up in the east, and that he will be on the ground very shortly to begin drilling a well here.

Quite a number of townspeople went up to the Old Abe mine Monday evening just for the fun of it, and from all reports must have waked things up right lively about the place. The night foreman finally got control of the situation by dropping the unruly ones down in the mine about 1800 feet—on the cage of course—and leaving them there until they promised to be good.

Miss Carrie Simms left Tuesday evening for an extended visit with relatives in Kentucky. Miss Carrie can be said to be strictly a White Oaks product, having grown from childhood to womanhood in this immediate vicinity and now goes to shine among the blue grass girls of old Kentucky for a season. She will probably have some wonderful experiences to her credit on her return.

This is a good time to agitate the establishment of a public park in White Oaks. This was one very important essential to the comfort, convenience and beauty of the town when it was laid off. And now, while property can be secured at a fair price, a suitable site should be decided on and a title to the land secured, for there will be something doing in White Oaks real estate before many moons.

J. H. Parker and wife are to return to El Paso this, Thursday, morning after a ten day's visit.

The White Oaks contribution to the San Francisco memorial school building exceeds that reported from any other point in the territory yet reporting except Albuquerque.

Miss Helen Burris and Ira Johnson drove over from Nogal a few days ago. Miss Burris is a niece of the Johnsons, of that place, and is visiting them during the summer.

Mrs. A. A. Barnes, who was very well known, and highly esteemed by all the older residents of this town for her intelligent, attractive and womanly qualities, died recently at Oklahoma city, where the family has resided for several years past. Her husband and two sons are left to mourn her loss.

Tom C. Jacobs was here yesterday loading up with supplies. Mr. Jacobs has concluded to abandon his ranch on the west side of the Capitan mountains, which has been covered by Mr. Pinchot's forest reserve blanket, and is now drilling for water in the northern part of the county hoping to reestablish himself up there beyond the stretching capacity of this "dam-p old wool-len rag."

WHO WERE THEY?

There is a jolly, round-faced rumor in town that two of our business and society men, who are all alone in a lonesome world, saddled up a gentle pair of broncos a few evenings ago and concluded to take a ride, over the hills and not so far away, lighted by the slender rim of a week-old moon.

After wandering around among the piñon groves and sequestered nooks of Potos mountain for some time they somehow became mysteriously mixed up with a barbed wire fence. They also noticed about this time that the moon had disappeared behind the western hills. After backing off and taking a different tack another fence was encountered. In fact the whole reserve appeared to be about one fourth landscape to three fourths fence.

It seemed to be hours that they were thus fighting barbed wire which followed them around like a wrath that travels only in the night.

At length, when a mild sort of profanity seemed to be about the only relief, a dim light was discovered a short distance away, to which they managed to struggle up. It came from a 10 x 12 window of a lonely jocal. After calling lustily for some time, a timid head was thrust partly out beyond the curtain and inquired what was wanted.

"We are lost, and want to remain here over night," was the reply.

"Well, stay right there." And the head disappeared as did also the glim.

It is needless to remark, they didn't stay, but after wandering around for some time longer they happened to run onto a Mexican hacienda where they hired a guide to put them on the right end of a road that led straight back to town.

W. H. Reves, a very prominent magazine writer, under a different pen name however, has been stopping at the Block ranch and around the Capitan mountains for some time past studying the habits of wild animals especially of wolves, for a coming article in Outing. He came to White Oaks Sunday in company with G. A. Hunt, the sheepman. If a literary man wishes to hunt a wolf for the purpose of interviewing him in reference to his peculiar traits and habits, he should always go to the wolf's very good friend, the sheepman.

T. F. Chapman and R. D. Armstrong returned from Roswell Sunday last where they had gone to inspect the oil fields there. Mr. Chapman, who is an expert in that line, claims that the fields there are not equal to those in the vicinity of White Oaks, but that they have some very good ground in that vicinity. He claims that the present well is not located in the most advantageous place for securing a large flow of oil, but if it had been properly located they would no doubt ere this have settled the final question for Roswell for many years to come.

ANGUS WILL CELEBRATE.

The patriotic and enterprising people of the region around about Angus wish to declare to the entire population of Lincoln County, and to the tribes living beyond her borders, that they are enough will make old fashioned medicine on the river about one mile above the postoffice on the Fourth of July.

There will be open handed welcome and oratory. There will be music and much merry making and all kinds of sport that you ever heard of, and some not down in the books.

Prof. Putnam, of El Paso, will deliver the principal oration, and then there will be others, Barbecue meat, done to a turn, will be furnished in abundance, and none will be allowed to go away hungry or melancholy.

If you want to have the time of your life then go to Angus on the glorious Fourth.

THE JICARILLA JUBILEE.

The good people of Jicarilla do not wish any body to forget that they are right up to date with a big Fourth of July celebration this year. And there will be enough of glittering oratory grub, and gayety to satisfy all who come.

That time honored story which never grows old to patriotic Americans—the Declaration of Independence—will be read by a silver tongued expert, and there will be addresses by equally expert orators.

All kinds of games and sports and tournaments usual on such occasions will be pulled off here on that day, and there will be music and dancing till you can't rest.

All you have to do will be to bring your folks and yourself, your cake and your pie, and we will furnish the meat and the coffee and the bread. As to the enjoyment, you will be asked to lend a helping hand.

Proud of our heritage under the Declaration of Independence, and proud that we train under the American flag, come and help us celebrate this anniversary of our Nation's birth in a joyous and befitting manner.

K.

This joint statehood issue is now doomed. Albert J. Beveridge proposes to come to New Mexico and Arizona and work for its passage.

Governor Pattison, of Ohio, who has been ill most of the time since the termination of the campaign last fall, died at Cincinnati last Friday. His place will be filled by lieutenant governor Harris, who is a republican.

The amount of money coming into the hands of the territorial treasurer to the credit of the territorial school fund from the lease of school lands and other sources since the last apportionment, amounts to $9,122.34. Lincoln County's share of this, as reported by territorial Superintendent Hadley, is $245.00. This will be apportioned to the several school districts along with the regular county school fund for the second quarter of the year now soon to be made.

Delegate Andrews has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives which was favorably reported on by the committee, changing the manner of selecting the jurors for the United States courts in New Mexico. This bill requires that jurors shall be taken from the entire judicial district wherein the court is to be held, instead of being picked up in the vicinity where the crime was committed.

The trade boycott in China against American goods, as shown by the latest consular reports, has about ceased. The whole thing was a sort of virulent contagion carried over from the San Francisco boycott of non union business houses and set on foot by a few paid agitators over there. In China the government has a more effective way of dealing with this class of people. In this instance the leaders were deprived of all honors and official positions which they held, and were compelled to leave the country which they had managed to keep in a turmoil for a considerable length of time.

The political horizon became lurid the other day when it was announced that William R. Hearst had kicked over the bucket containing the democratic political broth into the hot ashes and would no longer make medicine in the party councils, but would go off and assemble all by himself until he could gather around him the unattached organizations of union labor, socialists, anarchists, initiative and referendum, and all the other fellows without any particular political affiliations, and would organize a party of his own of which he, Willie Hearst, would be the only sacherem and dictator. He has at least one adherent in the person of Mayor Dunne, who is only a political maverick at best, and who is evidently playing for second place. Mr. Hearst evidently has seen the fatal hand of William J. Bryan tracing his horoscope on the party blackboard, and concluded that Babylon was no place for him. This new move will probably inject a little hot steam into the next presidential campaign, at least if something soothing is not applied at once.

PHRACTICAL THOUGHTS.

"Live up to a high ideal. Have ideals that you can reach." Keep your eyes on the stars, but your feet on the ground. Never fall short of what you can actually do.

The first lesson a girl should learn practically is what goes on about her, in order to understand the amount of sacrifice that is made to make her happy. I advise you to do the humdrum, workaday duties as they arise. This applies to every man and woman.

All the small things, which in the aggregate make the large things, are to be done regularly. We had ships and guns, but we won at Manila because we had the man in the crisis who rose level to the crisis, and, moreover, because for years we had men who had for a long term done simple, practical duties as a daily routine.

We are happy, primarily, as we faithfully perform the common place duties of life. It may be all very well at times to indulge in enthusiasm in religion or art, but attend to others and make the saving of your own soul an incidental matter."—President Roosevelt's address to graduating class.

A very respectable majority of the democratic papers throughout the country have already elected W. J. Bryan president of the United States in 1908. Most people are frank enough to admit that Mr. Bryan at the present time would not be such very bad timber for a presidential candidate in two years from now, and infinitely better and safer than when he was first nominated in 1896, and again in 1900. Disappointment and travel have given him a more conservative and much broader view of life, enabling him to guide the ship of state with a surer hand. Besides this, he has an alert and receptive mind and has gained much by watching the course of the present incumbent of that office in dealing with the great and vital questions that have come up within the last six years, and which have now about reached a satisfactory solution. It is safe to say that there are comparatively few men in this great country today who are not satisfied that, so far as the past is concerned, Theodore Roosevelt, rather than William J. Bryan or Alton B. Parker, was elected president of these United States.

NO REASON TO FLOP.

There was no argument ever produced by any of the territorial papers during the past decade in favor of single statehood for New Mexico that does not hold good at the present time, notwithstanding the late passage by Congress of the joint statehood bill.

There is no more reason for submitting to the contumely, the abuse and the outrage heaped upon us by an oligarchy of eastern senators and representatives now, than there was at the time Delegate B. S. Rodes, or his predecessors for that matter, made their strenuous fight for the integrity of New Mexico and the right of the people to govern themselves, without any antagonistic alliances. To tamely submit now, when this unjust and obnoxious measure is up to the people looks like an act of cowardice—the abandonment of a great principle for a mere temporizing expedient. The mortgaging of the future for a mess of slaughterhouse pottage.

This talk of New Mexico being denied a further hearing for one or two decades to come is the very best tommyrot. With the strides she is now making in all lines of industry there is not the slightest danger that she will not be admitted as soon as she is fairly ready to be taken into the galaxy of the Union; and she will then not come as a beggar, but ther will she come as the tail end of a pitiful makeshift, a substitute, the creature of a juggle; but will come in her own right, clothed in her sunshine and power and demand admission, and she will not ask in vain. Speaker Cannon and Hamilton and Aldrich and Beveridge and others who mistake a narrow prejudice for statesmanship will drop out of active political life and their places will be filled by men of more enlightened and liberal views, for—

"—through all the ages one unceasing purpose runs, And the thoughts of men will broaden with the process of the suns."

There is yet much hope for New Mexico in the defeat of this iniquitous joint statehood measure.

The present session of congress has been almost as demoralizing to the older class of senators as it has to the beef trust and the railroads. Can it be that it is a case of "sympathetic perturbation?" Procter is seriously ill. Allison is confined to his room. Gorman is dead. Platt has gone to a health resort and Dewey is seeking the cooling breezes of Lake Champlain, soaking his feet in soda and alcohol and bathing his head with Apollonian water. Fortly these are strenuous times for those in high life.
